Editor, Times

I read in the Thief River Falls Times about Ducks Unlimited and in the Middle River Record about the 61,000 acres there is in Mud Lake. There is also 18,021 acres at Thief Lake and the Beltrami forest game refuge with its thousands of acres, and east of there is the Red Lake game refuge. And in Roseau county you have the Roseau bog and they also have smaller parcels of land in this county which amounts to thousands of acres, and now they are trying to acquire more land right in our farming area.

They don't try to improve it for real hunting. They have let the beaver take over and destroy timber and even wildlife don't like these conditions. So it really makes it undesirable for man or beast. Beavers multiply rapidly in these places, come out in farming areas, dam up ditches, which causes flooding and destroys crops. Farmers don't want these conditions to exist, but evidently people from Thief River Falls, Warren and Roseau must favor them or they wouldn't play ball with Ducks Unlimited or wetlands.

Since Mud Lake was established this territory has been flooded or rained out most of the time.

Since the Roseau bog was put in, I believe a good part of the country has been rained out every year. We get all the general rains plus all the wetlands bring in.

A few cars from Thief River Falls and surrounding country, including Dr. Selke and Sen. Wiseth, drove east from Thorhult about 27 miles to Red Lake. Evidently even deer don't like the water and brush any more than we do. I did not see a deer or any sign of one. They want good alfalfa plus grain, so they stay where the farmers are. It's a proven fact that by draining our land and applying fertilizer in proper amounts we can grow better alfalfa than lots of places and raise just as good a crop.

It shouldn't be very hard to get real farmers in this country if the business men in this area would plug for the farmers instead of wetlands. Farmers don't want it and they sure won't move in where such a situation exists.

It does seem to me that Thief River Falls especially needs more farmers unless they want more empty buildings in town.

If you would like to see what kind of neighbors a wetlands project makes, drive out and see for yourself. I'm sure no bank would loan much money on land next to one.

It is pretty hard to make a go of it, while we are trying to make farm land out of it, an other group trying to make a wetlands project. Why won't they give this country a chance?

Now don't misunderstand me. I think hunting is a great sport and enjoyed by many, but why not hunt deer, grouse, etc. You should realize that wetlands give us a bad reputation all over the United States and makes it an undesirable place to establish a home.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Acreage of stripcropped or terraced cropland in the Little Cannon Watershed will double by the end of 1960. The achievement is due to an Agricultural Conservation Program sign up drive by a 27-man committee headed by Merle Tate and Duane Smith, farmers near Cannon Falls. According to Arnold Wiebusch, extension soils agent in Goodhue county, about 48 farmers already have signed up for contour stripcropping on 1,045 acres. Another dozen will terrace nearly 400 acres. Other sign ups are for pasture improvement, tile drainage, tree planting, farm ponds, waterways and contouring. The watershed is in Goodhue and Rice counties.

One man's contour strips make good "convincers" for someone else. So it happened in Blue Earth county last summer according to Dean Campbell, SCS worker at Mankato. Farmer Leslie Peters helped Paul Hilgers put up hay on a contour strip a few days after a heavy rain. Peters noticed little or no erosion on row crops above or below the strip. The demonstration was so convincing that Peters decided to put contour strips on his own hill. Hilgers is chairman of the recently-organized Blue Earth county soil conservation district.

"Oats-Hay-Turkeys" is the sequence in a wisely chosen crop rotation for Elmer O. Nelson, Mora. He planned it with help from SCS technicians in the Kanabec soil and water conservation district. Nelson who raises turkeys annually divided [illegible] acres of cropland into three fields of 13 acres each. This way turkeys have a different range field each year. They get a lot of forage from the legume seed and their manure helps keep up fertility.

Minnesota farmers make good silage when they follow the right steps, William Hueg, University of Minnesota extension agronomist, bases that statement on a study of 800 silage samples from around the state. Ninety per cent of all corn silage for example had been harvested in the early to late dent stage, the right time. Two-thirds of these samples scored excellent or good.

State GOP Group Plans Tax Study

Minneapolis Attorney Named Committee Head

C. Donald Peterson, Minneapolis attorney and conservative member of the state house of representatives has been named chairman of a 26 member Minnesota Republican tax committee.

The committee with a membership representing a cross section of Minnesota farming, business, labor and individual citizens, "will conduct a comprehensive study of state taxation for the purpose of aiding the Republican Platform committee and forming a sound tax program to replace the present patchwork of gimmick taxes," Peterson commented.

"Our objective," explains Peterson who last year was voted the outstanding freshman legislator by his House colleagues, "is to produce a study and statement of principles to which people of understanding and good will will be persuaded to subscribe and which will serve as the basis for constructive legislative consideration."

He pointed out that "The committee is made up of people of various views on taxation and will represent no preconceived notions for or against any particular tax measure.

"It is our intention to take a close look at what we have today and what we need to provide for the challenges and opportunities for the 1960's," Peterson stated. "A fundamental consideration will be the creation of a tax structure which encourages more and better job opportunities for the people of Minnesota and for their children and grandchildren in the future."

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

What's I.Q.?

One reason why the "IQ" is confusing to many people is the fact that they believe it is something which a child "has" rather than a score which he obtains. In other words many parents think that once an IQ test has been given, the psychologist and the teacher know what his IQ is in about the same way that once a blood test has been given we know what type of blood a person has. But this is not true and parents who do not understand this are apt to be troubled when they are told at another time by another person that their child's IQ is different from what they had been told it was at an earlier time.

The IQ is one way of telling the score on a test of mental ability, and because there are different kinds of mental tests it is possible for a test to get different scores and somewhat different IQ's. Now we must recognize of course that the content of these tests is not so different that a person's scores on different tests will not be at all similar, but there is sufficient variation to make some changes in IQ from test to test quite possible, and even probable. Let's talk about a few of these differences.

First of all there is the difference between group and individual tests. Group tests are made so that they can be given to many people at once. An individual test is given to only one person at a time. Group tests of course can be given to individuals but individual tests can not be given to groups.

When a teacher discusses the mental ability of a child with parents almost always it is group test results that are being discussed. In almost every school today pupils are given a group intelligence test at least once and often two and three times while they are in the grades. These group tests are real time savers since they can often be given to a whole classroom of children in about the same time that it takes to give one child an individual test.

On the other hand, group tests have two distinct limitations. One is that in a large group some youngsters may not always understand directions and do poorly as a result. Another is that many group tests require the child to read, and youngsters lacking in this skill will probably make a poor showing as a result. Some of these difficulties can be over come through the use of group tests which do not require reading or individual tests, but more of this next time.

Prowler Sextet Defeats Warroad

The hockey Prowlers clinched first place in the Region Eight conference standings on Friday night when, on the Arena ice, they scored a convincing 10 to 2 win over the Warroad Warriors. The Prowlers have a conference mark of nine wins, one tie, and no losses for 19 points. The Roseau Rams have a mark of eight wins, one tie, and one loss for 17 points.

In Friday night's schedule-ending tilt, the Warriors chalked up the first goal when, following a face-off in the Prowler zone, the south end, Dick Bloom centered out a pass to Dick Reinhart, who, from just inside the blueline, beat goalie Wayne Halvorson at the 0:51 mark. Dale Wennberg evened the game at the 3:46 mark when he banged in a rebound off Eddie Holmes' try on goal, beating Jerry Lindsay. Jim Wegge, on a pass from Larry Poole, flipped a backhand shot that Lindsay misjudged, the goal coming at the 5:29 mark.

Arlan Hjelle, tipping in a shot from just off the goal crease boosted the Prowler lead to 3 to 1 at 6:06. And Larry Poole's goal, on a pass from Wegge from behind the Warroad net, gave the locals a 4 to 1 first period lead.

The Prowlers, flashing fine combination play, with the Hjelle-Wennberg duo being especially sharp, scored three goals in the second period before Warroad, on Gary Hokanson's tally at 6:57, marked up a score, their last of the game.

The final period of play was marred by numerous penalties, with officials Paul Bedard and Bill Sullivan whistling five penalties. Final-period goals for the local were scored by Holmes, Tim Teal and Hjelle.

The Prowlers will enter sub-regional play at Warroad tonight, meeting the Red Lake Falls Eagles in a first round game, with the face off slated for 7:30 p.m. Hallock will meet Baudette at 9:30 p.m.

In the preliminary game, coach George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' team, on a third period goal by Tony Poole with Gary Klungness setting up the play, defeated the Warroad 'B' team, 3 to 2. The Prowler B's had to overcome a Warroad lead as they trailed 1 to 0 early in the first period, and 2 to 1 in the second period. Ken Mathieu, on an assist from Poole, scored for the Prowlers in the first period; and Lloyd Ranum, with Denny Erickson assisting, tallied in the second period to knot the game at 2-all.

Schedule, Wednesday, Feb. 17th: Knox at Washington.

For one period of play on Wednesday afternoon it appeared that the Knox Tigers were about to record a major upset in grade school basketball league play as they led the league-leading Northrop Indians, 5 to 2. Field goals by Mark DuChamp and Ricky Relerson provided the Tigers with their lead.

The Indians, playing without the services of their high-scoring center, Dennis Hanson, rallied in the second period to gain a half-time lead of 16 to 9. Sparking this Northrop drive was Tommy Cummings, who scored five goals, and Jon Looker, who hit for a pair of field goals.

In the second half, coach Phil Beadle's Indians outpointed Knox, 17 to 6, to mark up their 33 to 15 triumph and their fifth successive victory in league play. Cummings added four field goals in the second half, getting a pair in each period, to score a total of 18 points, the game's high.

Next Wednesday, Feb. 17, the Knox Tigers will end their season with a game at Washington. The outcome of this game will determine second place in the league standings.

NOTE TO FATHERS: If you have an old army foot locker dust-gathering in the attic or cellar, paint it in bright colors as a chest for the youngsters' toys . . . Something I can't understand: Why do people say they were thunderstruck when it's lightning, not thunder, that strikes you? . . . Loved this candid comment: The man who said that money isn't everything must have gone through a woman's purse.

YOU MIGHT LIE down to take the load off your feet, but an elephant, instead of putting his feet up to rest, prefers to hook his tusks over a tree limb and take a breather from holding up his big, heavy head. And for some reason, they prefer to stand—even to sleep . . . Human blood travels twice as fast as the second hand of a clock. It takes only about 22 seconds for a drop of blood to make a complete tour from the left ventricle of the heart—through the body and back again to the starting point . . . Said a secretary: "Most executives' desks aren't desks—they're just wastebaskets with drawers."

SOME PEOPLE HAVE the strangest interests. There's now an effort underway to trace a horse that should be famous, but actually is unknown. The object of all the searching is the nag Paul Revere rode in his 20-mile ride. Everybody knows, of course, that Don Quixote's plug was called Rosinante, the Lone Ranger's is Silver, Roy Rogers' is Trigger, and Robert E. Lee's steed was named Traveler. Their thinking: "In honor of horses everywhere, Paul's should be immortalized."

MANY OF US used to think that Minnesota had a monopoly when it came to iron ore. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Last year, the steel industry got its iron ore from many different sources—major imports came from such countries as Liberia, Chile, Brazil, Venezuela, Canada, Peru and Sweden. Iron ore used in this country also came from more than a dozen other states—from Michigan, Missouri, Alabama, New York, New Jersey, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and half a dozen others. All of this adds up to mighty stiff competition for Minnesota.

A THUMB TACK stuck into the side of a pencil will keep it from rolling off your desk or table . . . To most disgruntled men, the plural of whim is women.

Giants of the North

That the Roseau Rams and the Thief River Falls Prowlers can be rightly labeled the hockey "giants of the north" is indicated by the final poll released by the St. Paul Pioneer Press. The Prowlers, with a record of sixteen wins, one tie, and one loss, is rated the state's number one team. And the defending state champion Rams, with a record of eighteen wins, one tie, and two losses, are given second place.

Following the Prowlers and the Rams in the informal poll we find John Matchefts' Eveleth team, Glen Rolle's Duluth East squad, Duluth Denfeld, International Falls, Edina, Minneapolis Washburn, South St. Paul, and Minneapolis Henry.

Adds the Press, "Roseau, state champions the past two years, battled to a 3-3 tie against Thief River Falls on the Prowlers' rink in the first meeting of the two teams, and came off the short end of a 2-1 score in overtime in a return game at Roseau a week ago. That sets the stage this week for the most pressure-packed Region 8 tournament in years, with Roseau and Thief River Falls paired in opposite brackets.

"Whatever the outcome of the Region 8 tournament this week, the winner will be one of the big favorites for the state title in the tourney that will be played in St. Paul on Feb. 25-26-27."

And those words are true enough. It is unfortunate that one of these teams, the state's top ranked, will be shunted to the sidelines on Friday night. Some weeks ago, when the St. Paul Johnson squad played here, the Governors' coach, Rube Gustafson, had some comments to make on the manner in which the Region Three representative is named to the state tournament. As you know, in even-numbered years the runner up in the Region Seven tourney gains the honor, and in odd numbered years the runner up in Region Eight is named. Last year the Prowlers were the Region Three representative.

According to Gustafson, a berth in the state tournament should be on merit, and he proposed that the runners up in Region Seven and Eight engage in a playoff game to determine the Region Three entry. He added that the Twin City schools, this year, are engaging in tournament play, and there won't be any "free rides" to St. Paul.

They Were Tremendous

On Wednesday afternoon and evening, Ev Amundgaard and I were in attendance at the Winnipeg Arena to witness the quarter final matches in the British Consuls curling competition. This is the competition that decides Manitoba's representative in the McDonald Brier, Canada's curling championship tourney.

And we received an eyeful. In the afternoon we saw the windup of the Billy Walsh vs Howie Wood Jr. match, and which was won by Walsh in an extra-end; and the Don Fisher win, on a match that was not decided until the final rock, over Mac Scales. It was the first, and only, defeat for the Scales rink, who on Thursday night won the Consuls by beating Walsh, 10 to 9.

In the evening competition, we again were fortunate enough to see the Scales and Walsh rinks in action. Scales defeated the Ross Fraser rink quite handily, and the loss, the second, eliminated the Fraser quartet. In an exciting match, the youthful Bruce Hudson rink, with Ken Little, a former Thieves hockey player at third, defeated Walsh. The loss was the first for Walsh, and on Thursday afternoon Walsh again met Hudson, and this time the veteran (this rink won the Canadian title in 1952 and 1956) defeated Hudson to gain the final against Walsh.

The accuracy exhibited by the curlers on these rinks was remarkable, with their percentage of hits and draws being in the vicinity of eighty per cent.

And do you know that Scales and Walsh and Wood and Hudson, not one of them, asked us about Len Furuseth? But then Lenny didn't ask us about any of these fellows either, so it's all even.

As a special item will report that Wally Tunberg has "signed" Furuseth and Cliff Jorde to join the Tunberg rink for next week end's bonspiel.

Basketball Scoring Record

To answer a query. In a first round game of the Region Eight basketball tournament played in the UND fieldhouse in March of 1957, the Prowlers' Dave Hanson, a junior, scored a total of 39 points to set a school scoring record. The Prowlers defeated the Kennedy Rockets, 67 to 60, with Hanson, breaking his previous mark of 37 points, looping in fifteen field goals and nine free throws.

Locals Tip Climax Quintet 58 to 46

With Bob Pearson and Steve Embury scoring 20 and 14 points, respectively, picking up the scoring slack caused by the absence of towering Ron Hanson, the Prowlers defeated the Climax Vikings, 58 to 46, in a district conference basketball game played at Climax on Friday night.

Hanson, the team's leading scorer, was sidelined by an attack of the flu, as was reserve guard Eddie Lietzow. And forward Gary Anderson was out of action because of a shoulder injury.

The Prowlers will meet the well regarded Halstad Pirates of district 30 here Tuesday night, Feb. 16.

Holding a one point lead, 11 to 10 at the end of the first period of play Friday, the Prowlers piled up 20 points in the second period to gain a 31 to 22 advantage at the intermission. In the Prowlers' strong second period, Pearson looped in four field goals, Embury marked up four field goals and a pair of free throws, and Darrel Nelson added a pair of free throw points.

In the second half, Pearson, on three field goals in the third period and a pair of free throws in the final stanza, led the locals' scorers as the Prowlers maintained their lead over the ever-trying Vikings.

Guard Dennis Taus, with 16 points, and forward Kent Peterson, with 14 points, were the leading point getters for Climax.

Social Activities for Young People Studied by 'U' Extension Staff

A teenagers' club had better promise plenty of fun—or be doomed to failure.

More than half of 150 youths recently interviewed said their major reasons for joining social groups were to "have fun" or "be with other youth." They also said the groups needed good organization and leadership to be successful.

University of Minnesota rural sociologists Gordon Bultena, George Donohue and Marvin Taves made the survey in a Minnesota community of 10,000 people. They report the findings in the current issue of "Minnesota Farm and Home Science," an Agricultural Experiment station publication.

The community had more than 150 formal youth groups. Yet, more than two-thirds of the youths still thought there wasn't enough going on. The reason was that existing groups weren't meeting their needs.

Two-fifths took no part at all in any of the 45 school connected youth groups. More than a fifth belonged to no community group and one student in six took no part in any group—community or school connected. A third regularly attended one or two groups of either kind while a fourth took part in five groups or more.

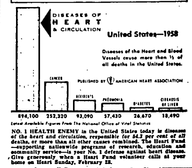
Many adult leaders in the community had earlier felt there was too much going on for youths. The sociologists, though, found it wasn't quite that simple. The dissatisfaction arose mainly from "within group" activity—rather than from availability of groups.

More than half of the youths complained of "clique" control. As one girl said, "Generally, the same kids are in charge of everything. Maybe others aren't as capable, but I'm sure they would be if given the chance."

Friendship patterns which frequently crossed church lines were often disrupted by church-sponsored groups. The sociologists suggest that churches could divide youth activities into spiritual and social functions. The second group could be jointly sponsored by several churches to avoid duplication.

Youths had other criticisms, too. Many activities weren't supervised, resulting in "too much fooling around." Some adult leaders didn't stimulate interest in organizations. Many activities occurred on the same night.

More than half of the teenagers said they were initially influenced to join groups by friends their own age. Youth group directors, teachers and ministers seldom influenced new members to join. The adult's primary function was leadership rather than recruiting.



While youths joined mainly for a good time and social experience, the sociologists say the groups could still perform other functions. Learning and fun do mix—but groups must provide more than just "education" to be successful.

Many of the groups seemed too small. More than four out of five youths thought there should be at least 16 members at each group meeting. A third thought 26 members should be the minimum. The teenagers preferred large groups with a variety of activities, rather than many smaller specialized organizations.

More than 90 per cent favored having boys and girls in the same groups. Girls frequently withdrew from activities where their interests were neglected—such as the local youth center.

The teenagers also felt junior and senior high students should have separate activities.

Most favored meetings early in the week—Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. Fewer than a tenth wanted to meet on week ends. Youths felt groups should function around the calendar—winter and summer.

Need for Laboratory Technicians Mounts

Chemical laboratory technicians may play an increasingly important role as insurance against a shortage of chemists and chemical engineers according to a survey recently completed by the Minnesota department of employment security. The report is the second of a series of studies being conducted by the department on occupations in the technical field in the Twin Cities area, Commissioner Frank T. Starkey announced today. The study series is designed to make more accurate information available to youth for vocational planning.

"Chemical technicians can perform lengthy semi-professional tasks and free the chemist and chemical engineer to devote more time to abstract problems. Industry would get more 'professional mileage' from their engineers."

The survey shows about 650 chemical technicians presently employed in the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area. They work in a wide variety of industries such as flour milling, paints and varnishes, breweries, petroleum refining, detergents, and paper manufacturing.

Most of the 88 area firms in the survey indicated they planned to hire more technicians. By 1964, an estimated 600 additional technicians will be needed to fulfill growth and replacement requirements in the Twin Cities area.

"This does not reflect phenomenal growth in the occupation by any means," Starkey said, but does indicate that replacement requirements for chemical technicians are high. Of the 600 new technicians, 450 would be replacements and 150 entering new jobs.

The chemical technician performs various laboratory functions, assisting chemists or chemical engineers in the field of quality control by conducting tests, analyses, material compounding and other duties.

Educational requirements for the job include graduation from high school with courses in chemistry, mathematics and physics. College chemistry courses also are desirable and may be necessary for higher level jobs. Entry level jobs usually require no experience.

Details of the survey are contained in a pamphlet "Your Career Guide: Chemical Laboratory Technicians" published by the Department of Employment Security and available to job seekers and students at the 33 State Employment Services offices throughout Minnesota and from high school vocational counseling offices.

Editorials . . .

"While I have always recognized that the object of business is to make money in an honorable manner, I have endeavored to remember that the object of life is to do good. Hence I have been ready to engage in all new enterprises, and, without incurring debt, to risk in their promotion the means which I had acquired, provided they seemed to me calculated to advance the general good. . . . This I have tried to do, as well in the perfecting and execution of ideas as in making provision, as my means have permitted, for the proper education of the young mechanics and citizens of my native city, in order to fit them for the reception of new ideas, social, mechanical and scientific. . . . If our lives will be such that we shall receive the glad welcome of "Well done, good and faithful servant," we shall then know that we have not lived in vain." —Peter Cooper

It Would Be Nice

Northwestern Minnesota is recognized as the area that probably will produce the next winner of the state high school hockey championship. The leading contenders for regional championship honors are Roseau and Thief River Falls.

Both Roseau and Thief River Falls have teams that will give the region good representation. The breaks of the game probably will decide which team will be the winner.

Regardless of what the results may be, we get a lot of satisfaction out of the thought that the regional winner probably will be the state winner.

High school hockey is important to many people in this corner of the state. It would be nice if we had adequate facilities locally to be host to at least a sub-district tournament.

Egg Price Recovery?

University of Minnesota marketing specialist, Dr. W. H. Dankers, and his associates, predict better egg prices next winter and are recommending increased production in the state. The reason behind their reasoning is the big cut in laying flocks here and nationally as a result of the recent 10 cents a dozen price to producers.

Alfred Stedman, reporting in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, quotes Dr. Dankers as saying that a lot of the big, push-button egg corporations of the southern United States "are in a state of shock from money losses in the egg price debacle. A good many of them are pulling out of the business. This gives Minnesota owners an opening."

"So," Dankers is reported as saying, "the currents presently are running in the direction of an unheard-of two-years sequence of low production on eggs. The best thing for farmers here to do right now is to swim against this current and quickly restock their laying flocks with pullets ahead of the mass upturn that will be likely later."

The good result is not guaranteed but considering the fact that most of the inners-and-outers get in when prices are high, to their sorrow, maybe the idea of getting in when the prices are low would be worth trying.

Federal Aid

The four Parent Teachers groups of the Thief River Falls school district are going to hold a joint meeting next Monday night at which there will be a panel discussion on the desirability of federal aid for education, followed by a vote on the question, to determine local sentiment. Such an approach to a problem of this kind is in the best American tradition and could serve a useful purpose. It is doubtful, however, that in the discussion of a problem so far-reaching and so involved, much can be accomplished in so limited a time. But a public discussion of problems of this kind is always worth while.

We are opposed to federal aid for education for a number of reasons. The bills that will be considered by the present Congress are not in themselves dangerous. They are bad mainly because they are a first step in a program that will rapidly expand, as all aid programs have a way of expanding, and with expansion, will become dangerous.

These aid programs, in their various forms, are dangerous mainly because they threaten the solvency of our government. Our federal government now is in a critical financial condition. During the past seven years, in a period of comparative prosperity, our federal government has gone further into debt to the extent of $15 billion. Because of loose fiscal policy our government no longer has a top credit rating. Responsible financial journals admit concern about a possible run on gold that could deplete our supply at Ft. Knox.

In the coming national election it is not likely that we will get a better government than we have had. The probability is that we will get one that is less responsible, and that will encourage the processes of inflation.

There is little reason to hope that the American people are aware as yet of the dangers that lie ahead.

We are opposed to federal aid for education because we are satisfied that federal aid will not bring us better schools. More money will not bring us better teachers. As a group our teachers are already well paid. And we are not confronted with a serious classroom shortage. What we need is better utilization of the classrooms we already have, and greater, overall efficiency in our school operations.

In recent years we have made some progress in improving our public schools. The progress we have made we owe largely to Sputnik and the awareness of our deficiencies it has forced upon us. We will continue to make progress only as we continue to recognize the urgency of improvement. But there is nothing about this problem of improving our public schools that we cannot take care of right here at home, and we will be better able to provide adequately for our schools if we have a solvent federal government and a stable dollar.

Uniform Traffic Rules

The New York Herald Tribune points up the need for speedier action on the adoption of uniform traffic rules throughout the states. It reminds us that way back in 1926 an officially appointed committee of experts, an officially-appointed committee of experts, states, adopted a Uniform Vehicle Code. This code has been revised many times by the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances, and represents the best thinking on traffic control in the interests of safety and efficiency.

This code has influenced legislative action in many of the states where some of the recommendations have been adopted but the progress toward uniformity has been discouragingly slow. In 1957 the New York legislature enacted the Rules of the Road section of the Uniform Vehicle Code with only a few changes, and Wisconsin and Nebraska have recently taken similar action, but throughout the country there are "countless contradictions, confusions and absurdities of law that are at once a nuisance and a hazard to the interstate driver—which means to practically everyone who drives at all."

Our federal government does have broad control powers over interstate commerce and interstate highways certainly play an important part in interstate transportation. If the states don't take steps to bring about uniform rules of the road then probably intervention by the federal government will become necessary.

Wasted Subsidy

(Baltimore Sun)

For years we have been keeping an American-flag merchant fleet on the high seas through annual Federal subsidies. For a while this program of governmental pap worked. It countered the competitive disadvantage of high costs in shipbuilding and ship operation under American wage levels. But now foreign maritime interests have still further reduced their costs in relation to ours. Furthermore, we are throwing money away through adherence to obsolete and outmoded shipping practices.

The only solution to the problem is drastic improvement in cargo-handling and ship-operating efficiency, together with advances in ship design and construction. Through mechanization and automation techniques already developed, dock workers could be reduced 60 per cent and ship crews could be reduced from 55 to 35 members.

Such, in effect, are the considered opinions in a report just submitted to the Federal Maritime Administration, which handles the country's maritime subsidy program.

The experts are icily impartial: They blame both management and labor for resisting technological advances. They conclude that continued failure to take full advantage of lower ship costs will jeopardize the future of our merchant fleet.

These opinions were underwritten in part by President Eisenhower in his budget message. They will have to be taken into consideration by Congress when it turns to the maritime subsidy and merchant fleet problems in the next few weeks. Congressmen may be for or against subsidies to maintain American flag operations. But certainly there will be unanimous opposition to a maritime program so flabby that not even fat subsidies do the job.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I have just retired from the Armed Forces after 30 years of service. Would it be possible for my GI insurance premiums to be paid by deduction from my retirement pay?

A—Yes. All that is necessary is for you to authorize the deduction, through your branch of service.

Q—I have just sold my GI house and been released by VA from liability on the balance of the loan, which the buyer is assuming. Am I automatically entitled now to another loan?

A—No. As long as VA's guaranty of the loan is outstanding, no restoration of loan rights can be extended. Even in cases where the loan has been paid in full, restoration of entitlement can be made only when the property was taken by a governmental agency for public use; destroyed by fire, flood or other natural disaster; or was disposed of for reasons considered compelling by the VA.

Q—Who is supposed to apply for War Orphans schooling, the child of the deceased war veteran or his living parent or guardian?

A—If the prospective student is under legal age, his parent or guardian must apply in his own behalf. If he is of age, and has no known disability, he may apply on his own.

Q—Is there any special procedure for notifying my VA district office of my change of address? I have a GI insurance policy.

A—No special procedure is necessary. However, it will be best and most convenient if you will use the premium payment envelope VA sends you. Print or type your new address on the inside flap, sign and mail it to the V.A. which will change its records accordingly.

An Editorial

In the chart above is shown the city's bonded obligations as of the first of the year and the maturities of the various issues until the last of the present outstanding issues is retired in 1979. The amount of the original issues are spread across the top of the columns, and at the top of each column is the date of sale of each issue, the purpose for which issued, and the rate of interest at which it was sold.

A blank column, at the left of the total-column at the right, is for the total and amortization schedule of a bond issue that has been authorized by the voters for a new water tank and other water system improvements, but which has not yet been sold.

This year brings to an end the period of fast pay-off. In 1959 and again in 1960 the debt-service load has been at a peak, for which increased taxes have been spread. In 1961 there will be a sharp decrease in the number of dollars that will be required for debt service, providing the maturity dates of future bond issues are spread over the years following 1965. By 1964 more than half of the present bonded debt will be paid, and that probably is faster liquidation than can be justified. But after this year the process becomes progressively less painful.

The reduction in next year's maturities should make possible a substantial reduction in the city's tax levy for debt service. The city's total levy that the taxpayers will pay this year is 45.32 mills, of which 37.76 mills are levied for debt service. This levy for debt service produces less than half of the dollars that will be required to meet this year's bond maturities and interest.

The interest cost this year will be about $10,000, and with the dollars needed to retire the bonds coming due, the total debt service cost will be about $220,000.

Of this total the property owners of the city will pay $102,000 in the form of taxes. The rest of the money will come largely from the profits of the sale of electricity and the operation of the municipal store. If you wish to check on the tax figures, a one mill levy raises only $2,700. Next year's $30,000 reduction in bond maturities should make possible a ten mill reduction in taxes. By 1964 we should be able to conduct the various city functions without any tax for debt service.

After 1965 we should be able to pay $100,000 a year for debt service and new improvements without taxing for such purposes, and needed and desirable improvements may now be scheduled to fit into such a payment pattern with reasonable assurance that the cost will not be burdensome to the taxpayers.

By 1965 our bonded obligations will be greatly reduced even when we include the cost of two new water tanks which may be necessary by that time.

During the coming years the street improvement program will probably go forward, including storm sewer installations. Based on actual experience we may assume that such improvements will be taken in stride, following the program that already is well advanced. By using the city's share of state-distributed gas tax money for storm sewer purposes the cost of this program to property owners has been substantially reduced.

The debt the city has incurred in the financing of this program, which is included in the chart above, is offset by about $200,000 in assessments-receivable as of the first of the year. The portion of these costs that has been charged to the city as a whole has been absorbed in part by income from other sources.

Looking ahead to future public improvements, the prospect is far from discouraging. Aside from the needs of the water system there are no costly essential improvements in sight for the next ten years. There are desirable improvements that deserve consideration and that probably now could be looked upon as within our means. Our library and our skating arena for instance should be enlarged.

For such purposes we soon will have available the revenue the city now is contributing to the county to pay the court house bonds. This has amounted to $10,000 a year and is a moral obligation that is not included in the chart above because no bonds have been issued. But in a few years the court house will be paid for and the $10,000 a year that has helped to pay for the court house could very well be used to secure other improvements that will serve the needs of all of the community.

As we read the figures the city is in good financial condition. We have wept bitterly because of he fast pay-off of bonds that past councils have insisted upon, but this is a problem that time has solved and next year we will start getting relief—if we have good management. It appears that the city will have no difficulty in meeting this year's peak load of obligations for debt service and also its current costs.

Looking ahead we can see no good reason why Thief River Falls should not be able to proceed at once with a few desirable, as well as the essential, improvements in the expectation that soon, with good management, the city once again will require practically no taxes for municipal purposes. There is no good reason why a part of the cost of improvements that we look upon as permanent should not be passed along to those who will benefit by them in the future, and the cost of some improvements can very properly be spread over a period of at least 20 years.

Dairy cows enrolled in the national DHIA program returned an average profit to herd owners in 1958 of $78 per head over total estimated costs of feed and care.

Slow Down and Live!

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

Report on Report

Just last week I completed the last of fifty-four "Reports to the People" on a tour that took me into fifty-two Minnesota counties and brought me into direct personal contact with almost 15,000 Minnesotans.

The primary purpose of this report, which has now been presented around the state during each of the three non-legislative years since I have been governor, was to bring information about state government directly to the people. The meetings were open to everyone who wanted to attend and anyone who had a question about state government was invited to ask it.

Attendance Encouraging

Apparently the people of Minnesota are very much interested in their state affairs because the attendance at almost every stop exceeded the expectations of the local groups making the arrangements. The interest in the report and the probing questions that were raised were clear indications of a high level of responsible citizenship in our state.

In the course of bringing information about state government to the people, I learned a great deal, too. Although state officials have known of the public interest in higher education for some time, I was not aware of the determined effort being put forth by many public-spirited citizens to bring opportunities for higher education closer to home for their young people.

Four Year College Efforts

In Redwood Falls we were greeted by street decorations and a carefully prepared brochure urging a four year state college for their community. Another group of dedicated private citizens discovered the advantages of Marshall, Minnesota, as a college site.

Morris, Minnesota, was in the midst of a fund drive to help finance the transition of their faculty to college status. The governor was asked to ring a cow bell to announce the new pledges that had been received.

The interest in state colleges was not restricted to the communities mentioned above. They are cited merely as examples of the kind of genuine, active interest expressed by many people from many cities and towns, particularly in Western Minnesota.

The junior college program came in for considerable discussion, too, with many communities actively seeking state support for a junior college in their area.

Financing State Programs

I was encouraged to learn that those who were working to provide higher educational facilities for their communities recognized the responsibility of providing adequate financing for them. Too often people tend to disassociate state programs and state services from state revenue raising. In most of the instances encountered on the report tour, the people were acutely aware of the necessary association between taxes and programs. This awareness is an important dimension in an enlightened democratic society.

Heifer dairy calves saved for herd replacements should be housed in pens opening to an outside exercise lot during the winter. Exercise lots should be well drained or paved.

Washington's Recipe

Now in the public library of New York is a recipe in George Washington's own hand, written in 1757, telling how to make the beer he brewed in his brewhouse at Mount Vernon.

Beer Hard Sauce

Here's a topping for mince or apple pie, or plum pudding, that's easy to make and tasty to serve. Take ¼ lb. sweet butter, ¼ cup sugar, and 3 tbsp. beer. Cream together the butter and sugar; blend in the beer. Chill. Makes ⅓ cup.

Early State Brewers

With the now-famous slogan "From the Land of Sky Blue Waters" Hamm's beer has carried Minnesota's name and Hamm's throughout the nation. Established in 1865 by Theodore Hamm, just seven years after Minnesota became a state, the brewery has grown with Minnesota until today it is the seventh largest brewery in the United States. As is true of many other Minnesota brewing firms, management of Hamm's has remained largely in the family. William Hamm, Jr., grandson of the founder, is chairman of the board, while William C. Figge, whose grandfather was a pioneer master brewer at Hamm's, directs operations. The stability lent by Minnesota's brewing families to the economy of this state has helped Minnesota greatly in its march of progress.

BEETLE BAILEY — By Mort Walker

THE LONE RANGER — By Fran Striker

The north woods is changing again. When white men first came to northern Minnesota they found a magnificent virgin evergreen forest—a forest which had been some 11,000 years in the making. The bare rock and rubble left by the receding glacier was gradually changed by a series of events called ecological succession. First, lichens grew on the rocks; then came the mosses followed in their turn by small plants, grass, shrubs, aspen and birch; and, finally, the climax forest of pines, spruce and balsam mixed, of course ,with some of the hardwoods.

As vegetation changed, so did the animal inhabitants. Mice were abundant when grass was plentiful but, as the forest developed, rabbits, foxes, bobcats and coyotes found a suitable home. Finally came the animals which thrive in the climax evergreen forest — Moose, caribou, spruce grouse, fisher and timber wolves. Many other species lived there but animals such as deer and ruffed grouse were rare in this mature pine forest.

This is what the first white men found in northern Minnesota. But what nature had created in 11,000 years, men with their saws, axes and matches changed in a short 30 years.

The evergreen forest was soon gone. With this ecological regression, brush once more became dominate. As the forest changed again, so did the animals. Big timber-loving species such as the moose, caribou, fisher and spruce grouse were gone and the brush-loving deer and ruffed grouse reached peak populations in about the early 1930's.

Now, through fire protection, reforestation and forest management, man is bringing back the evergreen forest. And, once again the animals are changing to suit the environment. Moose, fisher and sage grouse are increasing and this winter two pine marten were caught in the State. It follows that deer and ruffed grouse are becoming less abundant. This is unfortunate in a way because "big timber" never produces game as abundantly as the mixed "intermediate" forest, and white tailed deer and ruffed grouse are unexcelled as game animals.

However, wise forest management should indefinitely insure reasonably abundant numbers of deer and grouse. Adequate and correct timber harvest can form a patchwork in the forest which provides suitable habitat for many species of game.

This can be accomplished only if wildlife management becomes an integral part of forest management, and we are making great strides towards this end. During the past few years foresters and game managers are becoming partners in a program for multiple use of the forest. Together, they work on carefully prepared forest management plans and together, they rehabilitate old logging roads and build new roads into the forest. These roads, seeded to clover, provide food and cover for grouse along with food and openings for deer. These roads also make logging possible which is essential to both game and forestry. They provide access for fire fighting and access for the hunter.

With $80,000 the division of game and fish has built over 50 miles of these woods roads in the past two years. Without help from the foresters, it might have cost twice as much, and taken much longer to accomplish.

History may show that the greatest boon to the Minnesota hunter was the development of close cooperation between the Minnesota Division of Forestry and Game and Fish which had its beginning in the late 1950's.

Council Defers Action on City Pay Increase

Counter-proposal Is Submitted to Employes' Union

A counterproposal by the union representing the majority of city employes was answered by another counterproposal by the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 16 and the 1960 budget, which will be determined by the final outcome of negotiations, remains to be adopted.

The council, previously split over some items in the union's request, unanimously agreed on an offer of a seven-cent raise for all except supervisory personnel in 1960 and an additional five cents in 1961. The health and welfare request was denied, salaries for department heads would remain as they are now, a minimum two-hour reporting time would be adopted and four weeks of vacation would be given at the end of 25 years, rather than 20 years as in the union proposal. After consideration of a retirement schedule, the council will consider four weeks of vacation after 20 years of service.

The council proposal will now be sent to union officials for examination and submission to union members.

The bid of the Westinghouse Electric corporation to furnish switching gear for the municipal power plant at a price of $18,021.48 and the Ranum Construction company bid for $3,944 to install filtration equipment at the water treatment plant were accepted.

The proposal of the law firm of Chommie & Charlson to codify the city's ordinances for a $1,750 fee was accepted. The project will result in compiling city ordinances which have been adopted during more than 60 years into a more easily used form. Outmoded ordinances would be acted upon and conflicts, if any, would be eliminated.

A request by the Thief River Falls Foundation for the payment

Two Interruptions in Bureau Power Here Tuesday & Wednesday

Two outages in the bureau of reclamation power transmission lines between Bismarck and Jamestown cut off electricity in Thief River Falls Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

According to Morris Owen, superintendent of the municipal power plant, the failures were caused by a circuit breaker throwing out or a ground in the 230 kilovolt lines but the trouble has not yet been pinpointed.

The Tuesday evening outage came at 5:45 o'clock and local generators were in operation in 13 minutes. Bureau power was restored at 6:55 p.m. Coupled with the power failure, householders also found themselves without water when mechanical difficulties beset the pump. The water level in the elevated tank was apparently too low and a defective switch had failed to start the pump before the power failure. The difficulty was soon remedied and no serious inconvenience resulted.

The second outage was at 8:02 Wednesday morning and the local generators were cut in again within 15 minutes. Local power was furnished until 11:25 a.m. when bureau power was again furnished.

TRF Man Faces Charges in Stepdaughter's Death

Chas. Wessel Held in Jail in Minneapolis Awaiting Charges

A young Thief River Falls man Tuesday admitted he beat to death his wife's 17-month-old daughter in Minneapolis when her cries kept him from sleeping.

Charles L. Wessel, 21, an unemployed farm laborer, told Ed Ryan, Hennepin county sheriff, of the Monday night killing in a signed statement.

Wessel, his wife, Barbara, 20, and the child, Julie Anne, have been living in St. Anthony with relatives for the past six weeks while he sought employment in the Twin Cities.

Wessel, 6 foot, 185-pound man, is being held in the Hennepin county jail in Minneapolis, pending the filing of charges.

Wessel, who had lived with his family in Thief River Falls in recent months previous to leaving for Minneapolis, had been employed on farms in this locality.

Sheriff's deputies gave this account of the incident:

Wessel returned home about 4:30 p.m., Monday, tired from a day spent looking for a job. He went to bed in a basement recreation room about 7 p.m.

Mrs. Wessel brought the baby downstairs and put her in a crib about 8 p.m. She returned to the living room to watch television with her cousin, Valerian J. Hauge, and his wife.

About 9 p.m. Wessel came running up the basement steps carrying the limp body of the child. Mrs. Wessel quoted him as saying:

"Call the doctor. There is something wrong with the baby."

She said her husband started breathing into the baby's mouth. Wessel and Hauge then took the baby to the St. Anthony fire station, where a resuscitator was used.

A doctor, called to the fire station, pronounced the baby dead at 10:20 p.m. Authorities believed at first the baby died of natural causes since there were no apparent injuries.

An autopsy performed Tuesday, however, revealed the baby had suffered a fractured skull, several fractured ribs and internal injuries. The coroner said the death was from internal hemorrhages.

Wessel admitted beating the baby with his fists to deputies Fred Weegman and Archie Balsner, they said.

"I told the baby to 'keep still'," Wessel said.

"I don't know why I did it," the deputies quoted him as saying. "Something seemed to take hold of me, dragged me out of bed and took me over to the crib."

State to Support TRF in Airline Bid, MacIver Declares

Aeronautics Chief Says City Has Good Chance of Retaining Air Service

Dale MacIver, commissioner of aeronautics, announced in St. Paul that the state would support Thief River Falls in the North Central temporary points case in Washington, D.C., on March 1.

"Thief River Falls has a good chance of winning this case," said MacIver. "The number of passengers has increased rapidly over the last few years. The federal subsidy required to keep North Central at Thief River Falls it much less than it was four years ago."

The March meeting at which Stuart Radsom, special assistant attorney general, will represent the state, is a preliminary meeting to make arrangements for a hearing at which testimony and exhibits will be presented. The hearing will probably be somewhere in Minnesota in April.

"The state department of aeronautics will put in evidence to prove that Thief River Falls is an essential part of the air transportation picture in Minnesota," said MacIver. "Airline service is important to the economy of the state and the towns and cities near an airline stop. It enables businessmen and tourists to reach our state easily and keeps our own people in easy touch with the larger commercial centers."

9 Persons Penalized in 2 Court Sessions

Two sessions of municipal court this week, before Judge H. O. Chommie, resulted in fines or suspended jail sentences for nine persons. All but one case were brought by city police.

The lone offender brought in Monday by Sheriff Charles Richards was Keith Olson, city, who pleaded guilty to issuing fraudulent checks and was given a 30-day jail sentence, suspended on conditions.

Five persons were brought into the Monday session by city police. Loraine K. Huartson, Greenbush, pleaded guilty to going through a red traffic light and was fined $15. Alfred K. Simonson, Crookston, on the same charge, drew a $15 fine after pleading guilty. He also pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined an additional $15. Frank L. Donarski, Crookston, pleaded guilty to running a stop sign and was fined $15.

Mrs. Virginia Anton, city, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way and was fined $15, while a plea of guilty to the same charge also netted Douglas L. Johnston, rt. 1, a $15 fine. Both were involved in separate accidents.

Frank Hildebrandt, Grunthal, Man. forfeited $15 for non-appearance on a speeding charge.

All other city police cases were brought into the Tuesday session of court. Carryll O. Thompson, rt. 5, pleaded guilty to making an improper turn and was fined $35, of which $25 was suspended. Thompson's arrest grew out of an accident recently.

Edwin W. Swanson, rt. 2, Warren, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence and was fined $100. On a charge of driving without a license he was fined $50, suspended. Nellin Svean, rt. 3, Warren, pleaded guilty to permitting a person under the influence of intoxicants to operate a car and was fined $100, $50 suspended. For being drunk Svean was fined $15. Swanson was involved in a mishap with Svean's car with their arrests resulting.

Council Puts off Pay Scale Action Tuesday Evening

of $2000 as the city's share in the Eighth st wayside park purchase was approved.

Plans and specifications presented by D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer, for the new east side water tank were approved and bids will be opened at an adjourned meeting March 8. The tank, which will be located on city owned property west of Merriam ave. and south of Nora st. will be of double ellipsoidal form similar to the one at Roseau and will have a capacity of 250,000 gallons. It will be 125 feet high.

The city will be represented at Washington, D.C., March 1 by Stuart Radson, assistant attorney general attached to the department of aeronautics, in the pre hearing conferences in regard to service by North Central Airlines. Radson was designated by the council in a resolution following the reading of a letter in regard to the matter.

The bid of the Nordheim Roofing company of Bemidji to install a new roof on the liquor dispensary was accepted by the council. The work, which will cost $2,451, minus $240 for use of the present roof as a vapor barrier, will include the installation of an additional one and one-half inches of deck insulation.

Approval was given by the council to a recommendation of the police commission for the creation of the position of police sergeant but the recommendation of the fire department in regard to the appointment of two members of the volunteer fire department was tabled until further information is obtained.

The renewal of 21 cigarette licenses was approved and a motion was passed accepting the airport commission's recommendation that Daniel Illes, operator of the municipal airport, be given permanent status.

A request by the Hockey Boosters club for financial aid was referred to the recreation board. The group had requested $100 to help pay the warming house attendant at the Third st. river skating rink. Robert Wurst, city attorney, advised the council that it had no legal authority to make such a donation but that the attendant could be hired as a city employe by the recreation board.

Resolutions were adopted for the payment of several contractors' bills including $2,120 to Ranum Construction company for work at the liquor store and $2,326 to Prichard Brothers company, $2,955 to the Brodin Sheet Metal Works and $2,097.60 to Lawrence W. Best for work on the airport shop building.

Some time was taken up with discussion on the possible installation of parking meters in the city. The matter was tabled and Aldermen Art Christianson and E. B. Benson were appointed to contact businessmen to hear their opinions about parking meters.

The reading of a letter setting meeting dates at the University of Minnesota Center for Continuation Study for municipal officials and department heads brought about a discussion on travel and per diem allowances. Further action will be taken in the matter.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which was attended by all council members with the exception of Alderman Olaf Dahlen, it was decided that no further action on the 1960 budget could be taken until all matters in regard to wages are settled. It appears, however that there will be a deficit of $68,497.60 for the year plus approximately $20,000 for increased wages.

The meeting was adjourned until March 8.

CSAH 6—Sand gravel subbase, gravel base and road-mixed bituminous base and surfacing of 5.1 miles, between CSAH 3, 2½ miles north of Fosston, and CSAH 35.

CSAH 12—Bituminous stabilized base and road-mixed bituminous surfacing of seven miles, located between CSAH 41 and two miles south of T.H. 2 in Mentor.

CSAH 11—Grading, sand-gravel subbase, gravel base and road-mixed bituminous base and surfacing of 3.9 miles, located between CSAH 45 and T.H. 75, ½ mile south of Crookston. Bids will be received on March 9 by the county auditor, Martin L. Vanseth, at the county court house in Crookston.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

A few days ago there was a panel meeting held in Thief River Falls for educators and politicians on the question of Federal Aid to Education. This discussion was conducted by a Mr. Clayton Seeber, a representative of the National Education Association, Washington, D.C.

Mr. Seeber opened his discussion by informing us that this issue was not to be called Federal Aid to Education but Federal Support to Education simply because we should not concern ourselves over two- or three-year plans for emergency or temporary aid but should and must concern ourselves with a permanent type support program to our public schools.

Mr. Seeber also said, and I quote, "We are not interested in any of the piddling types of Federal aid to the school lunch programs, vocational program, math and science programs, or what over other emergency programs we may have at this time. All of these emergency programs must go—we want a permanent program—how much easier it will be for school boards and administrators to have all of the funds for education coming from one source and that will be from the federal government. The Murray-Metcalf bill for federal support to public schools is the permanent type of legislation we must have. If we don't enact permanent legislation now—we must keep working until we have." unquote! (I might add here that the Murray-Metcalf Bill has been scrapped for the time being but there are many others.)

Now stop and think — read those statements by Mr. Seeber again and think deeply about what he has said. Do those statements smack of something undesirable in government? If you love a freedom type of government, do those statements raise any questions in your mind? It certainly raises some strong and hair raising doubts in my mind —How far have we gone without realizing what is happening in government and to us? This person, who is a representative of our educators and who is also indirectly representing you and me — is a lobbyist in Washington D.C. He is in Washington or wherever he is paid to go to go to advocate central financing for all our public schools by the federal government. Central financing or support is just a flowered phrase or forerunner to what should simply be called Socialized Education.

Now ask yourself this question—If this is the type of solution that a pressure group desires to correct the financial aches of our educational difficulties, how many other Federal and State programs are founded on the same basis? We can wonder a long time about that and we will never know the answer unless we start to dig into this business of Federal government.

Now supposing—as many of us have thought would be best—that we do go into total federal support for education. These are some of the undesirable possibilities at the local level. No choice of textbooks; no choice of teacher; no choice of curriculum, no choice of spending, no choice of building, and in all probability a few years from now we will have no choice period.

You ask again what is the answer? The answer is just this simple—we have sold too many of our States rights to the Federal government now and when we have returned most of those rights to the states, then we will have the answer. This underground stream of politicians and statesmen who have sold us out on States rights, have been yelling loud and clear for many years, while we have sat back and enjoyed our complacency. We can get back States rights but we have to yell louder than our opposition. By opposition I don't mean faithful Republicans or Democrats — but I mean the leaders, groups and goons who have filtered into government office positions, and into our political two party system, and into the political pressure groups.

Three out of every four tax dollars collected in the U. S. are not paid by us to the Federal government. That leaves $1 out of every $4 paid in taxes to be collected and spent by Minnesota, Pennington county and Thief River Falls for state and local programs. Is this a fair share now and do you want to give a little more of this $1 share to the Federal government? Without saying another word, I think this is the answer to our inability to care for education problems on the state and local level. To me, it is as simple as making my home in Thief River Falls and operating a business in Washington, D.C. I'm afraid I would have some foolish spending, excess salaries, lots of debts and darn soon—no business.

Our Federal government is poor. Our national debt is $293 billion and if we add to that the amount of future commitments, the total would be somewhere around $479 billion dollars. If you doubt this statement you can do the same research as I have. Your progressive politicians will probably avoid such information as this—but there are many organizations in Washington, D.C., that are readily willing to give us this information. According to the figures above and without some immediate caution the time isn't too distant when we will not have anything to spend and will just be able to pay back.

Just because we have some Federal programs now that we know are wrong — let's not add another wrong — Federal Aid to Education. One more wrong doesn't help anyone. Those kids we are pampering and worrying over now will surely have to carry the brunt of our foolishness of today. Or are we selfish enough to interest ourselves in the security of our kids today only?

Editor Times:

The "featherbedding" issue has sort of disappeared from the front pages but of course is not dead yet. I still hear people asking "What is this thing called featherbedding?" I thought that after the steel strike it had been proven then that there was no real featherbedding issue at all.

I will attempt to define that word in this letter as our Madison Ave. advertisers have applied it.

We all come under it! Our local fire department for instance. We do not need these men until we have a fire to put out.

What about our local police: we do not need these men until there is a murder committed or some more minor thing.

How about these sod bank farmers, we could do very nicely without them until we need some more grain or if a war should develop.

What about a judge, who sits on the bench a couple of hours a day?

Also our wives who no longer have to carry water from the well or split wood for the kitchen stove and even can go to a nice clean hospital to have a baby instead of have it at home and then right back in the harness.

These are just a few that I have cited and with using your imagination I'm sure you could add quite a few more to the list.

The main thing for the public to understand is that what I have written is the gist of featherbedding. We cannot get along without any of these fine people. When you read the word "featherbed", stop right there and examine it. Stop and think, what's behind it, who stands to profit by this, who will be hurt and most of all, will it be good for the country, the public and safety.

In the past, I have had articles in this paper to inform the public of the vital roll firemen and brakemen perform to make the railroads safe not to mention the rest of the crew.

We of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen have subscribed for a weekly paper to inform the public more of this issue and you may read it your convenience at Staresow Clinic, Falls Clinic, LaBree Law Office, Sagmoen's barber shop, also Meds, Elofsons, Dr Disse, Dr Beich, Dr Johnson, Dentist and others. Please feel free when in the business places at T R Falls to ask for the current issue of Labor and you will feel very enlightened after reading this very informative paper.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

We read lots lately of rigged quiz shows and their producers who became famous and infamous almost over night. But many of us are only half aware of the quiz show that goes on every day of the week here in our town with the answers being "rigged" by three of our most helpful ladies.

Here the questions are furnished by our own citizens and the answers come to light sometimes reluctantly out of the reference department at the Library thanks to the probing minds and fingers of Frances Shanahan, librarian and Bertha Hastad and Inga Thompson, her able assistants. The reward is knowledge enticing an enticing apple that TV quizzers passed up in favor of money.

Seven of the following questions came to the library in one day. Even its experienced fact finders were hard put to find the answers. Just for fun see how well you do with them.

What is the average temperature and the growing season in the Matanuska Valley? (Don't say, "Where's the Matanuska Valley?" Just pretend you already know it's one of the most productive agricultural areas in our 49th state, Alaska.)

What is the plural form of the word "silhouette?" (This is not given in most dictionaries and finally was found in context in Colliers Encyclopedia.)

What is the difference between High and Low German? How and why did the two develop?

What is the elevation of Fordville, Dahlen and Whitman? (All in North Dakota.)

How can you build an infra-red lamp?

What does the Davy safety lamp look like?

Do you have the "Kalevala" in the library?

How does the second part of Milton's "Paradise Lost" begin?

Do you have pictures of the skeletons of present-day animals?

The Library's score was five out of nine. The unanswered questions were primarily the scientific ones. In fact the one which drew the biggest fattest zero was the request for pictures of skeletons of contemporary mammals, an informational area to which the reference department has been unable to stretch its resources. Perhaps there isn't too great a difference in principle between the "missile lag" and our own inability to supply information to the inquiring mind of the fifth grade science student or a teen-ager fascinated by photography.

In addition to helping the library expand its reference section one of the things the proposed "Friends of the Library" organization might do is supply a group of local experts who would be on call to help our interested students find answers when the reference materials at the library fail them. Here is one more spot where interest and support in our Library could pay big dividends.

Duck banded in New York Shot Locally

Minneapolis Man Shot It Last Fall at Thief Lake

A bufflehead (butterball) duck shot at Thief Lake last fall by a Minneapolis hunter was banded in New York the previous year, according to a report recently received by Robert Farmes, area game biologist, from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The adult drake bufflehead shot Oct. 11, 1959 by Jerry Garvey, 1411 Fourth st. NE, Minneapolis, carried a band, which Garvey sent in to the federal bureau.

The Fish and Wildlife Service report showed the duck had been banded in Dunkirk, N. Y., by members of the New York department of conservation Feb. 11, 1958.

According to Farmes, the bird had probably wintered in New York in 1957-58 but had gone south in the fall of 1958 and when shot in 1959 was on its way south again along the Mississippi flyway. At the time it was banded, it was listed as an immature male by the New York conservation department, probably having been hatched the previous summer.

Goodridge Quint Trims Prowler 'B's

Freshmen Defeat Locals Wednesday Night 52-39

Coach Harry Schindele's Goodridge high school freshman team, gaining a 19 to 5 lead in the first period, and holding a 32 to 13 advantage at the intermission, used that point cushion to hold off the Prowler freshman in the second half and defeat coach Dick Edlund's squad, 52 to 39, in a basketball game played on the Goodridge court on Wednesday night.

Roger Hoffman, Gary Lian, and Gary Johnson, a burly trio of Goodridge freshman, played strong ball for the winners, controlling the backboards, and, especially in the first half, driving in for numerous layups.

The locals' Paul Klungness, with seven field goals and three free throws, was the game's high point player with 17 points. Bob Ihle, hitting from the outside, looped in five field goals for coach Edlund's club.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved son, brother and uncle Clifford N. Kolstrand, who passed away 3 years ago, February 18, 1957.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and true in his heart and mind
A beautiful memory he left behind.
He had a nature you could not help loving,
A heart that was purer than gold,
And to those who knew him, and loved him,
His memory will never grow old.
Sadly missed by his father Pete Kolstrand, Brothers and Sisters. 1114p

Prowler Quint Edges Halsted Here 63-57

Marking up six free throw points in the final 23 seconds of play, coach Hartley Story's basketball Prowlers broke a 57 all tie and defeated coach Al Coen's Halstad Pirates from District 30 here Tuesday night, winning by a 63 to 57 score.

On Friday night the Prowler 'A' and 'B' squads will travel to East Grand Forks for return encounters with the Little Green Wave 'A' and 'B' squads. In earlier competition between the two schools, the Prowler 'A' squad defeated the East Grand Forks 'A' team, 46 to 35; and the local 'B' squad scored a 49 to 35 win over the East Side 'B' squad.

In Tuesday night's hectic game here, which found the ever-trying Halstad club moving into a 56 to 55 lead with 1:58 to play, was won by the Prowlers on some exceptional marksmanship from the free-throw line. With the score in a 57 to 57 knot, and 23 seconds to play, Dave Rein, Halstad's sturdy center, committed his fifth personal foul. Ron Solheim, with a one-and-one free throw situation, dropped in a pair of game-winning points for the Prowlers, swishing the net of the east basket. With nine seconds to play, Halstad's Dave Werner fouled the Prowlers' Steve Embury, and Steve plunked in a pair of free throw points. And just as the buzzer sounded, Wayne Bjerken was fouled, by Werner, and the sophomore guard added the final points by scoring on his two free throw tries.

The Prowlers, who were without the services of their high scoring center, Ron Hanson, who was ill, several times during the game pulled away to a lead of seven or eight points, but the hustling Pirates always rallied to pare the local lead. Entering the fourth quarter, the locals held a 50 to 44 lead, but Halstad, with Rein doing the bulk of the scoring, erased that lead midway through the period.

With 3:37 of the final period to play, Rein knotted the game at 54-all on a free throw. Solheim's gift shot, with 2:06 to play, gave the Prowlers the lead but not for long as Rein, playing a sturdy game around the basket drove in for layup, giving the Pirates a 56 to 55 lead. Solheim from the lane, lofted a one handed loss into the east basket, with 1:35 to play. With less than a minute to play, Rein marked up a free throw point for the Pirates, and the game was in 57 to 57 knot. Solheim's two point conversion on a one and one free throw, with 23 seconds to play, proved to be the game winning points. Embury and Bjerken added "insurance" points.

Bob Pearson of the Prowlers and Dave Rein of the Pirates shared the game's high-point honors, scoring 21 points apiece.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Our Wish

First, assuming that the Prowlers defeat Baudette and Roseau sidelines Warroad in Thursday night's semi-finals matches, we hope that all the hockey fans who want to see the regional finals between the Prowlers and Rams on Friday night will find space in the Roseau arena.

Second, we hope that the outcome isn't decided by a lucky bounce of the puck. The two teams have engaged in a pair of overtime tilts during the season, with one game ending in a 3 all tie, and the Prowlers winning the second by a 2 to 1 score. We're sure that the players, and the fans, will want the game to be won on merit.

Don't forget that game time for the championship game on Friday night is slated for 7:30 P.M. This is to assure fast ice for the teams.

It's a Fact

We received an item clipped from the Duluth News-Tribune's valumn by Arno Goethel commenting on the roughness prevalent in hockey. States the item: "Take it from Dennis Rolle — unnecessary roughness isn't essential to good hockey."

Rolle was an interested spectator in last Thursday night's District 26 semi-finals battle between Duluth Central and Duluth East. Rolle saw one player charge from the blue-line to slam an opponent into the corner boards. "That's what's detrimental to hockey," Rolle exclaimed. "There's no need for that kind of playing, but people around here think it's good hockey."

He continued, "You don't see around the rest of the state, only in Region Seven. That's why the Region Seven champion doesn't play hockey in the state tournament that is representative of this area." Rolle emphasized his point by nodding toward the offending player, who was sitting in the penalty box by this time. "What good is he doing his team sitting there?"

And Rolle should know. As coach here for seven years, Dennis guided the Prowlers into five state tournaments, winning two state titles, two third placers and one consolation winner. Dennis is now in guidance at Proctor high school.

The current Prowler club, rated the state's best, can give evidence of Rolle's statements. Contributing greatly to the success of the Prowlers this season has been the sturdy defense work of Archie Schneider. Archie, a solid 195 pounder, is unquestionably the state's finest blue-liner. Last season Archie picked up sixteen penalties; and this season he has been sent to the penalty box but three times. That means that coach Gene Sacks' club has received the benefit of Schneider's play at just about full time. That has made a difference.

Bowling Notes

Terry Sheets, from the Red Ray bowling alleys in Grand Forks, rolled games of 192-228-173, plus a handicap of 91 pins, to take first place in the Family Bowl handicap singles tournament here. The tournament will continue for two more Sundays, and it's doubtful if this 684-pin aggregate will hold up under the cannonading that's due to come.

There were some disappointments on Sunday, too. Wally DuChamp of Plummer posted an ordinary 505 aggregate. Wally, who was bowling nearly at scratch, having a two-pin handicap, chalked up games of 138-160-205.

Another surprise was the totals that rangy Marv Washnesky put into the tournament scoring record. Marv, who had a humiliating 107 game, posted a 446 aggregate in his first try, being beaten by his wife Mary, who scored a 527. re-entered the tournament. In his re-entry attempt, Marv scored a creditable 570 aggregate. And do you know what his wife bowled in her second try? A 581 aggregate!

In case you missed the mention made of Tress Noel's fine three-game total bowled late last month, we'll report that Tress had games of 223-195-200 for a 618 total. Tress bowls with the Soo Line girls on Friday night.

Thieves' Hockey

The senior hockey Thieves, coached by Morris (Mouse) Efteland, will play a couple of games here this week-end. On Saturday night the Thieves will meet the Crookston Pirates, with the face-off set for 2:30 P.M., the Emerson Canadians of Manitoba's Provencher league, will meet the Thieves on the Arena ice.

Last Sunday afternoon in a game played at Crookston, the Pirates defeated the Thieves, 12 to 3.

Region 8 Hockey Tourney Starts in Roseau Today

Pairings for Thursday night's first-round games in the Region Eight hockey tournament at Roseau will find Thief River Falls playing Baudette at 7:30 P.M., and the defending regional and state champion—Roseau Rams—playing Warroad at 9:30 P.M.

The regional championship game will be played on Friday night at 7:30 P.M., with the winners of Thursday night's games playing. At 9:30 P.M. a consolation game, with the losers of Thursday night's games competing, will be played.

In sub-regional tournament play at Warroad on Monday and Tuesday, Thief River Falls, Baudette, Roseau, and Warroad were winners and gained regional tournament berths. On Monday night, the Prowlers defeated Red Lake Falls, 12 to 0; and Baudette eliminated Hallock, winning by a 6 to 2 score. On Tuesday night, Roseau trounced Indus, 14 to 0, and Warroad scored a 17 to 0 win over Williams.

In the Prowlers' 12 to 0 win over the Eagles of Red Lake Falls on Monday, right wing Arlan Hjelle pumped six goals past goalie Steve Demarais. Hjelle scored three goals in the first period, added a pair in the second period, and closed out his double hat-trick performance with a single goal in the third period. Center Dale Wennberg hit for three goals, and had five assists.

Other Prowler scorers were Larry Poole, Jack Houfek, and Eddie Holmes.

GOOD THINGS COME IN SMALL PACKAGES
Frequently people exclaim, "These pills are so small that I can't understand how they can do any good!" Few realize how potent modern drugs are or how little is needed to produce a significant effect. You know how small an ounce is and one gram is only 1/28th of an ounce. Most drug dosages are measured in milligrams or 1/1000 of a gram and many newer compounds are measured in micrograms or millionths of a gram. Interstate Highway Program Is Outlined

The state highway department has programmed $52,226,000 in Interstate highway projects for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962. In a joint statement, Governor Freeman and Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman pointed out that this is in addition to the 1962 regular trunk highway program that will be made public shortly.

Contract lettings for the 1962 Interstate program will begin July 1, 1961, calling for nearly 52 miles of grading, 30 miles of surfacing, the construction of 105 bridges, and miscellaneous work such as fencing, signing and sewer installation. Of the total cost of this program, 90 per cent, or $47,003,400 will be paid by the federal government and 10 per cent, or $5,222,600 will be borne by the state.

Of the counties outside the Twin Cities area, St. Louis county will receive the largest share of the 1962 Interstate program. It will get $5,475,000 to pay for nine bridges and 1½ miles of grading and subbase on Interstate Route 535 in Duluth.

Winona county is scheduled to get 12 bridges and 5.7 miles of grading and subbase on Interstate Route 90. The cost of these projects is estimated at $3,545,000.

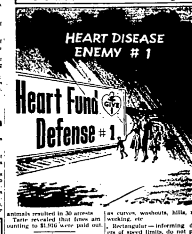
Scheduled for Carlton county's section of Interstate Route 35 are seven bridges and almost six miles of grading and base to cost $3,157,000. Rice county will get $3,000,000 to pay for 1.9 miles of grading and subbase, 10 miles of base and surfacing, two bridges and miscellaneous work on Interstate Route 35.

Hennepin and Ramsey counties will get the largest shares of the 1952 Interstate program. Hennepin county will take $18,498,000 for 37 bridges, 10 miles of grading and subbase and 7½ miles of surfacing. Ramsey county's share will be $11,759,000 for 22 bridges, five miles of grading and subbase, seven miles of surfacing and miscellaneous work.

Other counties sharing in this program are Anoka, Dakota, Mower, Scott and Washington.

203 Arrested by Wardens in Month

Arrests in January for violations of the game and fish laws totalled 369, with fishing infractions topping the list.



Richard Tarte, acting assistant chief, reports game wardens made 203 arrests involving fishing violations. Over 50 anglers were also nabbed for failure to have a valid license. Transporting loaded or uncased firearms in motor vehicles caused 46 persons to make court appearances, while offenses involving game animals resulted in 30 arrests.

Tarte revealed that fines amounting to $1,916 were paid out.

Out of the Shadows—Into the Sunlight

Leader Explains Highway Signs

Sieben Cites February Highway Safety Program

"Signs of Life" is the February traffic safety emphasis program for Minnesota, Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, announced today. "Signs of Life" refer to traffic signs along our streets and highways," he said, "which are designed to protect and inform motorists."

Sieben pointed out that there are five basic highway signs, each with a definite shape and carrying a definite message. These five are:

Octagonal—the red or yellow eight-sided sign used only to indicate the need to stop.

Diamond—warning of dangerous or unusual conditions such as curves, washouts, hills, men working, etc.

Rectangular—informing drivers of speed limits, do not pass, no U turn, and other driving rules.

Circular—warning there is a railroad crossing ahead, or designating civil defense evacuation routes.

Triangular—warning that drivers must slow down and be prepared to yield the right of way to others.

"Signs of Life" is one of the twelve special emphasis programs included in the year-long Blueprint for Safety, the official state accident prevention program. The Minnesota highway department and Minnesota Safety Council have joined to promote each monthly program through local safety councils, service and civic groups and other organizations interested in traffic safety.

Langen Supports Two House Actions on Farm Measures

Endorses Action on School Milk Program and Grain Re-sealing

Congressman Odin Langen of the Ninth district today expressed pleasure at two actions taken during the past week in Washington.

The first passage by the House of Representatives last Monday of legislation authorizing increased appropriations for the school milk program. The second was announcement by the department of agriculture of a reseal program on four farm stored price supported grains.

The school milk legislation passed by the House provides an additional $4 million of Commodity Credit Corporation funds for the current fiscal year and appropriates an added $1 million in CCC funds for fiscal 1961. It also provides that an additional $15 million may be appropriated if needed for 1961. The bill after passage by the House was sent to the Senate.

The recently announced reseal program will permit farmers in certain areas to keep farm stored 1959 crop corn, wheat, barley and grain sorghums under price support loans for another year following maturity dates of original loans in 1960. In addition, price support reseal loans already in effect on 1958 and 1957 crop corn and wheat, 1958 crop sorghums and barley, and 1956 crop corn are being extended for another year.

Langen recommended this program in conferences with agriculture department officials and was instrumental in assuring the inclusion of 1958 crop barley in the program. He emphasized the importance of expanding on the farm storage of surplus crops.

Engineer Groups Plan Convention February 24-26

The 18th annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Engineering Societies will be held in St. Paul February 24-26.

The convention theme "Build Minnesota Better" will be carried in the presentation of talks and panels by experts in the fields of education, science and transportation.

Final event of the three-day conference will be the annual banquet and Queen's Ball Friday evening. High spot of the event will be the crowning of "Miss Supersonic of 1960."

The federation, made up of 20 chapters of engineer societies throughout Minnesota, was formed in 1921 as an outgrowth of the old Joint Engineering Board, organized in 1915.

Active in the conference will be Douglas H. Stewart, civil engineer in Thief River Falls. He is a candidate for vice president of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers.

"I think I knew General Washington intimately and thoroughly; and were I called on to delineate his character, it should be in terms like these: His mind was great and powerful without being of the very first order; his penetration strong, though not so acute as that of Newton, Bacon or Locke, and, as far as he saw, no judgment was ever sounder. It was slow in operation, being little aided by imagination or invention, but sure in conclusion. Hence the common remark of his officers, of the advantage he derived from councils of war, where, hearing all suggestions, he selected whatever was best; and certainly, no general planned his battles more judiciously. . . . He was incapable of fear, meeting personal danger with the calmest unconcern. . . . Perhaps the strongest feature in his character was prudence, never acting until every circumstance, every consideration, was maturely weighed; refraining if he saw a doubt, but, when once decided, going through with his purpose, whether obstacles opposed. His integrity was most pure, his justice the most inflexible I have ever known, no motives of interest or consanguinity, of friendship or hatred, being able to bias his decision. He was indeed, in every sense of the words, a wise, a good, and a great man."

—Thomas Jefferson

Be Neighborly

We agree with the St. Paul Pioneer Press that "it would not be wise at the present time to follow the suggestion of Senator Jacob Javits of New York that the United States conclude a mutual security pact with Israel." Such a pact would be unfair to both the Israelis and to us. It would give to the government of Israel unwarranted assurance of support in the many problems it faces in its relations with its border nations.

In their part of the world Zionism is looked upon as a greater danger than Communism. Better now that the Israelis be informed about the facts of life. They are in danger, and much of their peril they have brought upon themselves.

The Israelis must, somehow, learn how to get along peacefully with their neighbors.

Defense Spending

President Eisenhower has been kept quite busy in his spare time recently defending the administration's defense program. The program has been criticized by both military men and by those who speak for the opposition party.

We are not objecting to criticism. Generally we do not have enough of it. But it does seem a little strange that the criticism of both the Generals and the Democrats is that not enough money is being spent in our defense efforts.

It would be better, we think, if some of the criticism were directed at the high cost of our defense activities, and a little more concern indicated about whether we are getting a dollar's worth of defense effort for each dollar we spend. The billions are being tossed around pretty recklessly, and while we are not in a position to say for sure, we suspect that many millions of our defense dollars are being spent wastefully.

We can see nothing cheerful in the prospect of having the present administration succeeded by one that advocates still more spending.

"The Government Is Broke"

Senator Carl Curtis of Nebraska, speaking on the proposed federal aid for schools, told his audience recently that

> "The federal government is broke; it can't give you something for nothing . . . Pressure for new federal programs comes from a fallacious sort of reasoning that seems to assume the well from which we draw federal appropriations is a bottomless pit . . . If we deliver public education to a strong central government we are delivering a system which by its very nature needs the interest and supervision of state and community responsibility . . . It is pitifully naive to assume there can be federal aid to education without federal control."

We know from experience that with federal aid comes federal control, just as with state aids comes state control. And more and more the control of our local problems are being shifted from the local level to the state and federal levels.

This is not an evil in all instances, but when these programs have to do with problems that affect the interests of groups that are strong politically they tend to become an evil. When strong pressure groups have an interest in the spending of tax dollars then it is fair to assume the tax dollars are likely to be spent in the best interests of the pressure groups rather than in the public interest.

We may cite as one example of this, the most recent addition to the federal aid system, our interstate federal highways. This program was sold to the nation by the builders of highways, supported by the various groups that had a payroll interest in highway construction. We admit, regretfully, that we supported this program as it was represented by its advocates. At our age we should have known better.

We know now that the federal interstate highway system has not been wisely administered. Promises that were made have not been kept. As an example of this, the development of other segments of our state highway system has been delayed. That is not in accordance with the plan as it was presented.

This federal highway program is a fair example of what might happen with a federal aid program for education or any aid program that is sponsored primarily for the selfish interests of a strong pressure group. And the organized educators now have one of the strongest pressure groups that threaten the solvency of our government.

The members of this group, like the members of all pressure groups, are good people. Their shortcoming is the common shortcoming of the members of all pressure groups. They become so enthusiastic over the prospects of their own immediate gains that they overlook those more important interests they have in common with all other Americans in the strength of the economy as a whole.

And we think it is prudent for all of us to keep in mind what Senator Carl Curtis of Nebraska feared when he reminded an audience that "the federal government is broke."

Panama Pressure

The Panama Canal is likely to become a political question of international interest in the near future. The Republic of Panama may be expected to make an issue of the ownership of the Canal Zone. Our title to it might be looked upon as questionable.

Under the circumstances, some good citizens are suggesting that the canal be made an international operaton, and, as we see it, this idea has considerable merit.

We have seen what has happened to the Suez Canal, when our government defended the right of Dictator Nasser to seize the property of the company that had a good title to it.

France and England could have blasted Nasser out of the Suez area and restored the property to its rightful owners. Our government restrained them from such violence probably because of the probable international consequences.

Considering the future of the operation of the Panama Canal and its special importance to us, we probably would be better served if the Canal were controlled by an international agency rather than by a Nasser of Panama.

If we must yield to pressure, better that we yield gracefully.

Scare Publicity

Hoard's Dairyman is properly concerned about the gobs of free publicity the dairy industry is getting about Strontium-90 in milk. Invariably the news releases point out that the quantity of this radioactive fallout is not sufficiently great to be dangerous, so why, wonders editor Bill Knox, must publicity material of this kind be released? It serves no good purpose and does irreparable injury to the dairy industry.

We are glad to pass along the following editorial from the current issue of Hoard's Dairyman that contains some reassuring information on the subject that should be kept in mind by those who have to do with the publicity releases.

"Radioactive fallout concerns us all but milk has taken a lot of abuse in the press because investigators have found traces of Strontium 90 in it. To offset these worrisome and scare headlines is extremely difficult but it may help to place the radioactive hazard in its proper perspective.

"Measures of Strontium 90 are used to indicate the amount of radioactive material in our environment. Milk, unfortunately, has been the product most widely publicized. The truth of the matter is that a man would have to drink two glasses of milk a day for 200 years and he would still absorb less radioactivity than from a single chest X-ray.

"Putting it another way, the General Advisory Committee to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said recently, 'The present state of knowledge does not permit a full evaluation of the biological effects of fallout. However, in order to place the hazard of fallout in proper perspective, it should be pointed out that the amount of total body external radiation, resulting from fallout to date, together with future fallout in any part of the world from previous weapons' tests is,

"'A. Less than 5 per cent as much as the average exposure to cosmic rays and other background radiation.

"'B. Less than 5 per cent of the estimated average radiation exposure to the American public to X rays for medical purposes.'

"The foregoing is not intended to ease all concern about radioactive fallout, but dairymen and the processing dairy industry should pass this type of information on to the general public when it becomes concerned."

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!

Compare this list of Chevy advances with the features ordinary trucks are still talking about. You'll see why Chevy trucks get more work done in a day... why they go extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. These Sturdi-Bilt Sixties aren't just new, they're a full scale revolution!

TORSION-SPRING RIDE

Each front wheel, suspended independently of the other, is free to step individually over bumps. And shockproof torsion springs up front soak up the jars and jolts before they reach the body. With three rugged new tailored-to-the-truck rear suspensions to further reduce road shocks, Chevy gives you the smoothest-truck-ride you've ever felt.

With independent front suspension there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel.

NO SHIMMY, NO WHEEL FIGHT

Drive a '60 Chevy. Just once. Right away you'll notice the absence of I-beam shimmy and wheel fight common on ordinary trucks.

CABS FOR BIG GUYS

Big guys get a bigger break in a Chevy cab. There's plenty of space inside to stretch out and relax; more room for hats and hips, more room for wide shoulders and long legs. There's horizon-wide visibility through a windshield with 26% more glass area; a new see-at-a-glance instrument panel. Cabs are safer, too, up to 67% more rigid.

6'S SWORN TO SAVE

Chevy's 6-cylinder engines are set to squeeze extra miles out of every drop of fuel. They're long famous for low fuel consumption, high performance.

SHORT STROKE V8'S

Power packed for peak performance, Chevy's husky V8's make child's play out of the toughest hauls. They have a mind tuned to economy, too, that keeps costs down, profits up.

SLICK NEW SUBURBAN CARRYALLS

These handsome new handy haulers "double in brass"—can transport eight passengers or up to 950 lbs. of payload. Rear and center seats are easy to remove and replace when necessary. For work or for pleasure, these double-duty beauties are best for both!

NEW DOLLAR-SAVING PRICES

Chevrolet's low prices make big truck news for '60. They mean money in your pocket on model after model. Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Also, prices have been reduced on all optional V8's.

SEE YOUR DEALER

It could be the most important visit you make in '60. When you've seen these new Chevies, you'll agree they're the world's most advanced trucks. Then drive one and find out why.

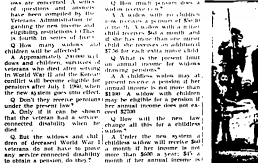
Answer Questions on New GI Pension Laws

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

THIRD SECTION
Pages 1 thru 6
Volume Forty-nine | Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota | Thursday, February 18, 1960 | Number Fourteen

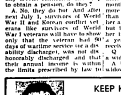
(Pension requirements are greatly changed since wartime days are concerned. A series of questions and answers have been compiled by the Veterans Administration regarding the new pension law and eligibility restrictions.) Thursday, Feb. 18, 1960

Q How many widows and children will be affected?



A Approximately 200,000 widows and children of veterans who served in World War I and the Korean conflict will be affected.

Q What is the present limit of income a widow may have and still be eligible for a pension?



A The limiting widow may already have $1,400 annual income and still be eligible for a pension if her annual income is no more than $2,700. A widow with children may be eligible for a pension if her annual income does not exceed $2700.

Q How will the new law affect a widow with children?

A Under the new system, a childless widow will receive $60 a month if her annual income is more than $1,400 but not more than $2,700; $40 a month if her annual income is more than $2,700 but not more than $3,900; and $25 a month if her annual income is more than $3,900 but not more than $4,800. If she has one child in addition to herself, she is entitled to receive a pension if her annual income is more than $2,700 and final action will be to the effect of the pension law on orphans and hospitalized veterans.

IDEAS FROM OTHER EDITORS

From the Bremerton, Washington Sun: There's nothing like a three-week vacation at home to reveal the idiocy of those who claim American women are lazy and spoiled.

The housewife may be the only non-specialist left in this world of specialization. She must be all things to a considerable number of people.

She is responsible for the physical, mental and spiritual welfare of anywhere from one to a dozen children and adults. She superintends growing-up in the fastest-growing era man has ever known. She must know and have faith—indeed, must BE an article of faith—in a faithless age. In a time of doubt and fear, she must betray no bewilderment or insecurity. She must be an island of calm in a frantic world.

If a woman in a Chinese community works in a rice paddy, someone minds her children and keeps house. If a European woman must discharge high social obligations, someone else cooks. If an Eskimo wife must cook and keep house and mind the children, her man does the shopping with his gun.

The American woman must rear a model family, shop, cook, keep house inside and out, entertain and keep a man happy. To help her, she has gadgets; and because these theoretically give her leisure time, she is expected to participate in great numbers of activities for church and school, country and community, and family and neighbor.

She must be the intellectual, academic and artistic equal of both husband and children so she doesn't bring shame to them, but she must never overshadow them. She must dream with man and child and at the same time be terribly practical. She must know more rules than a lawyer and more truth than the greatest philosopher, and be always more just than justice. She must be strong and weak, somber and gay, sympathetic and tough, devious and direct.

She has to work before a man's day begins and long after his day has ended, but always be fresh and beautiful. And if she finds time to open a magazine, she is sure to find there an article telling her how lazy and selfish and inadequate she is.

She must give infinitely and receive infinitesimally—and be happy with it.

No thanks. Make mine the salt mine.

HALF-PAST TEEN

The WORLD OUTDOORS

WHEN the farm pond begins to thaw at the end of an extended freeze, their bellies upward, dead fish begin to pop to the surface. Death from freezing? Starvation? Neither. They were victims of a disaster that frequently occurs beneath the ice of shallow lakes during the "ice" season. It is known as "winterkill." The fish are drowned.

Oxygen, as everyone knows, is one of the two chemical components of water—H₂O. But, as we also know, fish cannot survive out of water, breathing the same type of oxygen that we do . . . they utilize oxygen in gaseous form, or dissolved in water. This supply is normally obtained from the atmosphere and converted by the plants in the presence of sunlight. A deep lake will "store" a healthy supply of this dissolved oxygen, enough to accommodate its gill-breathing population through periods when the supply is curtailed for one reason or another. A shallow lake can build up only so much of this type of oxygen and when the surface becomes covered with ice, then with snow, production of the necessary oxygen comes to a halt. In a short time, fish deplete the supply of oxygen beneath the ice and snow—and drown.

Although no practical preventive technique has been found, fish and game authorities in areas susceptible to "winterkill" are constantly studying the problem. Snow removal is effective, but costly. Some states are experimenting with air compressors—pumping air beneath the ice to push the warm water at the lake bottom to the top, where it melts the ice allowing the water to absorb oxygen from the atmosphere.

How to give chicks immunity to live

. . . and nutrients to develop to full laying ability

Immunity is developed by feeding Land O'Lakes Chick Starter "20" as the complete ration for the first six weeks. Trithiadol is right in the feed for prevention of coccidiosis. Also, vaccinate at 3 to 4 days in the chicks' drinking water with Cocci Vac. You'll find prevention much less expensive than cure.

Your chicks develop fully so they can be the good layers you paid for when you start them on Land O'Lakes Chick Starter "20". The nutrients your chicks need are properly balanced in this feed.

See us for your Chick Starter "20" and for helpful advice on poultry management right from the start.

Why there is no Apple like a SNOBOY

Soil, sun and temperature work in unique combination in the famed Yakima-Wenatchee Valley of Washington State to produce Snoboy's vivid coloring, extra juiciness, and superb flavor! There Snoboys are selected from the finest orchards.

Every apple has its day—the day when its flavor peak is reached. On that very day, Snoboy field inspectors order the apples picked—and they specify the sun-drenched apples from the top and outside of the finest trees!

Within the hour after picking, Snoboy apples are rushed to cold storage rooms. There, at exactly 31 degrees, the flavor "mature" ... startles change to natural fruit sugars ... and Snoboy inspectors say "Ship!"

Once they're fully matured and ready to ship, Snoboy apples are showered, sorted, wrapped and packed by hand to protect against bruising during shipment ... to guard Snoboy's brilliant flavor!

Snoboy's tree-to-grocer control continues as the apples are rushed in cool, cool trucks to your grocer's. There you get famous Snoboy quality ... the pride for flavor quality!

To enjoy all the eating pleasure Snoboy has worked so hard to protect, do your share: Always keep your Snoboys in the refrigerator until you eat them. They'll be full-flavored and crisp!

120 Entries Received; Other 4-H Contests Are Scheduled Next Week

Fully one-third of the total number of entries of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston is expected to be received by the 4-H encouraging outstanding farm boys and girls to engage in the business of farming. The board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows Friday served notice that all farm boys and girls will not find a place on the Lum. They believe however that a number of boys will be encouraged to purchase baby beef and some of our outstanding Little Lambs to engage in farming.

According to George Cheney of Clitton, Va. by motivation and stock show, the number of entries in the Red River Valley Winter Shows will be much greater than it was in 1959 when 270 entries were received. More Capacity Per Load...

Fewer Trips to the Field-with a
John Deere
824-BUSHEL
"N" Spreader

You can haul up to four tons of manure with the PTO "N" Spreader. This "tough-built" unit takes all the jam and jolts of power spreading at speeds up to 6 mph. The entire frame is reinforced with armored steel braces which prevent sides from bulging and eliminate "sway-back."

The "king-sized" capacity of the "N" lets you make fewer trips to the field. Big-bowed construction makes the "N" Spreader a long-lived machine that will be saving you time and money for many years to come.

Stop in and see it next time you're in town. The John Deere Credit Plan makes it easy to own this fast-working spreader.

TEACHER, I KNOW!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Proverbs	8	9-11
Monday	Job	8	10-11
Tuesday	Ephesians	6	14-15
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	I Thessalonians	3	9-10
Friday	Hebrews	10	35-37
Saturday	Matthew	25	45-46

You can almost hear their voices, and see their eyes sparkle. They have confidence because they have studied their lessons. Questions do not worry them—they know!

Will they be as confident when it comes to the more serious questions of adult life? Those who grow up in the Church and give God His rightful place are building on a firm foundation. In His House they "increase in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." There is no substitute for the Christian precepts and ideals taught by your church.

But what about those who lack this training? Will life seem difficult to them because they lack the confidence which comes from a knowledge of God and His teachings?

Do your children have the advantage of this confidence?

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

An extra 40,000 gallons of water — that's a supply every farmer would like. Such water stores are now a reality on 25 farms in Mille Lacs county according to county agent Clayton Grabow. All have farm pits recently dug in cooperation with SCS and ASC programs in the county. Lyndon Erickson, near Princeton has a pit 95 feet long and 55 feet wide. It holds 14 feet of water which comes from springs.

Terraces can perform facial surgery for scarred-up cropland. Ronald Griffin, Chandler, Minnesota, had four small gullies that resulted from running off from rolling fields. So he went to the Murray county soil conservation district for advice. Bill Oemichen, SCS worker, said a diversion terrace would carry the runoff water to a natural outlet in a pasture. He also advised laying out the rolling cropland in contour strips—which Griffin did. The strips and terrace solved the problem and the scars from the gullies are now healed.

Turn U. S. farm surpluses into foreign aid? Entirely possible, says Willard W. Cochrane, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota. Here's how it might work: Suppose Bolivia wanted to build a highway. The country would plan the job—maybe with UN help—and find workers. The U. S. would provide enough surplus food and clothing for the workers and their families. A U. S. loan would permit the country to buy other needed materials. Cochrane calls such a plan "food for development". The idea is to use surpluses to help underdeveloped countries create productive capital and increase worker productivity.

Contour strips pay off in many ways for Floyd Lee, cooperator in the West Otter Tail soil and water conservation district. He recently told Norman Doehring, SCS worker that strips laid out last spring did more than reduce soil and water losses. Says Lee, "They made operations easier than farming up and down hill, increased my yields and reduced my operating costs as well."

Oakland Park Nursing Home Reports on '59

Red Lake Co. Asks to Quit Membership in Sponsors' Group

The Oakland Park nursing home was filled virtually to its capacity of 65 in 1959, with 63 patients being accommodated at the end of the year, it was revealed in the annual report of J. M. Roche, superintendent, submitted at the annual meeting of the board Thursday afternoon. Of these, 26 were bed patients, 23 ambulatory, and 13, semi-ambulatory.

Nearly half of the patients, 26, were from Pennington county, 12 from Marshall, eight from Roseau, three from Red Lake, nine private cases, two from Beltrami and one each from Koochiching, Itasca and Hennepin county.

Roche reported total receipts for 1959 of $126,521.60, and disbursements of $127,269.76. The four counties sharing in the operation of the home were called upon to pay relatively small amounts toward its maintenance. Pennington county paid $1,674.19; Marshall, $2,577.81; Roseau, $1,389.73; and Red Lake, $882.77.

Red Lake county, which is opening its own nursing home during the coming week, asked the board to permit it to withdraw from its agreement to share in the support of the Oakland Park home. Action on the request was deferred pending a conference between the various county boards involved.

Average cost per patient in 1959 was reported at $2,052.72, while receipts per patient were $1,935.49. In 1958, the average cost was $1,867.97, and receipts per patient were $1,771.34.

Dr. M. D. Starekow spoke at the board's meeting. He discussed the classification of the patients, and urged close cooperation between the various boards and the medical staff. He also commended the institution and its staff for their good service. Mrs. Roy Brown, supervisor, reported on patient care and employe status.

All officers of the four-county board were reelected, including Carl R. Anderson, chairman; Roy Edman of Alvarado, vice chairman; and Omer Houle of Red Lake Falls, secretary.

Some Crop Loans May Be Extended in Reseal Program

Reseal Rate Per Bushel Is Not Yet Established, P. W. Culkins States

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county ASC office, stated today that the state ASC office has released an authorization regarding reseal and extended reseal on certain commodities now under Commodity Credit Corporation farm stored loans.

The authorization permits borrowers to re-extend all extended 1957 crop wheat, to extend all 1958 resealed crop barley and wheat. He pointed out that under the authorization CCC has not as yet established a per bushel reseal rate but that he expected the rates to be determined in a matter of approximately 30 days.

Culkins stated that according to the directive 1958 oats presently under reseal and 1959 loan oats would not be extended or resealed under the present authorization. Information relative to reseal rates will be released immediately after the county office receives definite information from the state ASC office.

Mary Lee Rustad Is Named Finalist

Lincoln Senior Competes for Merit Scholarship

One senior at Lincoln high school has been named a finalist in the 1959-60 competition of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation program and has been awarded a certificate of merit, according to Principal Arnold Larson. Mary Lee Rustad, has received the certificate which attests to her high academic promise.

Mary Lee distinguished herself by her high score on college aptitude tests used in the National Merit Scholarship competition. About one tenth of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the awards. A national total of 10,000 students were honored. Over 550,000 students were tested in the 1959-60 competition which began last April. The test results have pared the competitors down to the 10,000 finalists from which the Merit Scholars will be selected and announced this spring. They, and the colleges they have chosen, will share in the several million dollars in Merit Scholarship funds to be offered by over 110 different organizations and individuals and by the corporation itself. The winners will be announced about April 27.

President in Talk Outlines U. S. Defenses

Reassures Nation Sunday on Eve of South America Trip

President Eisenhower told his fellow Americans Sunday night they can be resolute and unafraid—that the national defense is an indestructible "trustworthy shield of peace."

Mr. Eisenhower spoke out in defense of the defense program in a nationwide radio-TV address on the eve of his departure this morning on a good will mission to four South American countries.

He had some assurances for these nations too. He said he realizes they have many perplexing problems and that he is ready to discuss them on the trip.

The address was a definite though somewhat mild toned reply to a barrage of criticism that has been aimed at the national defense effort. Blasts have come mainly from Democrats, some of them eyeing the White House, in a party fight with election year overtones.

There also have been criticisms from some military officers who have protested against what they called inadequate or misdirected defense policies. Military critics have included active as well as retired officers.

Mr. Eisehower sketched over what the country has in the way of defenses—bombers capable of spreading frightful destruction, nuclear armed ships, missiles.

The force, taken together, he said, is "not subject to elimination by sudden attack."

"We have," he said, "forged a trustworthy shield of peace — an indestructible force of incalculable power, ample for today and constantly developing to meet the needs of tomorrow."

January purchases in Pennington county totaled $39,218 or 17 per cent of the 1960 quota, giving this county 12th place among the state's 87 counties.

Dow-Key Co. Grows Fast

The Dow-Key company started its third year of operations here in December and so has the distinction of being one of the city's youngest industries. It may also be said that it is one of the city's fastest growing industries.

When the company started its operations here a little over two years ago it had 12 employees on the payroll. There now are 25 employees, and for several months this winter the plant has operated 20 hours a day. When the operation was started the factory occupied only a part of the building the company purchased. Now all of the building is being used in the production of Dow products. All of the building's 4,400 square feet of floor space is needed for the additional machines and the longer assembly line required to meet the steadily increasing demand for these products.

The Dow-Key company is unique in that it is not a processor of raw materials produced in this area nor is it dependent on a local market for the sale of the finished products it manufactures. None of the raw materials it processes is a product of this area, and its market is not only national but international. Dow products are shipped regularly

LATEST addition to the precision manufacturing equipment at the Dow-Key company is the automatic lathe which is being discussed by Gordon Dow, center, president of the company, with Don Omdahl, on the left, and Rawlins Houske. The machines automatically completes several steps in the production of small parts of the relays which are the most important products manufactured.

Rose Kraft Is Married To John Schmitz at R. L. Falls

Miss Rose Marlene Kraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kraft of rural Crookston, became the bride of Joseph Schmitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anna Schmitz of Red Lake Falls, Saturday, Jan. 30, at Red Lake Falls.

The double ring ceremony took place at St. Joseph's Catholic church and was officiated by Rev. A. Lemire. The parish choir provided the mass music.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of nylon velvet, fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a high neckline. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Betty Kraft of Crookston, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by another sister, Kathy Kraft, also of Crookston. They were attired in identical dresses of dark green nylon velvet, styled like the bridal gown, only in ballerina length. Accenting their attire was frame hats trimmed with veils and colonial bouquets of red tea roses and white carnations.

Attending the bridegroom was Anthony Schmitz of Red Lake Falls as best man with Bob Yon of Grand Forks serving as groomsman. Ushers were Tom Huot of Red Lake Falls and John Kraft of Fisher, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kraft chose a two-piece gray suit with light blue and black accessories, with the bridegroom's mother in a two-piece dress of navy blue with white and black accessories. Their corsages were of red tea roses. Mrs. Michael Wald of Crookston, grandmother of the bride, and John Schmitz of Red Lake Falls, grandfather of the bridegroom, were special guests.

Approximately 250 relatives and friends attended the reception held in the Community Hall following the ceremony. Karen Kraft, sister of the bride, was at the guest book.

A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with satin wedding bells centered the bridal table. Mrs. William Kraft served the cake while Rita and Angela Kraft, sisters of the bride, served the punch and Mrs. John Kraft poured coffee. Joyce French, Rosalie Boden and Donna Dersler were at the gift table with Marlene Tiedeman, Barbara Majeres, Yvonne Hince, Marlene Wald and Joyce Wald as waitresses.

For going away the bride chose a gray suit with gray and raspberry red accessories and a corsage of red tea roses. Upon their return they will make their home at Grand Forks, where the bridegroom is attending the University of North Dakota.

Mrs. Schmitz is a graduate of Fisher high school and was employed by the Catholic Social Service in Red Lake Falls. The bridegroom graduated from Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls and served two years in the U. S. Army.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Proofs Are Neded When Applying for Benefits

A representative from the Grand Forks district office, of the Social Security Administration, will be in Thief River Falls, at the city Auditorium on Tuesday, March 1, at 10 a.m. He will answer questions about social security and accept claims for benefits.

"Persons applying for social security payments can help speed action on their cases by submitting necessary proofs when applications for benefits are made," Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office, said today. A telephone call to his office before the worker's retirement may save a great deal of processing time by insuring that sufficient evidence will be produced promptly.

In a retirement case, for example, proof of age and recent earnings information is usually requested. If a wife and children are eligible for payment, evidence of their ages and proof of marriage are necessary.

The social security office will evaluate each case and explain what is need and may be able to help locate necessary information. Mr. Kistler added that early inquiry may avoid expense as well as delay since most documents are near at hand or easily obtained. In many cases the office can suggest sources of evidence which are immediately available.

Indonesian Youth Tells Brownies of Native Land

Mochammad Sjachrani or Rani, as he prefers to be called, Foreign Exchange student from Indonesia, was guest speaker at the meeting of Brownie Troop 14 of Knox school last Wednesday afternoon.

Rani had many interesting things to tell the 8 year old girls, having come to the U.S. by plane from Indonesia last July 25. While here he is making his home with the George Mostue family.

There are many animals in Indonesia such as elephants, tigers, crocodiles, monkeys, water buffalo, cows, horses, cats, dogs, also many kinds of snakes and birds. Many of the dangerous animals inhabit Sumatra. For this reason many houses in some areas and villages are built up on stilts. Houses are built of bamboo, wood or brick. Houses and buildings in the cities are similar to those in the United States with the exception that they have no basements.

Food is different in Indonesia. The people eat rice three times a day instead of bread and potatoes, but they also have vegetables, fish, meat, eggs and corn. However, there are no "hot dogs" in Indonesia, Rani says. When he was first offered a "hot dog" in our country Rani thought the meat was from dogs. Since this was clarified, he likes to eat them.

The people use their fingers when they eat, while only the educated person uses a spoon in the right hand and a fork in the left hand. No knife is used at all.

Rani is acquainted with John Sutisma, Foreign Exchange student from Indonesia who attended high school in Thief River Falls two years ago. He said John is attending college and also working. He plans to be a lawyer. Bandung, where John lives, is 100 miles from Rani's hometown.

The Brownies found Rani to be a friendly person with an infectious smile. He endeared himself to each little girl in the troop by personally shaking her hand and asking her name. Through such personable representatives as Rani, it is obvious how the Foreign Exchange Student plan can promote good will and understanding among countries and be a very successful undertaking in uniting nations and peoples of all races.

Employment in State Declines in January

Employment in Minnesota for January was 897,826 according to a report issued by Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, department of employment security. "The January figure reflected a normal seasonal decline of 31,000 workers from the previous month, but was up 2 per cent or 17,243 from a year ago," Starkey said. The major employment losses were in trade, down 15,500 workers, and post office employment, down 904 workers. Other seasonal losses occurred in construction—7,551, transportation—3,356, and manufacturing—2,010.

"Within the transportation industry, the largest seasonal drops were in railroad and Great Lakes shipping employment," Starkey continued. Construction employment is expected to reach the seasonal low in February and then turn upward in March. Industries showing the largest gain over the year were manufacturing 5,119, government 2,428 and service 2,370."

Production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industry earned a new high of $95.67 per week in January exceeding the previous record set last month by $.91. Compared to a year ago, earnings were up $9.29 per week for production workers. The manufacturing work week averaged 40.7 hours for January, up one-tenth of an hour over the previous month and 1.1 hours longer than a year ago.

"January unemployment in Minnesota was 102,300, an increase of 26,600 over the previous month, but 13,270 below the figure recorded for a year ago. The rate of unemployment was 7.7 per cent in January compared with 5.7 per cent in December and 8.7 per cent a year ago," Starkey concluded.

Low Feed Cost Favors State Turkey Grower

Minnesota's national lead in turkey numbers will probably go unchallenged for years to come.

One reason: Turkey feed in the Midwest is at least $10-15 per ton cheaper than in Utah, California or other major western turkey areas.

Elton Johnson, poultry department head at the University of Minnesota, says low feed costs give this state a big competitive edge, since the turkey business operates on close margins.

Cheaper feed here is due to heavy corn and soybean production in the Midwest. These crops cost the Utah or California grower more because of transportation expenses.

As a result, Johnson expects the turkey business here to stay strong and probably get even bigger. Minnesota growers raised 13½ million birds in 1959—more than any other state. California still leads in total pounds, though. Turkeys there are fed to heavier average weights.

With the difference in production costs, Johnson expects Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin to make up the major turkey-surplus area of the future. California for the first time in 1959 was not a turkey exporting state. Growers there couldn't compete with the lighter, cheaper birds from the Midwest.

Johnson also lists other reasons for Minnesota's turkey lead. One is increased know-how among growers, and improved disease control. Better turkeys are being bred. And Minnesota is closer to eastern markets than California.

Although many Minnesota turkeys are lighter (fryer-roaster size) than those farther west, the state's flocks are still nearly 80 per cent heavy breeds. Average live weight of all turkeys sold is about 15 pounds—ranging from a little more than eight pounds for broilers to 24 for heavy toms.

Prices per pound for Minnesota turkeys averaged 24.1 cents in 1958, 22.2 in 1957 and 26.2 in 1956.

Mack's CANDID COMMENT

BY V. M. DRAPER

Excitement doesn't seem to be running very high this election year even though the factors contributing toward an exciting campaign are present, one of the most important of, which is the fact that there is no incumbent president in the contest for president and the race will be wide open.

There has been a small flurry between Humphrey and Kennedy so far but I'd feel safe in saying neither of these will get the nod. In the opposition camp Nixon literally has a stranglehold on the nomination, which will undoubtedly redound to the disadvantage of the GOP. In short, I'm saying (and going way out on a limb to do so) that a dark-horse democrat will move into the White House next January.

—O—

This is my first go as a political prognosticator and I could be as wrong as a weasel in a chicken coop—but if I am wrong I won't feel badly as even those who are called experts in the political guessing game have often strayed way out in left field. Remember '48?

—O—

It is unfortunate that the presidential election often takes the voters minds off the kind of men they choose to represent them in congress. The effects of congressional action are much more far-reaching in our daily lives than that of the executive branch, particularly in money matters.

An aspirant for congressional office can easily win a majority merely by promising to do a more efficient job of spending more and more taxpayers' money. One is inclined to think practically every lobbyist in Washington is an advocate of more government spending and busier printing presses—the kind that turns out cheap dollars. They would tax our economic structure to the breaking point to the advantage of world Communism.

—O—

The government has no money it doesn't take from us first. Of every dollar we send to Washington a high percentage is spent in administration and distribution. By the time it gets back to the source there's only small change left. No one benefits from more government spending like the bureaucrats. They distribute the loot— and what a stick-fingered, self-perpetuating bunch they are!

—O—

We lose more than money in our grandiose government aid schemes, However; when the government aids business, industry, education or others it also sets the terms thereof. If we dance we're bound to meet the fiddler's terms, and our freedom has been slipping away at an alarming rate, due to government intervention in our affairs as a result of various "aid" programs.

Last, but not least, federal aid programs cost us far more because so much of the money allocated to them is spent filtering down to the actual project. If money for such projects were raised and spent locally there would be far less soaking of the taxpayers. No matter what the government does, you and I pay for it. When the congressman and lobbyist work together to push through spending programs they look to the poor, numb taxpayer—you and me for financing.

—O—

Up here we scream and moan about a picayunish personal property tax and a fair-size real estate tax. But, because of painless withholding taxes, we don't scream our heads off even though a man making $5000 a year with four exemptions has to pay far more income tax on his hard-earned wages than he does for personal property and real estate taxes combined. Add to that the excise tax on his telephone, the tax on a gallon gas, tax, the liquor tax, amusement and various others, it's easy to see local taxes are but a drop in the bucket to federal taxes.

—O—

To the so-called liberal congressman and the lobbyist all this tax money is an invitation to figure out more and better ways to spend it, to their mutual benefit. The biggest government aid program I can think of right now would be a program that lets us keep more money at home for our own personal use or for financing local (state, county and city) improvement programs. It costs too much out of every dollar to send it to Washington before we get a crack at it.

It doesn't take a genius to figure this out. But, so long as we have lobbyists and pressure groups playing one group of citizens against the others; so long as there are selfish groups of citizens who condone such people and their aims and activities and so long as we have politically ambitious men who will play ball with these selfish interests in order to get elected, we taxpayers will be bled.

—O—

So, before going to the polls next November it might be well if each of us examined the candidates closely and ask of each man, "Are you for better government or merely more spending?" There is a vast difference, you know!

Noculized Alfalfa Seed Is Available Here This Spring

Alfalfa seed that's inoculated by a revolutionary new process will be available here for spring planting, announced Carl Gjernes, manager of Osborne-McMillan Elevator Co.

Called Noculized seed, it's already inoculated and ready to plant when you receive it. Introduced for the first time last year, the new process actually forces selected strains of live, nitrogen-fixing bacteria inside the seed. There they remain alive for months, ready to boost plant and soil productivity after planting.

The new process completely eliminates on the farm inoculation of alfalfa. The seed flows through the planter smoothly and evenly without clogging. Noculized seed looks just like untreated seed, yet gives far better results.

808 Deer, 110 Moose Are Tallied at Mud Lake Refuge Feb. 12

Annual Census Reveals Increase In Population, Says Herb Dill, Manager

The annual inventory of big game animals was taken at the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge February 11-12, according to Herb Dill, refuge manager. Pilot-biologist Art Brazda and assistant Refuge Manager Marv Mansfield did the counting from the air.

Eight hundred and eight deer and 110 moose were counted. The following table shows results of the counts since 1948. (Moose were not counted until 1950.)

Year	Deer	Moose
1948	897	—
1950	850	17
1952	844	70
1954	645	85
1956	637	130
1958	325	97
1960	808	110
Average	723	72

The refuge moose tally was the second highest since counts were started in 1948. Reports from outlying areas state that the trend of the moose population is up.

The physical condition of the animals counted appeared excellent, Dill stated. Conditions for counting were good. The extent of snow cover plays an important part in making a complete deer count. Moose, being larger and darker are not as easily missed.

ASSEMBLY of the components of Dow-Key company relays takes place at this workbench, of which only a part appears in the picture. From right to left, Elizabeth Eddins uses an air powered screwdriver to fasten units together, Ione Vraa fastens cover plates to relay bodies, Edwin Senum tests and adjusts electrical circuits, Sharon Torkelson uses a press to fasten components together and Jean Wiseth, partly obscured on the other side of the bench, assembles parts. In the left background are Leon Iverson, left, and Lowell Swenson, general manager of the company.

PRODUCTION of the four Dow-Key company relays requires the manufacturing of as many as 50 individual parts, many of them as accurate as one-one thousandth of an inch. Allan Iverson, left, grinds armature cores, Leonard Wik, second from left, is drilling and tapping the cast aluminum relay bodies; Dale Bernard, second from right, completes another step on the relay bodies and Wayne Olson, right, drills armature components.

WINDING the coils used in Dow Key company relays is the job of Ann Nygaard, shown here as she worked on the machine, which winds hair fine wire on cores much as thread is wound on sewing machine bobbins. A total of 18,000 turns of the extremely fine wire are necessary for each of the components.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

I have been watching the price of eggs in the paper for some time, and it is a disgrace the price the farmers receive for grade A No. 1 eggs these while up here on the range we give 45 cents a dozen for No. 2 eggs, when the market price in the Times is 20 cents a dozen. These sure is something wrong with our distribution system. If the farmer received his fair share of the market price he should be receiving 40c a dozen at least for grade A No. 1 eggs.

Dow-Key Co. Expanding Here at Steady Pace

to many countries of Europe, South America and South Africa. In the United States and Canada Dow products are sold by more than 700 distributors who are called on regularly by 13 factory representatives, and the number of distributors is steadily increasing. From 10 to 15 new distributor accounts are being added each month.

By far the biggest selling item of the seven that are manufactured by the company is a coaxial antenna changeover relay, and we do not know what that means, either. These relays are being manufactured in four models, the most complicated being an assembly of 50 parts, all but five of which are produced in the local plant. The principal function of this gadget is to alternate the antenna as a transmitter and a receiver in two-way radio communication, but it has many other uses and now is finding a new market in television broadcast production equipment.

In a normal operation about 150 of these relays are manufactured each day but under pressure, production can be stepped up to 400 a day. Special machines grind out the various parts, some of them requiring the accuracy of one one-thousandth of an inch, and skilled hands put them together on the assembly line. It is an interesting operation.

The company was started by Paul Dow of Winnipeg. He came up as a telegrapher by vocation and as an amateur radio builder and operator by avocation. In 1951 he established a plant at Warren to manufacture a telegraph sending set which he had developed and for which he found a good market. His interest in radio led to the development of the relay that now is the company's principal product. The telegraph key that gave the company its name is no longer in production. Paul Dow died three years ago and his son, Gordon Dow, took over and now heads the company.

Gordon Dow had visions of an expanded market and started looking around for better manufacturing facilities. Jobs Incorporated of this city apparently did a good job of selling him on Thief River Falls and helped him find a suitable location. In December of 1957 the operation got under way in its new home southeast of the city on Highway 59. Mr. Dow states that an important consideration in the decision to locate here was the better shipping facilities that would be available to him both by rail and by air.

Many rush orders are received and the fast delivery service of air-parcel post has been helpful in meeting the requirements of emergency needs. Rush orders were recently received from the University of California and by the Naval air base at San Diego. The Swedish government asked for speedy delivery on relays to be used in the light house service and required a special fungus resistant varnish. Such orders are no longer unusual.

About the only market the company had during the first years of relay manufacture were amateur radio operators. This is still an important market, Mr. Dow states, but the significant expansion has been in the commercial field where new uses for the relays and related products are being found. One national manufacturer of lightning arresters is using a Dow Company coaxial connector.

The assemblies that are manufactured here have patented parts and Mr. Dow attributes the good acceptance of their relay to a patented connector that does give a radio receiver greater protection from surges of radio frequency that might be damaging.

Mr. Dow does not have a school background or technical training in the field of his operations but he somehow has acquired the good judgment of a capable executive. Recognizing his own shortcomings, he is bringing into the organization men who are capable of contributing what he feels he lacks.

Working with the company as a consulting engineer is Paul Schiebe of the School of Electrical Engineering at the University of North Dakota, who will soon have his doctor's degree. Under his direction the company is constantly working on refinements and another patent is now being applied for.

At the management level is Lowell Swenson, who joined the company last September and who brings with him valuable experience as a certified public accountant. He started with the Arthur Anderson Co. of Minneapolis and before coming here was associated with Homer Matheson, formerly of this city and now of Grand Forks. Mr. Swenson is now general manager of the company.

Asked where he now fits into the organization, Mr. Dow answered that he is well satisfied being president, and he is doing what he likes most to do, directing sales and the development of new products. This is a big field. As an example of the extent of the opportunities for new development he points to the need for relays that will meet the special requirements of airborne equipment. The company's present products are for land based installations and there is a pressing need for special equipment that will function satisfactorily at high altitudes and under extreme temperatures.

The Dow Key Company is one of the city's youngest industries; it is one of the city's fastest-growing industries; and it certainly is one of the city's most interesting industries. It is another industry that contributes to the stability of our area.

Sloan Rink, Winnipeg, Whips Mattick Rink to Win Bonspiel Here

In a dramatic first event finals match, Archie Sloan's rink of the Strathcona club in Winnipeg defeated the Al Mattick rink, also of Winnipeg's Strathcona club, 10 to 9, to climax the fourth annual States Dominion bonspiel held here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Coming home in the tenth end of first event finals, the two rinks were tied at 9-all, with Mattick having the advantage of the last rock. The ice was kept "open" until the skip rocks. Mattick, on his first rock, put a "biter" on the 12 foot at three o'clock. Sloan after consultations with his rink mates — Ken Meiklejohn, Brian Buffie, and Jerry Saunders — sent a draw shot that carried to the 10-foot at twelve o'clock, and was lying shot. Mattick, on the final shot of the match, was wide with his take out coasted through the house and gave Sloan the win.

Enroute to the first event honors, Sloan defeated the local club's Dave Sorvik rink in a first round match, defeated Justus Larson in a second round match, side lined Winnipeg's Percy Stapely in a third round match, and then bested Winnipeg's Eason Miller rink in the semi finals. To reach the finals against Sloan, the Mattick rink defeated Steve Larson of Fargo in a first round match, scored a win over Grafton's Henry Monson in the second round, defeated the highly regard local club's Lyle Liden rink in a third round match, and defeated Winnipeg's Jim Doyl rink in the semi-finals.

In the second event competition, the Glenn Bruce rink of Park River, N. Dak. defeated Winnipeg's Granite club's Frank Canellia rink, 11 to 7, in the finals. The Bruce rink — with Glenn Bruce as skip, Ernest Capauch at third, John Ferguson at second, and Orville Pederson at lead — trailed by a 6 to 5 score after six ends of play. The Dakotans picked up a pair on the seventh end and added two more on the eighth end to take a 9 to 6 lead.

Canellia scored a single on the ninth end; and on the tenth end, when skip Watson's final rock on a double take out try, slid through the house, the Bruce rink won the match. In their match play, after losing their opening match to the local club's Hans Newman rink, the Bruce squad defeated G. Hutchinson of Winnipeg, Leo Nelson and Ed DeLap of the local club to enter the event finals against Canellia.

Canellia, who lost his first round match to James Muzzy, moved through the second event play by defeating the Jim Maisey, Jay Chasonoff, and Al Coopman rinks, all of Winnipeg, before losing to Bruce.

In the third event competition, the Henry Munson rink of Grafton on a coin toss was declared the winner over the G. Hutchinson rink of Winnipeg. The two rinks, after defeating their semi-finals opponents in a matches that were concluded at six o'clock, decided to determine the event honors on a coin toss in order that the two rinks could leave for home at an early hour. The Munson rink — skipped by Orv Gilleshammer (the skip of North Dakota's state champion ship rink), and with Bill DuPuy at third, Munson at second, and Don LaBonte at lead — won the toss.

The line scores of the first and second events:

Sloan	021	026	021	1—10
Mattick	200	302	100	0—9
Bruce	020	120	220	2—11

Prowler Six to Enter State Meet

Defeating the Baudette Bears, 5 to 0, in a first round game on Thursday night, and scoring a 4 to 1 win over an upset-minded Warroad Warriors squad on Friday night, coach Gene Sacks' Prowlers won the Region Eight hockey championship in the tournament that was played on Thursday and Friday.

The Prowlers will be carrying the prestige of Region Eight hockey as they enter the state high school hockey tournament at St. Paul this week. On Thursday afternoon, with the face-off at 3:00 P.M., the Prowlers will be meeting a highly-rated South St. Paul sextet in a first round game.

In Friday night's regional championship finals, the Prowlers moved into a 1 to 0 lead at the 4:19 mark of the first period when Larry Poole, from six feet out, fired a shot past goalie Jerry Lindsay and into the west cage. The locals moved ahead by two goals when, at the 9:20 mark of the second period, the ever-hustling Eddie Holmes from the face-off circle to the right of the east goal, whipped a backhand shot that dented the net.

The Prowlers scored a pair of goals in the third period to take a 4 to 0 lead. Arlan Hjelle, with Holmes assisting, came in for a "picture" goal, feinting goalie Lindsay out of position and flipping the disc into the west goal. At the 10:44 mark, following a face-off, Jim Wegge, with Wes Halvorson and Poole assisting, tallied the Prowlers' final marker.

The Warriors averted a shutout when, with 31 seconds to play, Rollie Huerd, picking up a loose puck in the Prowlers' zone, banged a shot that caromed off Wayne Halvorson's pads and into the net.

The Thursday night semi-finals tilts were featured by the remarkable goal-tending of Bob Sinclair of Baudette and Jerry Lindsay of Warroad.

In the first game on the program, the Prowlers, after being held scoreless in the first period, and driving sixteen shots at Sinclair, finally battered down the Baudette defense to tally three goals in the second period, and add two goals in the third period to mark up a 5 to 0 win. Arlan Hjelle, Wes Halvorson, and Dale Wennberg were the goal-getters in the second period; while Jerry Larson and Wennberg notched the third period markers.

In the second game on Thursday night, the Warroad Warriors, checking closely and hustling all over the ice, ambushed the defending regional and state champion Roseau Rams and scored a major upset, winning by a 1 to 0 score. The Rams tested the reflexes of Warroad's Lindsay a numerous occasions, having ten shots on goal in the first period, fourteen in the second, and seven in the third; but the Warrior net-minder refused to yield. Rollie Huerd tallied the game's only score when he beat goalie Dick Roth at the 8:33 mark of the second period.

Quite a Campaign

That's quite a campaign that coach Gene Sack and his hockey Prowlers are bringing to a close this week as they play in the state high school hockey tournament in St. Paul. There weren't many fans who, when they left the Arena here last December 15th after the Prowlers had dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the Grand Forks Redskins, would have ventured the guess that the Prowlers would be playing in the state tournament in February, and would be boasting of an undefeated record in Minnesota competition. But that's the way it is.

When the Prowlers defeated the Warroad Warriors, 4 to 1, in the regional finals on Friday night, it marked the sixth time in the sixteen years of Region Eight tournament play that the Prowlers had won the regional championship.

When Warroad surprised the Roseau Rams on Thursday night by scoring what must be regarded as the season's upset as they sidelined coach Oscar Almquist's club, 1 to 0, much of the drama of the regional finals was removed. It had been generally conceded that the regional finals would find the Prowlers and Roseau engaging in a hockey classic. In the two games played between the Rams and the Prowlers during the season, the two clubs had engaged in eighty minutes of top-flight hockey, and goal total found the Prowlers holding a 5 to 4 edge. But Warroad's hustle and heads-up play, and a goal by Rollie Huerd, dethroned the Roseau Rams.

While the Warroad Warriors and their coach, Gordon Genz, are entitled to much credit for their remarkable performance in scoring that win over the Rams, it is quite generally agreed that Roseau is the better team. Tournament play is a great evener, and the fact that Roseau was "pointing" for the finals against the Prowlers, were factors that gave the Warriors the opportunity to set up their ambush.

And, too, it is probable that the twelve-minute periods of the tournament schedule was a factor working in behalf of the Warriors. The longer the periods the more opportunity there is for the stronger team to score. Those twelve-minute period restrictions have been placed in the rules as a concession to the Twin City schools. While the "Twin" City area has made vast progress in the caliber of hockey they exhibit, it is a fact that the northern teams have the better skaters. It is a case of manpower vs skating ability, and with the games carrying twelve-minute periods, the bigger and slower teams are being given an assist.

The Prowlers, leaving town on Tuesday, will be headquartered at the Lowry hotel, as will the other state tournament teams.

Buy a Button

The senior class of Lincoln high school is conducting an identification button sale, with the proceeds being used to defray the costs of the printing of the Prowler year book.

With the state hockey tournament on this week's agenda, and with the district and regional basketball tournament being but a couple of weeks away, it would be a wise investment for the fans to purchase these buttons. These buttons, at fifty cents apiece, can be purchased from the following business places in town: Mayes Standard Service, The Pharmacy, Bjorkman's, and the Farmers Union service station.

Why not buy a couple of these identification buttons?

They Are Deserving

While most of the coffee bar conversation is being monopolized by hockey talk we shouldn't forget that the basketball Prowlers will be in action on Tuesday night, meeting the Fertile Falcons here. The game will mark the farewell appearance, on the local court, for such Prowlers as Ronnie Solheim, Bob Pearson, Steve Embury, Darrel Nelson, and Dave Hauswirth.

These five boys have utilized their abilities to the utmost and have given coach Bartley Story 100 per cent in effort. As they make their final bow before the home fans, they are deserving of cheers and the best wishes of the fans. We hope that the gymnasium is well-filled for Tuesday night's game.

A Powerhouse

That was quite a gathering of hockey talent that Crookston's Bud Salem brought over here for the senior hockey game with the Thieves. The Pirates had Lyle Brekken in goal, Jerry Nelson, Dave Bang, Tom Fenno and Ron Geatz on defense; and Dave Hendrickson, Stan Paschke, Ken Wellen, Jerry Wentz, Tony Schmitz, Bob Caouette, Ed Derosier, and Mark Lallberte at forward.

The Pirates scored a 15 to 6 win over the Thieves in the game which was played on the Arena rink here Saturday night. The Pirates are making preparations for entry into the state amateur tournament and that was the reason for such boys as Wellen, Geatz, Wentz and Paschke in the Crookston lineup.

GOOD HOPE FU LOCAL TO MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

EGF Quint Trims Prowlers 50-36

An erratic and jittery brand of basketball in the second half proved costly to the Prowlers on Friday night as they dropped a 50 to 36 decision to the East Grand Forks Little Wave in a district and Northwest conference game played at East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers will conclude their home schedule on Tuesday night, Feb. 23 when they meet the Fertile Falcons of district 30 on the Lincoln high school court. On Friday night, Feb. 26, the 1959-60 schedule will be closed out when the Prowlers travel to Warren for a game against coach Irv St. John's Ponies.

After playing a creditable brand of ball during the first half at East Grand Forks Friday night, during which they held an 11 to 6 first period advantage and a 19 to 18 lead at the intermission, the Prowlers appeared to wilt under the pressure of the East Siders' attack and gave up 15 points to the East Grand Forks "Wavers" to trail 33 to 26 entering the final period. Joel Cleveland, the biggest Little Wave in the East Siders' lineup, looped in their field goals in the third period, two of the fielders being swishers from the left corner of the court.

An 11 point cluster early in the fourth period moved the game beyond the reach of the ever-trying Prowlers. With the score at 33 to 28 for East Grand Forks, a Green Wave scoring splurge that found Bob Raymond, Cleveland, Gary Vigen and Pat Sullivan scoring field goals boosted the East Siders lead to 46 to 28.

In the final minutes of play Bob Pearson who led the Prowler scorers with 12 points and Steve Embury scored field goals to pare the East Grand Forks margin to 14 points, 50 to 36.

The Prowlers were again without the services of their towering center, Ron Hanson, who has missed the last three games because of illness. Ron is expected to attend school today but it is doubtful if he will be available for much action in Tuesday night's tilt.

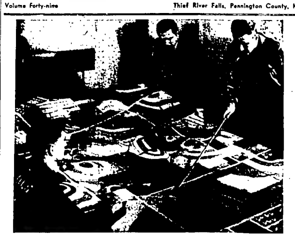
Well Water Often Found Dangerous

Danger in Suburban Districts Is Cited



Suburban residents whose individual well water supplies have been found to contain nitrates or detergents should not expect to find a shortcut to providing a safe water supply, the state department of health advises.

"With hundreds of private water supplies showing evidence of contamination by sewage," explains F. L. Woodward, director of the department's division of environmental sanitation, "it is natural that someone would take advantage of the situation by proposing the installation of a device to purify the water. We have had several inquiries regarding claims for various gadgets purported to remove sewage chemicals from water on an individual basis.

"We do not know of any way of removing nitrates or detergents from water economically," Mr. Woodward continues, "and anyone considering the installation of any device for this purpose should consult our office for advice before investing in something that will not accomplish the desired results."

Health department tests have turned up nitrate contamination in many private water supplies in the Twin City area. This demonstrates that sewage from septic tanks and cesspools is draining directly into formations from which water is drawn for domestic use. This problem is entirely different from that which exists in some areas of the state, particularly in the southwest, where high concentrations of nitrate may occur naturally in the soil.

HOW TO MAKE running water walk is demonstrated by this model of a miniature watershed which will be displayed at Crookston starting today at a four day Water Resources forum at Northwest School and Station.

Provided by the Allis Chalmers Mfg. Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., the scale model represents a small watershed about two square miles in area. It illustrates what can be done in the way of soil and water conservation under the U. S. Department of Agriculture's "Small Watershed" program for upstream water conservation and flood preventin.

Here a USDA soil conservation service technician points out key aspects of the model to a farm boy and a banker, representative of the many groups who work together in this program. His pointer indicates a drop inlet dam, one of the structures built in the water management phase of this program.

Payments Now Due for Jobless Fund

Employers Reminded by Commr. Starkey

Minnesota employers have until March 2, 1960 to reimburse the unemployment compensation fund for benefits charged against their accounts in order to receive a possible reduction in their tax rate for the calendar year 1960, Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, Minnesota department of employment security, pointed out today.

Contribution rate notices for the calendar year 1960 were mailed by the department February 1 to more than 41,000 liable employers, Starkey said, with about 38,000 assigned rates based on the amount of unemployment compensation paid to their former employes. The rates range from a minimum of three tenths of one per cent to a maximum of 2.70 per cent.

"Those eligible employers assigned rates above the minimum three tenths of one per cent, and who desire to do so are permitted under the law to reimburse the department for all or a portion of the unemployment benefits charged against their accounts and thereby receive a reduction in their tax rate," Starkey said. "Such reimbursement must be made on or before March 2."

Home Accidents on Increase in State

Minnesota Reports 487 Fatal Mishaps in 1959

Accidents in Minnesota homes are on the increase.

Last year 487 Minnesota residents died as a result of accidents in their homes — an increase of 65 home fatalities over the year before, according to provisional figures from the Minnesota Department of Health.

The home ranks second to the highway as the scene of accidents.

In addition to the deaths, accidents in Minnesota homes in 1959 caused injuries to close to 50,000 people—or the equivalent of nearly half the population of Duluth.

Falls are still the number one cause of fatal home accidents, especially among the 65-year and older group, according to Glenn Prickett, extension safety specialist at the University of Minnesota. Last year 224 deaths resulted from falls in the home, as compared to 197 in 1958—an increase of 27.

Fires, explosions and burns rank second as a cause of home accidents. Ninety-six Minnesotans died from these causes last year—10 more than in 1958. Poisons and firearms stand next on the list of causes of deaths. Poisons killed 35 people; discharge of firearms killed 24 in Minnesota homes last year.

The responsibility of lowering the accident toll in Minnesota homes lies with every family member, Prickett said. He urged that families make a special effort to remove hazards to make their homes safer in 1960.

SPEAKER "The Next Decade in Agriculture for North America" will be the subject of Dr. Sol Sinclair's address at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, Wednesday evening, February 24, in the Central high school auditorium, at 8:00 o'clock. The meeting is open to the public and there is no admission charge. Dr. Sinclair is head of the department of agricultural economics and farm management at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg.

Lake Bronson to Be Site of Modern Bowling Alleys

Lake Bronson will have modern bowling lanes within a few months. Construction of a 50 x 110 fireproof building will start as soon as weather conditions permit.

The new place of business will be officially known as the Community Bowling Lanes and will be completely air conditioned during the summer and steam heated during the winter, and will be equipped with automatic pin-spotters. The structure will be large enough to provide room for eight lanes.

Prime movers in the project include members of the Lake Bronson C. and C. and other citizens in the community.

"He who floats with the current, who does not guide himself according to higher principles, who has no ideal, no convictions — such a man is a mere article of the world's furniture — an echo, not a voice. The man who has no inner life is the slave of his surroundings, as the barometer is the obedient servant of the air at rest, and the weathercock the humble servant of the air in motion."

Henri Frederic Amiel

Bon Voyage

Our country's No. 1 good will ambassador is off on another visit to foreign lands where he will discuss our common problem of maintaining world peace and raising the living standards of people in all parts of the world. While on this journey he will visit only a few South American countries, and make comparatively few speeches, the South American audiences that he does address will serve as a sounding board for all South American peoples and for all of the free nations of the world. Bon voyage, Mr. President, and may your mission of peace be fruitful.

The Cuba of Castro

Fidel Castro is not Cuba's first dictator and probably will not be the last. During his year of authority his record has not been impressive. He apparently has not restored order in the country and neither private nor public activities are being conducted in a normal way. Our guess, therefore, is that Castro will be remembered as a flame that flashed brightly but was quickly extinguished.

Our government has been patient in dealing with Castro, and maybe that patience will be rewarded. The Cuban leader may not be Communist but he very definitely is anti-American. This anti-Americanism probably will be more harmful to him than to us, and may help to speed his downfall.

Our government's patience, under extremely trying circumstances, is generally attributed to the desire of the administration to avoid any incidents that might be disturbing in other Latin American countries, in some of which the Communists are well established. And this probably is reason enough. But we can see no reason for continued economic support for the Cubans, or any other government that is openly antagonistic to us. Castro is a problem for the Cubans to take care of, but until he is replaced by a government with which we can enjoy friendly relations, better we direct our business elsewhere, and especially our charity.

"Teaching Sophistry"

The National Education Association has issued a pamphlet in which it provides the answers to nine questions the supporters of Federal aid to education may be asked as they discuss the problem with folks who may doubt the wisdom of extending the activities of the federal government to this field.

This pamphlet assures us that there is no need to be concerned about our national debt. "Our national debt is high," it admits, "but it has decreased sharply in relation to our national assets."

The Wall Street Journal takes exception to this statement and accuses the educators of "teaching sophistry," a polite way of saying that they are not telling the truth. Says the Journal in comment on the N.E.A. answer to this question:

"Now that is simply not so. Our national debt has not decreased at all; it is larger than it ever was, increasing year by year. It now stands at around $290 billion.

"And what, pray, is the yardstick the N.E.A. uses for our "national assets" to show that they have outpaced the growth of the national debt? The "gross national product" is the yardstick.

"But the gross national product includes Federal spending for both products and services—armed servicemen, Government employe salaries, defense missiles, highways, welfare, foreign aid, all subsidies—as well as production of goods and services by the private economy. Most of this increased Federal spending has not added to the nation's assets but to its liabilities.

"To follow the illogic of the N.E.A. a bit further, it's clear that if the Federal government does begin to spend billions on billions of dollars on education—the N.E.A. says Uncle Sam will have to put up at least $15 billion to "save" our education—the G.N.P. will reach even higher levels and will (for the time being) increase even more in proportion to the Federal debt.

"But for the time being only; for what the Government spends must be paid for either in higher taxes, further debt or inflated banknotes."

The Journal points up another answer that it considers to be a greater "sophistry." Why should we be concerned, asks the N.E.A., when, "In 1948, the Federal debt was seven times the revenue of the Federal government; in 1958 it was only four times the revenue." This makes it sound like our debt had decreased and that we therefore should not hesitate about borrowing a little more. The fact, as the statement admits, according to The Journal, is that government revenue, mainly the dollars that are extracted from us in the form of taxes, have already greatly increased, and federal aid to education will make it necessary to increase government taxes still more.

In conclusion, the Journal states:

"It hardly seems helpful to the school children the N.E.A. is so anxious to aid to saddle them with increasing debt. And while we don't believe for a moment that the states and local communities will not provide education the people require, it is certainly true that if the Federal government takes over that means a greater Federal debt or more taxes for future generations to pay. And all the sophistry the N.E.A. commands cannot erase that fact from any teacher's blackboard."

Number Four

There now are [illegible] nations in the world that may be classified as nuclear powers, and there is speculation that there soon being a fifth. [illegible] de Gaulle has ignored the wishes of [illegible] Western partners and has exploded France into a [illegible] club. [illegible] Russia may [illegible] to prove that it [illegible] reached [illegible]. After five comes six, and after six comes seven, [illegible].

We can see no particular reason why de Gaulle should not have exploded his atom bomb, which is said to have been a primitive device by present standard. We like the hopeful attitude expressed by the Manchester Guardian of England, that the achievement may make it easier for the French President to be agreeable from now on. "France may not be more powerful now than she was a week ago," suggests the Guardian, "but she feels so, and feelings can count as much as facts." The Guardian concludes:

"Most Frenchmen will believe that, thanks to her bomb, France can hold her head higher in the world. This is of great significance. Anything that gives Frenchmen greater pride in their country and therefore greater confidence in their government, in turn gives their government greater strength in the world. It is not the bomb itself which may serve to strengthen France but the fact that the bomb probably strengthened President de Gaulle's control over France."

The Guardian refers to de Gaulle's record up to this time as having been uncompromising, and thinks this may have been due to his promise, when he was given power, that he would make France a first class nation. Now that he has restored the nation to a position of equality, or at least given millions of Frenchmen the impression that he has, the Guardian believes he will be more willing to make concessions.

That may be wishful thinking but it at least has the ring of plausibility to recommend it.

Merit Rating

Across the line in Canada good people are concerned about their schools, as are good people on this side of the line. In Canada, as in our country, there seems to be general agreement that one way to get better schools is to obtain better teachers. But there, as here, there seems to be differences of opinion among the authorities as to how to get better teachers.

In the Province of Manitoba something at least is being attempted, and the Winnipeg Tribune is happy because officials are trying to find a way to measure teaching merit in order that better teaching may be encouraged by special rewards. Says the Tribune:

"It is welcome news that the provincial government has at last begun a small move toward a system of merit rating for Manitoba school teachers.

"Education Minister Stewart McLean has announced that an experimental merit rating plan will be set up in one division.

"This is progress but it falls far short of what the Royal Commission on Education recommended in its interim report more than a year ago.

"The Royal Commission made merit rating a vital part of its incentive system for the improvement of Manitoba education. There were incentive grants to promote the formation of divisions and the hiring of better qualified teachers. The incentive for better teaching was to be the fact that pay increases would be based on merit.

"Of course, there are difficulties in any merit rating system. One of them in Manitoba is that school principals who would have to take part in the rating are members of the same bargaining group as the teachers—the Manitoba Teachers Society. Beyond this there are problems in arriving at an objective judgment of a teacher's performance in the classroom.

"But the government seems to have seen the difficulties more clearly than the advantages of merit rating. As indicated by an article which appeared on this page on Monday, a merit rating plan is not just a scheme to get more work out of the teachers. It raises the standards and standing of the teaching profession by recognizing good teaching."

As we see it, the fairest and most effective way to test teachers would be to test the pupils and students who have attended their classes. That would give the school officials a double check. They would be able to determine more accurately whether each individual student had made sufficient progress to justify promotion to more advanced work. And by considering class averages in such final examinations the school officials would soon know which teachers were getting the best results.

This could be accomplished simply by reinstating the old system of state board examinations that once were so unpopular among both teachers & students. They were unpopular because they forced both teachers & students to extra effort. The state board exams were looked forward to with a great deal of apprehension by both teachers and students because such exams were a fairly dependable check on how much had been accomplished in the course of the school year.

If we are sincere in our efforts to encourage better teachers then we must find a way of measuring teaching merit and state board examinations provide such a way. The alternative to the recognition of merit is the reward of mediocrity, and in our schools in recent years, mediocrity has been receiving too many rewards.

HERE'S A CONVERSATION STARTER: Taxes, hidden and direct, now take about one-third of the average individual's income. Every man is, in a real sense, a civil servant. The average man works 12.5 hours of his 40-hour week for the federal government alone.

UPCOMING ARE TWO automobile products to watch for: One is a tire from Italy with replaceable treads and it's estimated the tire casings should outlast at least two sets of treads. The other is an oil company's device that'll eliminate fumes from car exhaust pipes. The latter is expected to bring pressure from some states with large metropolitan areas to make the device mandatory.

FOR YOUR FESTIVE log fires this winter, try soaking pine cones in a quart of water, plus a cup of baking soda. Allow to dry and the cones will make the fire burn a beautiful gold color . . . The reason we christen new ships with champagne over the bow is because of a survival of the ancient custom of dedicating a vessel to one of the protecting gods. As a rule, each vessel of the ancients bore the image of one of these deities, and it was consecrated to him by offering the god a libation of wine.

BENEFICIATION is a new word in my vocabulary. This is the word mining men use when they talk about improving ore. In Minnesota, BENEFICIATION is a mighty important word, because most of our iron ore wouldn't be used if it were not "beneficiated". There are more than 80 beneficiation plants on our Iron Ranges—all working to improve Minnesota's iron ore so that it can be sold. Minnesota's future growth in iron mining depends on these plants and the extent to which new plants can be built.

Pamphlet Tells About GI Pensions

To Be Mailed to Pension Recipents about March 1

Veterans and their dependents now receiving pension payments from the Veterans Administration will receive a special pamphlet and a card on which they may make a choice in the envelope with their next pension check, John R Parrish manager of the Fargo VA Center, said today

The check, pamphlet and card will be received in the mail on or about March 1, he added

The pamphlet supplies full information on both the present and the new pension laws so that the pension recipient will be able to make a choice between the two plans

Parrish pointed out that there was no hurry about making the choice and that the pensioner could continue under the present pension law as long as he or she were eligible Once a pensioner chooses to come under the new law, however, there is no return to the provisions of the present law.

The pamphlet, in addition to explaining the advantages or disadvantages that may affect individual pensioners under both laws, also gives clear instructions for filling out the enclosed card by which choice of the new pension law may be made.

The new pension law goes into effect July 1, 1960, and the card must be received by VA on or before that date for the new rate to go into effect that date. If the card is received by VA after that date, the new rate will be effective as of the date the card is received, Mr. Parrish said.

The Library Corner

by Eleanor Olson

Just like Uncle Ned when I hung up my shovel and hoe last fall I didn't really care whether I ever took them down again. The summer's gardening consisted of so much heavy work that had come to spell drudgery and the cold dreary fall devoid of warm golden days had made tulip planting a monumental task But now the sun is coming back the carrots in the basement bin are sprouting and the house plants have burst into bloom All signs point to spring coming again this year and at our house gardening season has already started.

February to gardeners is a busy, busy month with catalogs to study and planning to do Out comes the map of the yard and my husband and I spend these February nights working on our over all landscape plan An impossible task for rank amateurs like us if it weren't for the marvelous "guide" books at the Library There are the unusual encyclopedic ones that list individual plants and the requirements for soil and location, but more interesting still for beginners are the books that put gardening on a calendar basis with a step-by-step schedule that simplifies the whole mysterious business

George Luxton's new book, "Flower Growing in the North," is such a book. The advice is fairly general and perhaps is more helpful to the experienced gardener who knows what to expect from the seeds he puts in the ground. For the truly inexperienced one who can easily (and often does) pull newly sprouted seeds for weeds, a tiny primer called "The Northern Gardener," by Daisy T. Abbot, just fills the bill. Charts at the back divide flowers into annuals and perennials These in turn are described for height, color and flowering time along with remarks on what generally to expect from them. The calendar section helps plan work and plants and puts the amateur on alert for bugs before they devour the flower. It is also very specific on how to water, feed, propagate or move individual plants.

Planting a tree here, a tree there, putting a flower border here and one there cannot be classified as landscaping unless the total pictured is a unified one. If gaining that unity is your special problem, you'll find lots of ideas in "How to Landscape Your Own Home," by R S Malkin. Mr. Malkin designs yards, fences, walks, explains with pictures the whys and hows of grading, lawn making and terracing.

Landscaping Your Own Home by Alice Dustan a gift of the Wahegamstu Garden club is full of help for selecting varieties of shrubs or trees for building pools or a compost pit for designing fences, gates or steps. Another gift of the same club, Garden Design Illustrated by John and Carol Grant goes into the details of landscaping very thoroughly

Still the more you read the more you learn and before long disconnected bits of information begin to fall into place and you find yourself defending a pet theory about where to plant the new flowering crab Whatever your plans for spring gardening may be, you'll find the above books and many others on the Library shelves full of helpful information that will make your February gardening just as much fun as the work you do outside from May til September.

Marshall ASC Says Reseal Program Has Been Extended

Farm-stored 1959 Crop Wheat and Barley Are Eligible Another Year

The Marshall county ASC office announced today that farm stored 1959 crop wheat, and barley will be eligible to be kept in storage another year under a reseal program when the original loan or purchase agreement expires this year. In addition A. E. Strandquist, manager of the Marshall county ASC office said price support reseal loans which are already in effect on 1957 crop wheat and 1958 crop wheat and barley will be eligible to be extended for another year. The reseal programs are being announced at this time, Mr. Strandquist said, to assist farmers in making their storage plans.

Estimated carryovers of these grains this year will be substantially higher than at the time 1959 crop harvests began, and it will be desirable to hold sizable stocks on the farm, particularly of the feed grains.

For storing grain under a reseal loan, a farmer may earn storage payments which in effect help to pay the cost of new storage. Storage payments to farmers for the added year will be in line with the new storage rates which are negotiated between the government and commercial warehousemen to take effect July 1, 1960.

Tips on Income Taxes

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

Preparing Minnesota and federal income tax returns is often more of a nuisance than a difficult chore. It requires that you do a little thinking, a little reading of rules, and a little searching for the books and records you should have been keeping during the taxable year. This is the first in a series of 15 informative articles prepared under the supervision of the Minnesota State Bar association to assist you in accomplishing your task.

Generally, you must file a federal income tax return if you receive gross income of $600 or more during a calendar year. However if you have reached 65 years of age by the end of the calendar year for which you are filing your return, you need not file a federal return unless you received over $1200 in gross income.

These rules apply whether you are married or single, a minor or an adult. Gross income refers to all amounts which you receive for work you perform and also includes income and profits which you receive from the investment and sale of property or savings.

As such, gross income does not include amounts received by you as Social Security or Railroad Retirement pension benefits, gifts, inheritances or workmen's compensation benefits. Although not required to do so, you should also file a federal income tax return to obtain a refund of any income taxes withheld from your wages where your gross income is less than $600.

You must file a Minnesota income tax return if you are single and your gross income exceeds $750. If you are married, you need file a Minnesota income tax return only if your combined gross income exceeds $1500.

The specific form you use to submit your return is really a matter of personal choice with [illegible] the type of income you have, the type of exclusions you claim and the amount of deductible expenditures you have incurred. The federal form 1040 can properly be used by all individual taxpayers.

However, for taxpayers with only wages and small amounts of dividends and interest to report, the 1040A and 1040W forms are available. You are allowed to itemize your deductions and exclude amounts received as pay while sick only if you file the 1040 or 1040W. The forms 1040A and 1040W can be used only if your total income is less than $10000 and not more than $200 of this amount has been received free from withholding taxes. If you are authorized to file any one of the returns mentioned you should base your choice upon the respective case of filing any particular form and upon a consideration of the simplest return which will result in the lowest amount of tax which you will pay.

All of the listed returns can be filed jointly with your spouse or separately by the spouses having the specified amounts of gross income. You must be careful, however, to note that the filing of separate returns cannot result in greater personal exemptions or credits under either Minnesota or federal law than the amount which would result from the submission of a joint return. Where husband and wife each have taxable income it is usually advantageous to file a joint federal return and separate Minnesota returns.

Our tax laws are self assessing in nature. This means that you as the taxpayer have a duty and obligation to report the facts and circumstances surrounding your receipt of income. The majority of simple tax returns can best and most properly be prepared by you the taxpayer, after studying the instruction booklets available to you. The federal revenue service also makes available a booklet entitled "Your Federal Income Tax" to help you understand more complicated problems and more adequately submit the required information. Any problems which you might encounter should be properly be referred to the various offices of the United States Internal Revenue Service for advice or to an accountant or lawyer qualified to give you competent assistance.

Livestock Outlook for 1960

What's ahead for Minnesota livestock and poultry producers in 1960?

Beef Cattle: Prices will continue to fall, as more cattle go to market. The price declines will affect men with beef breeding herds more than cattle feeders. So this is a good year to cull breeding herds thoroughly and aim for expansion after three or four years. Growing population and greater preference for beef means more beef can be sold in the next cattle cycle.

Cattle feeders can pass part of the price decline to men selling feeder cattle. But the feeder must also discount falling market prices when buying cattle for the feedlot.

In the long run, more cattle available for feeding. But more farmers are interested in the business, so competition for feeder cattle will tend to hold prices up.

Hogs: Prices look unexpectedly favorable. Farmers estimate 12 per cent fewer sows will farrow this spring than 12 months earlier. If these plans hold, prices should rise — although competition from beef and poultry will limit the increase. Efficient hog producers may find it wise to breed a few more sows for farrowing in fall, 1960 and spring 1961. Farmers with below average efficiency need to weigh the possibility of sealing or selling feed crops.

Sheep: Prospects continue fair. Farmers with crops and facilities adapted for sheep may want to consider ewe flocks.

Eggs: Prices may rise a little in 1960. Last year, though, income from eggs fell about 28 per cent from 1958. The present laying flock is about four per cent smaller than last year, and rate of lay may be lower. Poultry flocks are profitable for many farms that have suitable housing, no alternative use for labor and good poultry management.

Top Hogs Out at 200-220 Lbs.

Sell most hogs when they average 200-220 pounds, and you'll make more total profit.

Lower price for heavier hogs will offset the weight gains.

For example, with 200 pound hogs selling for $12.50 per hundred at present, you'll need to get $12.25 per hundred for 250 pound hogs to cover added weight costs. Trouble is though, that the heavier butcher hogs are actually bringing 80 cents or even a dollar less than the light er ones.

In other words, keeping hogs too long now can lose you money. Later in the spring, when prices advance seasonally and discounts for overweight hogs are less, this will not be a problem.

Here are some tips for hog men:

1. If you have storage space watch for good buys on corn. Prices will likely stay low until late winter or spring.

2. If possible, buy feeder pigs before mid March, and shoot for the summer peak market. And don't wait too long, because feeder supplies are short. Feeder pigs are bringing $8 to $9 per head—a pretty good buy at present. Since 1955, feeder pigs purchased in winter brought higher returns than those bought in any other season.

3. If you're planning long range hog expansion, start expanding next fall. You'll need to select replacement gilts from your past fall pig crop. Don't wait too long on new facilities, either. Prices for building materials, cement and equipment will keep on climbing—though at a somewhat slower pace.

Look for hog prices to start rising in March, reaching 1959 levels by late May. In late May or June prices are expected to be at $15.50 or $16.

National 4-H Week

Four H'ers are active young people. In the nation the two and a quarter million members completed 3,719,652 projects in a single year. Pennington county's contribution to the national total is 1500, approximately four projects per 4-H'er.

March 5 through 12 is National 4-H Week. This year's theme is "Live, Learn, Serve through 4-H." In Minnesota alone 50,000 young people belong to 4-H clubs.

4-H has a new set of objectives. The first one is to acquire knowledge, skills and attitudes for a satisfying home and family life. This is a worthwhile objective for our nation's youth.

Approximately 800 million youth in the world today are between 5 and 20 years of age. Of these 56 per cent live in Asia, 15 per cent in Europe, 9 per cent in Africa, 8 per cent in Latin America, 6 per cent in Russia, 5 per cent in North America and 1 per cent in Australia and the Pacific islands. The United States has given to the youth in 50 countries the idea of 4-H club work.

Minnesota tops the nation in re-enrollment of its 4-H members. The average Minnesota 4-H'er stays active 3.2 years compared to the national average of 2.7 years.

Local 4-H members bring Minnesota farm and community life to many countries through the International Farm Youth Exchange program. This year three young people will be grass roots ambassadors.

The 1960 state 4-H radio speaking contest will climax National 4-H Week. The contest will be held in St. Paul March 12. This year's topic, in keeping with world refugee year, is "Why I Am Concerned with the World Refugee Problem."

BAGS LION The African lioness pictured above, which had just killed three cows near the missionary station in East Africa where the Rev. D. J. Augustine, former St. Hilaire pastor, is serving, was fatally shot recently by Mr. Augustine after having been first wounded by Rev. Johnson, an associate.

Rev. D. J. Augustine Tells of Successful Lion Hunt in Africa

The Rev. D. J. Augustine, former St. Hilaire pastor who left last fall for missionary duty in Tanganyika, East Africa, has written a letter to his colleague, Rev. Marvin Carlson of this city, giving interesting details of his first successful lion hunt.

Now serving as an instructor at the Kinampanda teacher training center, he wrote that a student brought news that a lion had just killed three cows a few miles from the station. A hunting party was immediately organized, made up of 20 students, himself and Pastor Johnson, the other missionary on the station.

The hunters took up their stations near the carcass of one of the cows, which lay close to thick brush. After a half-hour wait, they heard the grunt of a lion, which entered the clearing and picked up the cow in its powerful jaws and started to pull it into the thicket.

Rev. Johnson got the first shot at the animal, wounding it but not fatally. Rev. Augustine then fired another shot that put the lion to death. The party then had the arduous task of lugging the huge creature back to the station. It was necessary, he wrote, to get official approval at the "county seat" for the killing, which is illegal unless the lion is a proved killer.

"Teaching school in America never would be like this," Rev. Augustine concludes.

Local VFW Post Sponsors Invitational Event Here

A group of VFW members met at the VFW club Feb. 17 to plan to sponsor an invitational hockey tournament for Midgets in Thief River Falls March 5 and 6. Under the direction of Comander Melvin Hoffman, a group of committees was set up to handle the tournament.

The following teams will compete: Thief River Falls, St. Paul, Grand Forks, Owatonna, Roseau, South St. Paul, Crookston and Grand Rapids.

Each team will pay their own expense of travel. The teams will be housed on cots at the city Auditorium. The local VFW post 2793 will serve the teams meals at the VFW hall. Various business firms are making contributions of money and food for the boys. An advance ticket sale to cover the cost of the tournament will start this weekend, according to Don Houfek, general chairman of the VFW hockey team.

Prowlers Defeat Fertile 49 to 47

Three pressure packed free throw points scored by sopho more Wayne Bjerken in the final twenty seconds of play provided the Prowlers with their game winning margin as they defeated the Fertile Falcons 49 to 47 in a hectic basketball game played here Tuesday night.

On Friday night coach Hartley Story's squad will conclude their 1959-60 cage schedule when they meet the Warren Ponies on the Warren floor.

Tuesday night's frantic game, which found confusion being compounded at one time in the second half when the two teams were "shooting" at the wrong basket, saw the Prowlers gaining a 28 to 18 lead at the intermission. This ten-point spread was the result of some fine play by the locals in the second period, when they outpointed Fertile, 19 to 7.

Fertile, in the opening minutes of the second half, erased that Prowler lead to trail by one point, 30 to 29, with four minutes to play. Field goals by Bjerken, Darrell Nelson, Don Ulferts, and Steve Embury, plus a free throw by Bob Pearson, boosted the Prowler margin to ten points, 39 to 29, as the teams entered the final period.

With the score at 44 to 33 for the Prowlers with 4:50 to play in the fourth quarter, Fertile, on six straight free throws, pared that deficit to five points, 44 to 39. Ulferts notched a Prowler free throw, but Carl Moland, on a free throw and a field goal, moved the Falcons within three points of the Prowlers with 1:20 to play. Gary Anderson added a gift shot for the locals, but Moland's free throw equalized that point, and when Jim Rongen's field goal, which bounced high off the rim and then dropped into the west basket, added two points to Fertile's total, the Falcons trailed by one point, 46 to 45.

Bjerken, with twenty seconds to play, was fouled and marked two points on a one-and-one bonus. Wayne Nelson, with eight seconds to play was fouled by Dave Hauswirth, and the chunky Fertile guard flipped in a pair of free throw points, and the game was again in doubt. In their efforts to secure the ball as the Prowlers were coming up court, Bjerken was fouled by a Fertile player. Given two shots, the young Prowler guard dropped in the first try to give the locals a two point margin, and the game, 49 to 47. With two seconds to play, Fertile called "time" and endeavored to set up a last second scoring play, but Ulferts intercepted the ball to snuff out the threat.

Note to Ice Fishermen

Game Warden Carl Sundstrom has issued a warning to the anglers who have dark houses on the river here or on lakes in this vicinity that these houses must be removed by Monday, Feb. 29. If the houses have not been removed by this date the game and fish department has the authority to destroy the houses. Carl isn't anxious about doing any "house burning."

Comic Relief

It was fortunate that the tense basketball game between the Prowlers and the Fertile Falcons here Tuesday night had a moment or two of good natured confusion.

Here's the situation: midway in the second half, Fertile had a free throw try at the west basket, with the Falcon player adding two points on the bonus. After his second shot, the ball, in error was awarded to Fertile under the basket and the Falcons drove up the court, and Jim Rongen made a try at the east basket, the Prowler goal. The Prowlers recovered the rebound, and swept across the time line, carrying toward the west basket, the Fertile basket. The play was finally halted, and the boys were given correct compass bearings.

TROPHY Co-captains Dale Wennberg, left, and Arlan Hjelle, right, accept the Region Eight high school hockey championship trophy from Supt. Louis Allen of Greenbush. The Prowlers, defeating the Warroad Warriors, 4 to 1, in tournament finals at Roseau on Friday night, succeed the Roseau Rams as regional titlists. The Prowlers will participate in the state high school hockey tournament in St. Paul this week, meeting South St. Paul in a first round game this afternoon, 3:00 P.M.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Week of Decision

From the natural ice rinks of northern Minnesota to the artificial ice sheet of the St. Paul Auditorium is a distance of 300 odd miles, and a couple of months of hard play and practice. But the hockey Prowlers of coach Gene Sack made it. This afternoon, carrying the hopes of Region Eight, the Prowlers will meet the South St. Paul sextet in a state tournament first round game. The face off is scheduled for 3:00 p.m. For the stay at homes who will be missing the action, KTRF and Doug Tepfmeier will be relaying the play by play.

That's quite a hockey squad that coach Sack has brought down to St. Paul to compete in the state tourney and to exhibit before his "home" folks. Gene, you know, is a native of St. Paul.

The 1959-60 Prowlers have many of the characteristics of the Prowlers of 1956, a state championship outfit—in the championship finals game of 1956 against the International Falls Broncos, and which was won by the locals 3 to 2, coach Bemis Bolle used but nine players: goalie Rod Collins, defensemen Duane Glass and Fred Dablow, centers Jack Poole and Jim Hall, and forwards Glenn Carlson, Chip Strand, Ron Reese and Vic [illegible].

Like that 1956 club, the Prowlers of this season are strong heavily on the tested veterans. And like that 1956 club, this season's club has shown signs of greatness.

At the start of this season it was the concensus of sideline observers that the Prowlers would be an adequate club but that the boys would be representing Region Eight in the state tourney was doubtful. The Prowlers gave an indication of things to come when they defeated International Falls, 6 to 3, here in a game in December. The Prowlers became a "solid" club when they played in the holiday tournament at International Falls and defeated Duluth East, 4 to 1, and International Falls, 7 to 3. And of course when they bested the Roseau Rams, 2 to 1, in overtime at Roseau a month ago the Prowlers gained state wide recognition.

Our wish for the state tournament is to have the first round and semi finals games bring out the results that would find the Prowlers meeting coach Johnny Matchefts' Eveleth Golden Bears in the finals on Saturday night. That would be a finals game that would be as dramatic as the Prowlers vs. International Falls game of 1956.

31st Dist. Cage Pairings

At a meeting held in Crookston Wednesday night the basketball coaches and athletic directors of the 31st district completed plans for the district's basketball tournament. The tourney will be played on the spacious court in the UND fieldhouse at Grand Forks on March 7, 8 and 9.

The teams seeded into the district tournament and with their ratings were the following: Thief River Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Warren and Climax. The remaining three teams to complete the eight team tour-

Schedule Saturday, Feb. 27

The city grade school hockey league will conclude its 1959-60 schedule on Saturday morning at the Arena.

Coach Dennis Sullivan's St. Bernard's Broncos are assured of a tie for first place in the league standings, having a mark of six wins and three ties for fifteen points. The Washington Wildcats and the Northrop Indians trail the Broncos by two points. A win for either the Wildcats or the Indians, and a loss for the Broncos in their game against the Knox Tigers, would find the final standings in a two team first place deadlock.

In last Saturday morning's games at the Arena, the four teams, with their lineups reshuffled considerably by the fact that a number of the players were in Winnipeg, played a pair of 1 to 1 tie games.

In a game played at Winnipeg, an all star aggregation chosen from the city's four grade school teams dropped a 4 to 3 overtime decision to a community team in the Fort Garry section of Winnipeg. The boys, on Saturday night, were guests of their Canadian hosts at the Winnipeg Arena and witnessed the Winnipeg Warriors in an exhibition tilt against the Winnipeg junior all stars.

Terry Sheets Still Leads in Handicap Bowling Tourney

Lloyd Evers of EGF Holds Second Place in Event Which Ends Next Sunday

Eighty-seven entries were recorded in the week of competition in the Family Bowl's first annual singles handicap bowling tournament that will be concluded next Sunday. Terry Sheets of Grand Forks who posted his aggregate total of 684 on Sunday, May 11 continues to hold down first place in the tourney standings but the remainder of the prize list was given a re-shuffling as the bowlers turned in their scores.

Moving into second place in the tournament was Lloyd Evers of the Bowlaway lanes in East Grand Forks who chalked up scores of 222 205 176 and having a handicap of 79 pins, totaled 682. Warren Larson, a local bowler, is in third place with 659, the score he bowled a week ago. R. O. Brown, of East Grand Forks, bowled games of 247 173 214, and carrying a handicap of 21 pins, to mark up a 655 aggregate.

Mrs. Mary Washnesky, with games of 170 154 221, plus a handicap of 96 pins, carded an aggregate of 641 to be in fifth place in the standings. Bob Flynn, adding a handicap of 67 pins to his games of 217 179 179, had an aggregate of 642 for sixth place.

Beltrami County Man Tries to Kill Fellow Prisoner in Polk Jail

A Polk county jail prisoner narrowly escaped death at the hands of another inmate in a cell the two were sharing at midnight Saturday and a jailbreak was apparently foiled by action of the jailer on duty and two trusties, according to the story being pieced together Monday by Sheriff Carl Knutson.

Douglas E. Carey, 24, Bemidji area farmer, held under $1,000 bail for criminal assault on a neighbor woman in January, tried to choke his cellmate to death when the cellmate allegedly reneged on plans to flee the jail, Knutson said.

Cary is being held in Crookston for mental examination by Northwestern Mental Health Center psychiatrists.

His intended victim, James W. Davis, 18, serving time for a traffic offense and facing charges of violating probation in California, was choked unconscious and severely bruised when Carey attacked him.

According to the jailer, Tony Janorschke, yelling and pounding broke out in the cell block about midnight. He released the two trusties, Lawrence Aker of Crookston and Anton Dusauvage of Norman county, from their cell and the trio entered the cell occupied by Carey and Davis.

They found the pair on the floor with Davis unconscious and Cary choking him with a leather belt. The trio subdued Carey and called a doctor to attend Davis who recovered consciousness after a few minutes.

Carey put up a fierce struggle according to Janorschke.

Questioned later Carey said he had planned a jailbreak with Davis and another prisoner. Just before the time for locking the cell doors, Davis slipped into Carey's cell, which he was occupying alone up to that time.

The two men discussed the proposed jailbreak at greater length, and Davis started to back down, according to Carey's story. Carey then attacked him.

The story was corroborated by Davis.

$50 Million Life Insurance Paid in State During 1959

Death Benefits Paid in Minnesota Increase 95 Per Cent in Ten Years

Minnesota families received $50,287,000 during 1959 in death benefits from their life insurance companies, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. These payments were made under 23,311 policies.

The 1959 death payments compare with $46,642,000 the year before, under 22,305 policies.

"The death benefits paid in this state last year were 95 per cent more than ten years ago," the Institute commented. "In 1949, they amounted to $25,854,000 under 14,663 policies. The increase in life policy death benefit payments was primarily a reflection of the greater amount of life insurance owned as the death rate among policyholders is now materially lower than it was ten years ago. Ownership of life insurance in this state increased 125 per cent between the start of 1949 and the start of 1959."

Of the 1959 death claim payments in the state, $32,467,000 was under 10,791 ordinary life insurance policies; $15,802,000 was under 6,243 group life insurance certificates; and $2,018,000 was under 6,277 industrial life insurance policies.

Plans under Way to Note Arbor Day

Women's Clubs Share in Sponsoring May 6 Event

Minnesota's public and private schools will be the recipients this week of an eight page folder describing in detail "Operation Arbor Day" sponsored by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. L. F. Johnson, conservation chairman said today.

More than 400 individual federation clubs are working closely with the state department of conservation in an all-out effort to have Arbor Day observed with proper ceremonies in Minnesota schools May 6.

Every school that plans Arbor Day observances will be furnished with their choice of tree seedlings to plant on Arbor Day, Mrs. Johnson said.

Dr. Dean M. Schweikhard, Minnesota education commissioner says that "Operation Arbor Day" will revitalize emphasis on Arbor Day and it is in accord with the enlarged place which conservation has come to occupy in the school curriculum.

Dr. George A. Selke, conservation commissioner, pointed out that the 1957 legislature designated the first Friday in May as Arbor Day and the law permits all public schools to conduct appropriate exercises commemorating the history and tradition of Arbor Day.

Schools wishing to receive complete details of "Operation Arbor Day are urged to write "Operation Arbor Day" Room 350, Centennial Office Building, 658 Cedar Street, St. Paul 1.

Sieben Elected to Head Safety Group

Highway Department's Safety Chief Honored

Harry A. Sieben, Hastings, director of the safety division of Minnesota highway department, was elected chairman of the mid-western region of the Association of State and Provincial Safety Coordinators at the group's annual meeting in Des Moines recently.

Sieben succeeds Claude R. McCamment, Kansas director of safety, as the head of the nine state organization which coordinates traffic safety promotion activities in the midwestern area. The organization sponsors the annual "Slow Down and Live" campaign during the summer months.

"The 1960 program will revolve around the theme 'Highway Safety Makes Driving Fun'," Sieben announced. "Law enforcement agencies, business and industry, federal, state and local agencies, service and civic clubs will combine their forces for the eighth consecutive year in support of the 1960 program which begins May 30 and continues through September 5."

Serving with Sieben in the association will be Floyd J. Upham, North Dakota safety director, vice chairman; and Don Rounds, South Dakota safety director, secretary.

Game Officials Give Tips on Bird Watching

So you would like to learn something about birds but don't quite know how to go about it. A good time to start is in winter when there are fewer but species about, says Minnesota game officials.

No "bird watcher" would do without the following: Field glasses (6x or 8x), a good bird book, (Roger Tory Peterson's "A Field Guide to the Birds" is fine for the field and "Birds of America" by Pearson is okay for your library) and a goodly amount of patience. Get acquainted with your bird book. Notice how birds are placed into major categories called orders and families.

The general approach to identifying birds is not too much different from that used to tell one make of car or airplane from another. First note the size of the bird in question. If it is as big as a crow, for instance one would automatically eliminate from consideration several hundred possibilities such as all the wrens, warblers, sparrows, finches and many others. Next notice the shape, whether the bird is slim or stout. Color is of prime importance. Learn to look for conspicuous marks. If the before-mentioned crow sized bird should have a red crest on the head and some white on the sides of the neck, you could forget about crows, owls, hawks and many other birds of similar size. Now you would start to study your birds' habits, traits and personality, and especially its call notes or singing. You would note that this crow size bird was shy, but mighty noisy when it called, preferred to stay around large forest trees particularly dead ones; would cling to the side of tree trunks rather than perch on limbs; and its flight would be wavy and galloping. By this time you would have decided this must be some kind of woodpecker. Now your field glasses become essential since you will want to look at the birds' bill; very important for identification purposes. The long, stout beak with a chisel-shaped point clinches it. It's a woodpecker. Now open your Field Guide to woodpeckers and you will immediately discover that no other woodpecker, except the near extinct ivory billed woodpecker, is as large as a crow except the Pileated Woodpecker. Check the color markings to verify your identification and that's it.

WHY SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE PAY BILLS BY CHECK
They don't want to risk loss by carrying large sums of money around with them. They don't want to waste time running all over town to pay bills in cash. They do want a bonafide receipt (their cancelled checks) for every payment they make. They do want a clear record of how much they spent for what.

Hustling Prowlers

Our best wishes to coach Gene Sack and his hustling Prowlers in the battle of St. Paul this week. Huck Olson tells us this is the eighth time a Thief River Falls hockey team will participate in a state tournament. In the past seven attempts the Prowlers came through with two championships to their credit, won consolation honors twice, were runner-up once and finished once in third place. That is a good record. Of all the Prowler teams we have seen, this one is the hustlingest, and we are sure the boys will turn in three creditable performances.

A Plan Will Help

President Eisenhower has named a distinguished group of private citizens to a Commission on National Goals. The members of this commission will not be limited in the scope of their objectives. They will consider all phases of our national possibilities in the development of the economy of our country and the social and cultural advancement of our people.

This is a sound approach to the problems with which we are, and will be, confronted. If we manage our affairs well we have no reason to fear the future.

Good management calls for a plan setting forth the general objectives we hope to achieve. It will not be possible to draft an infallible plan, a chart that will guide us through all of the changing problems with which we will be confronted as we proceed. But a study of this kind should be able to pin-point the general goals in a way that will help keep us on our course.

With good management we have nothing to fear, but good management sometimes requires restraint and sacrifice. Such things are seldom popular because the need for them is not always clear.

We should have no delusions that a plan of the kind proposed by the President will put an end to our differences, but it should help to keep us from drifting into an acceptance of dangerous proposals because we would have nothing better to offer.

Someday, Maybe, Not Now

Maybe it should be admitted that the Chicago Tribune does have a bias against world courts and world governments and that sort of thing. But, recognizing the bias, we nevertheless see much merit in a Tribune editorial that viewed with alarm a meeting last week in California. At this meeting a resolution was adopted endorsing "remolding the United Nations into a world organization that can enact world law, interpret it, and enforce world law upon individuals and governments alike."

The gathering the Tribune referred to was a meeting of the California Democratic council, which, according to the Tribune, represented "left wing elements of the party." What particularly disturbed the Tribune was the presence at the meeting of four Democratic contenders for the Presidential nomination who failed to utter a word of protest when the convention, without a dissenting vote, "approved the transformation of the United Nations into a world government." Incidentally, one of the four candidates present was Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

We are not as alarmed about this as was the Chicago Tribune, but we will admit that we are not as enthusiastic about one world government as we once were, and that we have concluded we should move very cautiously in our approach to any proposal that would favor a world organization with so much power.

A large number of new nations, now approaching independence in Asia and Africa, will soon be seeking admission to the United Nations. Most of them probably will be admitted. Few of these nations will have had any real experience in self-government and will contribute little to the strength of the United Nations as a deliberative organization. They naturally will be inclined to look upon world problems from the standpoint of the needs of the backward countries, and while we would not question their good intentions when they voted on matters in which they had a selfish interest, we doubt that their judgment would be good in terms of the best interests of satisfactory, long-range considerations.

We like the idea of the United Nations as an international agency, to which the problems of international interest and concern may be brought for consideration and arbitration. We will go along with the idea of an international police force for the time being, on a big-brother basis, mainly to maintain the peace at local levels and to keep family and neighborhood brawls from developing into gang fights that will involve us again in world wars. And maybe we should consider a program of United Nations expansion that will lead to a gradual development of the international union approach.

At this time, however, under present circumstances, we will string along with the Chicago Tribune idea on this problem rather than with that of Senator Humphrey. There may come a day when we will have confidence in the majority of the members of the United Nations and feel secure under their authority. We do not share that confidence with Senator Humphrey now.

Another Bad Example

Those who advocate new federal aids with the idea that they will serve an immediate need, and then be discontinued, might consider the record of the government's very modest assistance to comunities in their efforts to control stream pollution. In the past three years the federal government has contributed $116 million to help communities build waste treatment works. For the coming fiscal year President Eisenhower has proposed another $20 million dollars for this purpose, after which this kind of handout would end.

Already the Senate has gone along with the House and passed a bill to continue sewage disposal assistance for ten years at a total cost of $900 million. Fortunately President Eisenhower is likely to veto this measure, but this is a good example of the irresponsibility of the members of Congress in an election year and what we have to look forward to in the future.

Adlai Stevenson continues to conduct himself like a man who probably would measure up to the responsibilities he would assume if he were elected president of our country. He is impressive when he speaks, but the thing he does best of all is remain quiet. That is a very difficult thing for a man in his position to do.

Our State Department barred East German sports writers from entering the country to cover the Winter Olympics now being held in California. As we see it that was an unfortunate error that will be used against us throughout the world. From Canada comes this observation from the Financial Post. "Weird indeed are Washington's ways in the field of international understanding."

We don't know whether or not Jack Paar is going to continue his NBC television program, and we don't much care. Generally he has provided good entertainment for the hour before midnight and time to go to bed. His program has frequently been questioned on points of good taste and he often reaches deeper into the garbage bucket than other comics, which he justifies on the grounds that young people should be in slumberland at the time of his appearance. If we were writing the rules we would say that the same code of propriety should apply at midnight as at high noon.

United Fund Gains

(Minneapolis Tribune)

Rapid progress is being made toward the establishment of a United Fund for Hennepin county, and it now is hoped that the new fund-raising organization for health, welfare and youth activities will be ready to conduct its first drive in the fall of 1960.

If present plans materialize, the United Fund will conduct the major fund-raising campaign for these community organizations. The Community Welfare council will be a United Fund agency that will carry on its work in social research and planning. The present Community Chest will limit its operations to the distribution of funds to the present Chest agencies and to housekeeping and management functions. Other member organizations also will turn over their fund-raising chores to the United Fund.

The United Fund approach is one that has wide support in the community as reflected in public opinion and other surveys taken throughout the county. It is in line with the growing practice of other metropolitan areas to consolidate fund-raising campaigns. The purpose is to eliminate duplication and waste in the present multiplicity of campaigns, and thus assure the expenditure of a larger percentage of the funds raised to meet the human needs of this community.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Two old men from the country were spending the night in the city and went to a burlesque show. During one of the acts a curvaceous blonde was shown taking a bath in a large wooden tub.

"Ain't that something?" remarked one to his companion.

"Sure is," said the other. "Been years since I've seen a wooden tub."

It's Chick Time Again at Shetler's Hatchery

Our First Hatch Comes Off on March 14th This Year

That's two weeks later than last year, but hatcheries all over the country have been cutting down on hatches ever since last spring.

Growers are not ordering egg type chicks because of low egg prices.

Hatches are down about ⅓ below last year at the start of this season.

Our 1960 Chick Price Lists were ready on February 15th.

We offer a wide choice of Hybrids, Crossbreds or Purebreds from famous egg and meat strains.

Why don't you call, write or stop in at the hatchery and place your order today?

You and Your Eyes

Yes, Bad Eyes Can Kill You!

A blinded war veteran, wearing dark glasses and carrying a white cane went to renew his driver's license. After bumping into the guard and nearly knocking him over, the blind man asked to be lead to the application window. A few minutes later his license had been renewed.

This was a dramatic stunt, but it illustrates a flagrant carelessness in screening out drivers with defective vision. Traffic officials estimate that over three million drivers in this country have vision that is seriously impaired and it's a proven fact that poor vision can kill you on the highway.

Cases almost as shocking as the one above are all too common. A man rushed into Brooklyn's Industrial Home for the Blind to get a form signed certifying that he was legally blind. "Please hurry," he said, "I double-parked out front."

Ohio recently revoked the driver's licenses of 600 drivers listed on the welfare roll as legally blind. A 65-year old Pennsylvania motorist with a history of one automobile accident every 1000 miles was finally re-examined. He had a cataract in one eye, and side vision of only four degrees (90 degrees is normal) in the other.

Obviously, adequate vision is vital to safe driving. Of 321 accident repeaters studied recently, all were below par in night vision. Because visual defects are seriously aggravated by darkness, 75% of their accidents happened at night. A similar analysis of 33 fatal mishaps revealed that every driver at fault had poor sight in one eye, and that 30 of the accidents had happened on the side of that eye.

New drivers' eye examinations are usually too superficial. Moreover, motorists can usually renew licenses without re-examination. Almost half of all American drivers have never had an official visual test.

The need for thorough and repeated drivers' eye examinations is great. But until adequate laws are passed, it is up to each driver to keep "death out of his eyes."

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S." —Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation." —Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick. . . . This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros. . . ." —Tom McCahill, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside. . . . I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars. . . ." —L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked . . . it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one." —Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today." —Jim Whipple, Car Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny." —John R. Bond, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation. . . . It is a great car." —Don Stewart, Motor Life

Answer Questions on New GI Pension Laws

(Pension requirements have been changed where orphans and hospitalized veterans are concerned. A series of questions and answers have been compiled by the Veterans Administration regarding the new income and eligibility restrictions. This is the last of series of questions and answers concerning the new pension law.)

Q. What is the income limit for orphans and how much do they receive under the present law?

A. At present orphans of veterans are eligible for pensions if their outside income is not more than $1400 a year. Pension payments are $27.30 a month for one orphan; $40.95 a month for two; $54.60 for three; and an extra $7.56 for each additional child.

Q. What are the income limits and pension payments for orphans under the new system?

A. Under the new system, orphans will be eligible for pension if their outside income is not more than $1800 a year, not counting their own earnings. Payments will amount to $35 a month for one orphan, plus $15 more for each additional child, the total divided equally.

Q. Is there anything besides the amount of income, the size of estate, and the number of dependents that will affect the amount of pension paid to a veteran under the new system?

A. Yes. Under the new system the pension of a veteran hospitalized or maintained by the VA will be reduced to $30 a month after two full calendar months of care. If the veteran has a wife or child, the amount of his pension in excess of $30 may be paid to his dependents.

Q. Will the veteran who receives an additional $70 for regular aid and attendance also be reduced to a pension of $30 a month if he is hospitalized or domiciled by the VA?

A. Yes, unless is receiving care of treatment for leprosy.

Q. If a veteran or a widow receiving a pension begins to receive additional income or acquires additional property, must this be reported to the VA?

A. Yes, it must be reported to the VA promptly. Any increase in income must be reported to the VA under the present law. Under the new law any material increase in the size of the pensioner's estate must also be reported.

Q. What about a change in the number of dependents?

A. A change in the number of dependents must also be reported promptly to the VA.

Jehovah Group to Meet in Hibbing

Three-day Assembly Is Set for This Week-end

Thief River Falls will be represented by a delegation of ministers at a three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Hibbing February 26-28. The semi-annual circuit assembly will be at the new National Guard Armory.

There will be an expected attendance of 750 from 18 congregations in northern Minnesota. The assembly is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York, world headquarters for the Witnesses.

R. H. Wetenkamp, local presiding minister of the Witnesses, said, "Everyone recognized by Watchtower Society as one of Jehovah's Witnesses is required to witness or do ministerial work. There are 51 active ministers in Thief River Falls."

Highlight of the three-day gathering will be a talk on "Finding Peace in a Troubled World," by A. K. Wagner, district supervisor for the Witnesses on Sunday, Feb. 28, at 3 p.m.

Former TRF Man Is Candidate for Mayor in St. Paul

George M. Vavoulis, St. Paul florist and a Thief River Falls resident many years ago, filed recently as a candidate for mayor of St. Paul.

Vavoulis' name had come up frequently in recent weeks as a Conservative candidate.

In announcing his decision to file, however, Vavoulis indicated he was running strictly as an independent" and had been promised no organizational support.

The candidate owns Vavoulis Flowers in St. Paul.

LOVELY UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA COED — Marolyn Downing, center, has been named 1960 Queen of Hearts. Pictured with her are Nancy Vollum, left, lady-in-waiting, and Patricia Stapleton, 1959 Queen. Marolyn will be crowned at the 3rd Annual Arthur Murray Heart Fund Ball in Minneapolis on Saturday, February 27th. Both Marolyn and Susan are attending the University of Minnesota.

During the coming year, they will make appearances throughout the state speaking on behalf of the Heart Fund. Marolyn's first message to the people of Minnesota was this: "Please be generous when called upon by your Heart Sunday volunteer, as only through your generosity can victory over heart disease be achieved."

Northern States Power Co. Paying Bigger Tax Bill

Northern States Power company's taxes for 1959 increased $5,208,000 to a total of $43,909,000, a jump of 13.5 per cent, company officials reported today as first installments on personal property and transmission line taxes were paid. NSP's new investments in plant and equipment increased only 5.9 per cent during the same time.

NSP is paying Pennington county a total of $1,295 in taxes this year. A first installment of $648 was paid this week.

"NSP's total taxes are equivalent to an average payment of $50.78 per customer," said Allen S. King, president of Northern States Power Company. "For every dollar received from its customers NSP paid out 25.77 cents in taxes. The shareholders who own NSP received only about a third as much in revenue from the company as was paid to federal, state and local governments. NSP's taxes are equivalent to $3 per share of common stock while dividends were $1.10 per share."

Social Security Payments Due for Household Help

The Grand Forks social security office reported today that many housewives in North Dakota and Minnesota are not reporting household help for social security purposes.

"As little as $4 per week in cash earnings totals more than $50 a quarter and should be reported to the director of internal revenue," manager Kistler said.

Mr. Kistler explained reporting is easier than many housewives think. Upon request, Internal Revenue Service mails a report form each calendar quarter as a reminder. The report has the form of an envelope. The housewife enters the worker's name, social security number and total cash earnings. She puts a check or money order in the pocket to cover the social security tax and mails the sealed envelope to the address already printed on it.

The rate will be 3% for employe and 3% for employer.

No detailed bookkeeping is required. The fact that a household worker is also reported by another employer makes no difference in reporting responsibility.

Proper reporting establishes social security credit for retirement, survivors, and disability insurance benefits for the household worker and her dependents.

St. Joseph Grade School of RLF Is Winner of Award

St. Joseph grade school of Red Lake Falls was one of nine Minnesota school named Sunday to receive Freedom Awards given by the Freedom Foundation for "maintaining the American way of life" by words and pictures, by writing and speaking.

Two state individuals and one industry were also named.

A George Washington medal and $100 went to Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn.) for a public address dealing with "The Basic Themes."

Ron Kennedy of the F. H. Peavey Co., Minneapolis, received a Washington medal for an address "How Free Do We Really Want to Be?"

The Minnesota mining industry received a Washington medal in the television category.

Other schools cited were Bloomington High, Holy Redeemer, Marshall; St Margaret's Academy, Minneapolis; St Raphael's, Crystal; St Thomas the Apostle, Minneapolis; Minneapolis South High; St Mary's, St. Paul, and St. Patricks St. Paul.

Whether you wear a red coat and ride a black stallion and shout, "Tally ho, the fox," or, hike through the brush in a plaid shirt yelling, "There goes the little son of a gun" (or words to that effect), fox hunting is great sport.

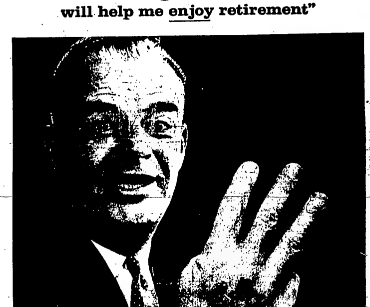
Now, it may seem strange that your game and fish division should assign a biologist the task of learning how to call foxes. But just possibly it is turning out to be an excellent investment both financially and by way of providing more sport. It is no secret that foxes are a problem and an expensive headache for the game and fish division. The $100,000 yearly game and fish contribution, plus an equal amount from the counties for bounty payment, is not exactly depleting the fox population. The fact is, these payments are having precious little, if any, effect on the increasing number of foxes. Some day disease or some other force of Nature may catch up with them but, as of now the foxes are getting along just fine.

Fish managers tried for years to convince fishermen that carp were just dandy sport fish. Too bad they failed, because fishermen might help keep the prolific carp in check.

Now, you guessed it — we are out to convince hunters that fox hunting is fun, and the steady increase in fox hunting makes us believe that this time the sportsmen agree. If we can add fox calling to the many forms of fox hunting already enjoyed, Br'er Fox had better watch out.

With no special knowledge of foxes to start with, our experimenting biologist has made quite an encouraging showing — but first the technique.

It doesn't pay to remain at one stand blowing your call for more than 15 minutes (this makes it better than deer hunting). Calling was most successful in April, May and July and during the last four hours of daylight. Little or no wind is best and the caller must always approach the calling site up wind. Complete concealment is not necessary, but you should remain absolutely silent and don't move. Choose a calling site with good visibility up wind. The call is made by a series of short, harsh cries gradually decreasing in volume and pitch. The series is 8 to 12 seconds long followed by a 30 to 90 second silence, then the call is repeated.



In making 101 fifteen minute calls our researcher called up 73 foxes. He called up a fox every seven tries and averaged one fox called up for every two hours of hunting. Forty-four per cent came within 50 feet of the caller —some within 10 feet — and 74 per cent showed up within 10 minutes.

Nine commercial calls were tested. None were infallible but all worked. Playing the recorded distress call of a rabbit also worked. If this is used, be careful. You might be shot by a rabbit hunter or treed by a beagle hound.

How to give chicks immunity to live

. . . and nutrients to develop to full laying ability

Immunity is developed by feeding Land O'Lakes Chick Starter "20" as the complete ration for the first six weeks. Trithiadol is right in the feed for prevention of coccidiosis. Also, vaccinate at 3 to 4 days in the chicks' drinking water with Cocci Vac. You'll find prevention much less expensive than cure.

Your chicks develop fully so they can be the good layers you paid for when you start them on Land O'Lakes Chick Starter "20". The nutrients your chicks need are properly balanced in this feed.

See us for your Chick Starter "20" and for helpful advice on poultry management right from the start.

The High Places

Does the goal you're seeking seem as remote—as unattainable—as this snow-frosted mountain top? Does it seem, sometimes, as if you'll never get there? Are you on the verge of giving up?

Don't! Though your objective may seem light-years beyond your reach, if it's the right thing for you, God will help you to attain it, if you'll let Him. The teachings of His Church will help you find the patience and endurance you need to accept setbacks . . . and still keep trying.

Don't try to climb to the top all by yourself. It's a lonely ascent. Let the Church help you, as it helped those who were here before you . . . and as it will help those who come after you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Virginia Walsberg Is Wed To Dennis Hallstrom

Rev. Marvin O. Carlson performed the double ring ceremony Saturday, Feb. 20, at the First Lutheran church which united Miss Virginia Walsberg of this city and Dennis M. Hallstrom of St. Hilaire, in holy matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Walsberg of rural Thief River Falls while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hallstrom of St. Hilaire.

Baskets of white carnations and spiral candelabra graced the altar for the 8 p.m. ceremony with Miss Shirley Peterson of this city at the organ. Soloist, Mrs. Donald L. Olson of this city, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown of ivory white brocade satin. It featured a scalloped sabrina neckline, studded with seed pearls, and puffed Paris sleeves. The bouffant skirt was accented with a large double pleat in front and an oriental styled bow in the back. Her shoulder length veil fell from a crown of brocaded satin, like that of the dress, trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of deep red roses with white carnations. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom. The gown and veil were both designed and sewed by the bride.

Three sisters of the bride served as her attendants with Miss JoAnn Walsberg as maid of honor, Mrs. Robert Walseth, bridesmatron and Mary Ellen Walsberg, junior bridesmaid.

They were attired in street length dresses of bright red taffeta, fashioned with a sabrina neckline that fell into a slight V in the back and flowed into puffed sleeves. The cummerbund at the waist was accented with a fan-shaped bow at the back. Each attendant carried a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations with white streamers of ribbon. Their pearl necklaces were a gift of the bride.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Harlan Hallstrom of St. Paul, his brother, with Douglas Peterson of Plummer, a friend, as groomsman. Junior best man was Dennis Allen Walsberg, brother of the bride. Ushers were Duane Walsberg of Fargo, brother of the bride, Robert Walseth, brother-in-law of the bride, and Warren Kron both of Thief River Falls, friend of the couple. All the gentlemen wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Walsberg chose a blue dress with matching accessories while Mrs. Hallstrom was attired in a deep blue dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of red baby roses and white carnations.

Approximately 150 relatives and friends attended the reception held following the ceremony in the church parlors. A three-layer wedding cake made in the shape of two interlocked hearts and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the serving table. Mrs. Harlan Hallstrom of St. Paul, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Duane Walsberg of Fargo, sister-in-law of the bride, cut and served the cake while Mrs. Orville Peters of Thief River Falls, aunt of the bridegroom, poured.

Others assisting were Miss Myrna Hallstrom of St. Hilaire, sister of the bridegroom, at the guest book with Mrs. Warren Kron of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Douglas Peterson of Plummer, friends of the couple, arranging the gifts.

For their honeymoon trip Mrs. Hallstrom chose a sheath dress of light blue velveteen with light blue and black accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses and white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is presently employed by Boyd Holcomb and Associates in this city. Mr. Hallstrom attend Lincoln high school also.

Relatives and friends from Fargo, St. Paul, Red Lake Falls, Warren, Viking, Minneapolis, St. Hilaire and Plummer attended the wedding.

Super-roads Are Safer, Says AAA

Reports Them Much Safer Than Ordinary Highways

The growing mileage of America's expressways is piling up a highly favorable traffic safety record, E. Ray Cory, president of the Minnesota AAA, reported today.

Generally, the freeways and expressways, despite the higher speed limits permitted, are twice as safe as streets in metropolitan and rural areas and three times safer than ordinary highways, Cory said.

"The super-safety of limited access routes was highlighted on the Memorial Day holidays last year," he added. "The nation's 16 major turnpikes handled 5,000,000 vehicles — without one fatality."

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has made some surprising comparisons between old style roads and modern highways. The greatest disparity was on routes leading south out of Washington, D. C. It was found that old U. S. 1, with four lanes of undivided highway and no access control, had a fatality rate of 10.6 per 100 million vehicle miles. Nearby Shirley Highway, a modern expressway with controlled access, had a rate slightly under one fatality for each 100 million vehicle miles.

"The new road, on a vehicle mile basis, was over 10 times safer than the old route," the AAA official pointed out.

In California and Michigan before-and-after studies were made when an old road was replaced with a new limited access route. Invariably, these studies have shown marked reductions in accidents and fatalities.

For example, the Michigan study, covering about 150 miles of expressways, showed a 65 per cent decrease in the mileage fatality rate.

Economist Deplores Farm Crop Controls

Production control is not in keeping with the traditional belief in freedom of choice, a Canadian farm economist said Wednesday.

Sol Sinclair, head of the department of agricultural economics and farm management, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, spoke at the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

"North American farmers find it unsavory to be told that they will have to do something drastic to control output," Sinclair said. "It is in keeping with the traditional North American objective that a society should be productive if it wants to have a high material level of well being. Furthermore, production control is not in keeping with the traditional belief in freedom of choice."

Sinclair criticized suggestions by others, including W. W. Cochrane, University of Minnesota farm economist, that call for greater government control.

"I do not deny the responsibility of society to our farmers to create a climate wherein they can achieve the American dream," he said. "But farmers themselves have a very great responsibility in this as well. They must be realistic and recognize the fact that production per se, does not solve the problem in itself, rather, it aggravates it. Continuous disregard of this fact must inevitably lead to greater control by government if we insist on government bailing us out of our difficulties.

"It may very well lead to what your Professor Cochrane is suggesting: that our agriculture must be recognized and organized as a public utility and be treated as such under greater government control. Such action approaches too close to the Russian system. Do we want this in North America? I am sure your answer, like mine, is a positive 'No'.

"However, if we do not take the necessary action to prevent it, we can very well reach it in the next decade," Sinclair said.

He said situations that lie behind the farm problems of the United States and Canada can be summed up in the term "economic growth." The very technology which has increased productivity in agriculture, and has in turn improved the welfare of society generally, he said, has created difficulties for agriculture.

Sinclair cited two basic problems. First because the human stomach has a limited capacity the demand for farm products is relatively inelastic. Secondly as consumers' incomes rise they do not increase their food purchases proportionately.

READY for shipment are these four high speed separators produced in the Forsberg plant for General Foods in Battle Creek Mich. and the Campbell Soup company at Portage la Prairie, Manitoba. Julian Lendobeja left, and Les Kulseth right, chief engineer of the plant, inspect the finished separators. The locally produced machines are sold by 15 representatives in this country and by several in foreign countries.

ONE OF THE FIRST machines manufactured in Forsberg's Thief River Falls plant was the combine huller and cleaner pictured above. That was a quarter of a century ago and the factory was located in a garage building on Crocker Ave. But it was a good machine at that time and compared favorably with the products of competitors.

Busy F. Forsberg and Sons Plant Has Wide Market

farmer Forsberg and his sons built for themselves was not a great improvement over other machines in use at that time. But it was well made and did good work. It was sufficiently satisfactory for their own needs and they started doing a little cleaning for the neighbors. One satisfied neighbor told another and soon the Forsbergs were getting more requests for their cleaning service than one machine could handle. The result was that they started building more machines and in a few years they had six machines in service doing custom cleaning.

In 1928 they had arranged for the manufacture of their machines by the Link Manufacturing Co. of Portage La Prairie and were selling fanning mills as well as operating them. But their own farming operations were contributing less and less to their income and in 1932 they left the farm — and most of what they had put into it.

By that time they had discovered that there was a better market for seed cleaners south of the border than in Canada, and that a high tariff was an effective barrier to sales across the line. That is what induced Fred to move his family to Thief River Falls in 1933 to establish his business in this country. His first plant went into operation here in a garage on Crocker Ave., a building 20 feet wide and 40 feet long. There his first American-built machines were made and once again he started business as a seed cleaner.

The first American machine was a much improved model compared to the first machine built in Canada. The Forsbergs had years of experience behind them by that time and they knew the seed cleaning business. Their machine was no longer just a fanning mill. It now was a patented Grain Hulling and Cleaning Machine, the first Canadian patent having been issued in 1929, followed by several others. With good equipment and the know-how to operate it, Fred Forsberg had little difficulty in getting himself established in the seed cleaning business here.

He entered into a contract with Land O'Lakes, installing his machines in the old wool warehouse on Atlantic Ave. In 1935 Land O'Lakes bought the equipment and handled their own operation and in 1936 Mr. Forsberg built his own seed plant on the Great Northern tracks in back of the old Washington school. This business he sold to Peterson-Biddick in 1938. That was the end of his cleaning operations and from then on the Forsbergs devoted all of their time to the manufacturing business.

The original garage building was soon inadequate and additional floor space was secured by the addition of a lean-to. In 1936 a steel building was erected on the Crocker Ave. location. Still more room was soon needed and in 1940 the company moved into the first section of the large steel structure it now occupies on the Soo tracks, fronting on Conley Ave. at Hughes St. This was a two-story building 100 feet long and 40 feet wide. The steel building on the Crocker Ave. property was moved to the new location and in 1941 another section 100 feet long was added. The factory now is 326 feet long, including the storage building plus a stock room that was added along the west side, a part of which has been converted into a beautiful, completely modern office.

The father and sons partnership was incorporated in 1946 and Fred Forsberg, the founder, died in 1950 following a period of failing health and gradual retirement. The present organization is still a father-and-son operation, the only difference being that there now are two fathers as well as two sons. Clarence is president and his son, Gary, is vice president. Arthur Sr. is secretary and treasurer, and Arthur Jr. (Manny) is director and sales manager. Clarence and Arthur Sr still divide responsibilities as general managers and share some of these responsibilities with their sons.

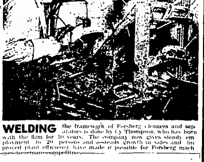
As sales manager "Manny" spends much of his time on the road, and as the field service man Gary is also away much of the time. Both of them fly the company-owned Stinson 4-place plane and much of their traveling is by air.

A fire in 1957 resulted in considerable damage to the plant but that is now looked back upon as an unfortunate experience that brought with it some good results. It did bring about some needed plant modernization and the replacement of old machinery with later, improved models.

The present products are protected from competition by five current patents. These patents cover four basic ideas pertaining to gravity separation, high speed stone separation, variable speed controls and chemical treatment processes. Patents have been applied for on a positive action screener and a pneumatic scalper. Rights under some of the older Canadian and American patents have expired. New ideas are in the experimental stage.

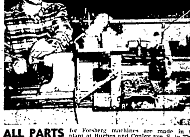
And experimentation is becoming more and more important in the Forsberg operation as success in solving one separation problem brings inquiries as to whether they can build a machine that will serve some other special separation need. To handle this type of experimental work the Forsbergs have now completed a laboratory mill that has the general appearance of one of the old Rube Goldberg cartoons.

Into this machine they have incorporated all they know about separation processes and by shifting the levers and pressing the right buttons they can put the material they are experimenting with through many different processes in a short time. From the results of these experiments they determine what must be built into a machine to serve the particular needs of the prospective buyer and it is proving to be a very effective device in the promotion of machine sales. As a result, the demand for custom-built machines is increasing.



Most of the operation however is devoted to the production of standard, well established and proven machines that can be produced on a volume basis. They have seven models of a popular gravity separator, and several standard models of stoners, treaters, hullers, scarifiers and screening machines.

At the present time the company is installing two plants of interest to the bean industry, one at Scott's Bluff, Nebraska, and the other at Frankenmouth, Michigan. Each plant is designed to process 1,000 bushels of beans an hour, doing a complete cleaning and separation job and making the beans ready for packaging. Hurst's of Indiana, one of the country's large bean packagers, gives assurance of quality to prospective buyers in a price list statement that their beans are "run through custom built Forsberg Cleaners."



Another experiment is being conducted for one of the large tobacco companies seeking a more effective way of removing stems, leaf butts, waste matters and sand from their product. A few weeks ago a company representative flew in to see a laboratory demonstration of what could be done to remove imperfect beans and impurities from samples of Brazilian grown coffee. This week "Manny" will be in Mexico to explain what Forsberg machines can do to solve the separation problems of both coffee and rice. The Forsbergs say that at least 75% of all the popcorn sold in this country, including all of the popular brands, is cleaned on their machines.

Forsberg machines are sold by 15 representatives in this country and by several foreign representatives. The machines are in operation in every state of the Union, throughout Canada and in many foreign countries. Two carloads of Forsberg machines were shipped to Russia in 1947, a part of an UNRRA purchase. For these machines there have been no orders for repair parts.

The company has enjoyed a steady growth in volume of sales over the years and improved plant efficiency has made it possible for it to remain competitive. The company now gives steady employment to 20, practically all of them heads of families. And the fathers and sons who give direction to this operation, are hopeful of continued future growth. Theirs is another factory that helps to bring stability to the Thief River Falls area.

WELDING the framework of Forsberg cleaners and separators is done by Cy Thompson, who has been with the firm for 10 years. The company now gives steady employment to 20 persons and a steady growth in sales and improved plant efficiency have made it possible for Forsberg machines to remain competitive.

ALL PARTS for Forsberg machines are made in the plant at Hughes and Conley ave. S. in Thief River Falls. De Hinden operates the lathe on the production line turning out precision parts. Seven models of a popular gravity separator and several standard models of stoners, treaters, hullers, scarifiers and screening machines are made at the Forsberg plant.

About 50 Minnesota flying farmers attended the Flying Farmer day held Thursday at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston.

The event got under way at noon with a pilots' meeting followed by an aviation forum in the Elks clubrooms at 2 p.m. Attendance at the forum was scheduled. A tour of the Winter Shows climaxed the afternoon activities.

Well over 200 flying farmers, area pilots, and state and local dignitaries are expected to attend the banquet in the Elks dining room in the evening, with Sheriff Soren "SCOTTY" personality as master of ceremonies at the group banquet which followed. Speaker of the evening was Mack Draper of Pine Island.

Heading the address by Piper, two northern Minnesotans were awarded honorary memberships in the Minnesota Flying Farmers. A. O. "Al" Myrold, former Crookston Daily Times publisher, was presented by Eugene Mills, president of the state Flying Farmers, while Delmar Hagen, manager-director of the Flying Farmers northern district, presented the award to V. M. "Mack" Draper, Pine Island pilot.

Both awards were made for service to rural transportation in the field of aviation; Myrold for his support of aviation while mayor of Crookston, and Draper for his efforts in behalf of aviation as state director of aeronautics and past commission chairman.

In his speech at the evening Piper, who flew to Crookston from Florida in a stirred Flying Farmer day, gave a short history of the Flying Farmers and pointed out that there are many ways they can economically make use of that and the largest population centers could expect to service.

The use of private airplanes in rural Minnesota is on the rise and there are over 600 private airtowns in the U.S. that have landing facilities, he said. The people think the demand for airline service will be increased greatly by using an airport when actually they themselves will be the ones using it, Piper declared.

Piper, who is the owner of the Piper Aircraft Corp., pointed out that the future of aviation depends on the people who own and operate planes.

Stan Nelson Tells of Cuban Education Job

Stanley Nelson, for many years identified with agricultural education, and in recent years director of the Area Vocational School here, has been in Cuba for several months on an educational school advisor, representing the United Farmers Foreign Service.

Following are portions of a letter to the Times in which Nelson tells of his activities and observations in Cuba.

Editor Times:

I've had some very interesting experiences since leaving Thief River Falls the first of November. I spent about 10 days in Washington, D.C., where I met with the Cuban Ambassador to the U.S. and other officials of the U.S. government. Then I went to Miami, Florida, where I met with the Cuban Minister of Education and other officials of the Cuban government. I then flew to Havana, Cuba, where I have been working with the Cuban Ministry of Education since the middle of November.

I am working with the Cuban Ministry of Education in the development of their agricultural education program. I have been working with the Director of Agricultural Education and his staff. I have also had the opportunity to work with the Minister of Education and his staff. I have been very impressed with the ability of the people I have been working with. They are very capable and conscientious.

I have also had the opportunity to work with the Director of Vocational Education and his staff. I have been very impressed with the ability of the people I have been working with. They are very capable and conscientious.

Following my conference with the Minister of Education and his staff, I was asked to prepare a report on the agricultural education program in Cuba. I have been working on this report for the past two weeks and have completed it. I am now waiting for the Minister of Education to study the report and make any changes he wishes. I will then be asked to present the report to the Cuban Cabinet. I will also be asked to present the report to the Cuban Congress.

Public Opinion

Editor, Times:

I would like to comment on an article in the Times concerning a fire in January 18th issue regarding the Thief River Falls fire department as discussed by Dr. Clayton Severson.

I am sure that the members of the fire department are quite glad to share the present and future needs of the fire department with the people in order to keep our present standards. I am sure that they will be glad to have the new fire truck recommended by Dr. Jones & Associates but I am sure that they will be equally glad to have a new fire hall.

Our local fire department already must regularly on the red, purple, and blue lines. This is not a question of fire hall, but one of source of state money. In order for Minnesota to receive maximum benefits from the Federal Government, we must have state money and this is the only way it can be done. The Murray Wetzel Bill, which is now in the Education specifically forbids any federal distribution. I am afraid if we don't get a good general fire hall bill passed this session we will continue to be losing many dollars of federal aid that we have received in the past. Now is the time and we should heard. It is all very well and good to talk about a new house this and, but can it be done?

This writer is not trying to cover up any letter for those interested in the present federal aid to education, I would like to refer them to the January issue of the Minnesota Education Association Journal, page 12 Pennsylvania Avenue S.E., Washington 3, D.C. entitled "Federal Support of Education" by F. J. Schlotfeldt and also like to suggest that you read Dr. James B. Conant's book "The American High School Today" which will seem like a bit to what our schools should be doing.

After reading the above and other articles on the subject, I suggest you study your local school system and see what you can do to help it. Write a letter to your local newspaper editor. This will cost money but it will be worth the price to get behind the source of this money and help it. Don't just sit back and say that it is a shame that our schools need help. If you can find any other source of money for our school board will be glad to hear of it. I know I would.

Many farmers have contacted me who are upset by the proposal of Mr. Farmer, an employee of the Minnesota conservation department, who proposes taking 10 acres of land out of every farm to provide for the needs of future generations. These farmers tell me this has been made good progress the last few years and that this land is needed for production to provide good crops on the land we have for farming practices presently used.

One of the problems facing all local units of government including school districts, townships, and municipalities is the tax base. Most of the state is in the form of unorganized territory. Some of the

Worthless Cures Beset Arthritics

Sufferers Victimized, Says State Medical Assn.

The pursuit for "long lasting relief" which simply does not exist costs American arthritis sufferers at least $250 million dollars, annually. This is the estimate of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, which says that arthritics are victimized by worthless nostrums and salves, gadgets, dangerous drugs, and quacks who claim to cure or offer lasting relief.

The Foundation estimated that 16 out of every 100 persons have some form of chronic which may be arthritis or allied pain, and in matters of treatment are inclined to clutch at straws. Many of these victims are women over 45 who have spent from $75 to $500 for "treatments" of the atomic age" arthritis quack who offers claims of cure or relief. Others have paid ask exposure to quantum energy machines, electronic devices, and "cures" which are based on "new discoveries" may cost as much as $1,000 and are usually business continues to boom by promising relief to those afflicted with arthritis.

The high cost of worthless "cures" for arthritis is estimated at more than one-fourth of the annual waste in excess of $10 billion.

Sullivans Going to State Meeting

Peter Sullivan, Grain Belt distributor in Thief River Falls and Mrs. Sullivan will leave some time this morning for Minneapolis where they will attend the Minnesota Brewing Co. sales organization at the convention to be held at Thief River Falls, on April 2 and 3, which will mark the first time the company has ever held a convention in Thief River Falls. In the proposal I will state the need for a larger and more smaller tax base. In Pennington county where we have only a small tax base we have had to borrow money to keep our schools under cultivation; if we are to maintain our tax at present. The soil bank has definitely cut back the income of farmers and has had a definite effect on the economy of this area. Agriculture is the backbone of our economy and any cutback in agriculture income definitely hurts all of us. Johnson, businessmen and farmers alike.

CO-INCIDENTALLY

The picture of an Ortonville 4-H'er which appeared in the today master gained wide attention when it was sent over the national wire. A former Ortonville 4-H'er now living in Minneapolis saw the picture and wrote a letter to the girl duby team from the county and to promptly send copy — A letter was sent to a Gromer cooking club member and a load of corn silage delivered at Buffalo Lake. Each of the 4-H'ers received $25.00 and a registered Holstein calf which he opened to find Ortonville 4-H'ers celebrating birthdays don't relieve Mrs. Jerry and cooked a birthday cake even cake baking. John Lee, who is 12 years old, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnson, Red Lake Falls, each demands an individual fully-candled cake for the occasion. And, of course, gets it.

Tips on Income Taxes

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

(This is the second in a series of articles on Income Tax made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Filing a Declaration of Estimated Tax

The Declaration of Estimated Income Tax, form 1040-ES is overlooked by many taxpayers who regularly file Federal returns. The purpose of this return is to put you on a pay-as-you-go basis as income is earned, where other the income you earn is not subject to withholding taxes or the withholding taxes are less than the net tax which you will have to pay upon filing your return.

While the failure to file this return will result in no penalties other than a 6 per cent interest charge on the underpayment of installments which you should have paid, it is to your advantage to file the return and pay your taxes on an installment basis so that you will not have a large amount of tax due at the time that you file your return.

In addition, the filing of this required return can protect you from incurring substantial underpayment interest charges where your income for the coming year results in an amount substantially larger than your income for the previous year.

Generally, an estimate must be filed if you expect to earn more than $100 in income not covered by withholding taxes. In addition, you must file this return if you are single and expect to earn more than $5,000 in 1960 or are married and expect to receive more than $10,000 in 1960.

If you are within the class of taxpayers required to file this return, your estimate is due not later than April 15, 1960 on form 1040-ES. With the return you must pay 25 per cent of the difference between your estimated tax and the amount you estimate will be withheld in 1960 by your employer. Similar quarterly payments are due on June 15, 1960, September 15, 1960 and January 15, 1961.

By filing this return and estimating your income to be the same or greater than the tax which you paid for the previous year you will avoid all potential liability for interest penalties under the provisions of this section. However, if you attempt to estimate your exact amount of tax for the coming year, and estimate incorrectly, you should file an estimate or amend your estimate on the date the next quarterly tax payment is due and pay your amended estimated taxes due over the remaining installment periods.

Farmers who earn at least two thirds of their gross income from farming have until January 15, 1961, to file their Declaration of Estimated 1960 Income Tax. At this time, the entire estimated income tax is due. However, if he prefers, a farmer may file his final 1960 income return by February 15, 1961, and pay his entire tax due at that time instead of filing an estimate on or before January 15, 1961.

Marshall Co. Court Term Opens Mar. 1

Many Auto Mishap Cases Await Jury's Attention

A busy term of district court for Marshall county will get under way in Warren Tuesday morning at 9:30 when the petit jury is scheduled to try 10 cases, according to Edwin K. Rokke, clerk of district court, following the call of the calendar last Tuesday.

Judge John T. Galarneault of Brainerd, one of six judges in the 9th judicial district, was in Warren Tuesday to officially open the term and set the dates for the trial of the civil calendar.

Most of the cases involve automobile mishaps, and if all cases go to trial the term could last for two weeks or more, Rokke indicated. The petit jurors have been ordered to report prior to 9:30 a.m. Tuesday so as to be registered for the start of the calendar.

The lone criminal action against Jack Sundby involving carnal knowledge was brought before Judge Paul A. Lundgren at Thief River Falls on Monday. Sundby pleaded guilty and is awaiting a pre-sentence investigation before sentence is pronounced.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Liming soil pays in east central Minnesota—and farmers are finding it out. According to Erick Williams, Mille Lacs county ASC chairman and Clayton Grabow, county agent, 4688 tons of agricultural lime was applied in 1959 on 155 farms. The farmers got $16,108 worth of cost sharing help. Grabow recommends, though, that soil needs to be tested before it gets lime.

Barley growers are urged to have their seed for spring planting tested for loose smut disease. Plant pathologist Karl Fezer at the University of Minnesota says a check now can avoid heavy crop losses. Yield losses from smut are about equal to per cent of seed infection. Samples for testing should be sent to the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, St. Paul 1, Minn. Also, send a $5 check for each sample. In 1959, loose smut cost Minnesota barley growers about $1.5 million.

You're right — it's getting warmer. And higher temperatures make water conservation more important thanever. Donald Baker, soil climatologist at the University of Minnesota, says Minnesota's average winter temperature is about 4 degrees above a century ago. Annual temperatures are up around two degrees. Yet, total precipitation has stayed the same. Higher temperatures mean faster evaporation. So conservation is more important to save moisture we do have.

Corn may be more profitable than oats as a companion crop for legumes, Ray Hauble, Scandia, felt it cost too much to establish legumes for turkey range by seeding in oats. Oats is a low value crop. Also, wind eroded the land severely from planting time until the crop was big enough for soil protection. So in August, 1959, he seeded alfalfa between rows spaced 80 inches apart. According to Clifton Halsey, area extension soils agent, the alfalfa was good in late fall. Hauble plans to repeat the practice this year.

A mixture of oats and rape makes a first-class temporary pasture for sheep, University of Minnesota research shows. Walter F. Wedin, USDA agronomist, and Robert M. Jordan, livestock scientist, found that such a pasture produced nearly $60 worth of lambs per acre. About a dozen lambs grazed each acre from June to late summer. Gains averaged 39 pounds per lamb daily, and 295.5 pounds total gain for the grazing season. The mixture had been seeded in mid-April at three bushels oats and six pounds of rape per acre. Made fine emergency grazing where a tough winter had killed off the alfalfa.

Terraces on slopes have meant better yields for Albert Struck, Big Stone county farmer. Charles Washburn, SCS worker at Ortonville, says the reason is that more moisture soaks into the ground on Struck's terraced fields.

Terraces in a sense resemble irrigation, according to Ward Wendt, cooperator in the Waseca soil conservation district. A two-inch rain on his farm last year reminded him of some irrigation he had recently seen out West. The rain fell in the evening and during the night. Wendt found water about eight inches deep, slowly moving out in the terrace channels. "That's the nearest thing to irrigation for soaking additional water into my sloping fields," Wendt says.

Prowler Sextet Loses in St. Paul

The luckless and injury-prone Prowlers, the Region Eight hockey champions, were defeated in the two games that they played in the Minnesota state high school hockey tournament in St. Paul, in a first round game on Thursday afternoon, the Prowlers, in a double overtime tilt, lost to a big and burly South St. Paul team, 3 to 2, in a bruising game. And on Friday afternoon, in a consolation round game, the Prowlers were defeated by a strong Minneapolis Washburn team, 4 to 3.

In their first round game, against South St. Paul, the Prowlers were within 33 seconds of posting a 2 to 1 win. At the 11:27 mark of the third period, the Packers, on a goal by Norm Anderson, evened the game at 2-all, to force overtime. The first eight-minute overtime period was scoreless, but at 0:19 of the second overtime period, Rich Brown, an all-state tournament selection, beat goalie Wayne Halvorson with a hard, low shot.

The Prowlers were without the services of their high-scoring and play-making center, Dale Wennberg, for most of the game. At 4:18 mark of the first period, Wennberg was checked by South St. Paul's 190-pound defenseman, Dave Metzen, and forced from the game. Metzen was given a charging penalty on the play.

Arlan Hjelle, with Eddie Holmes assisting, scored for the Prowlers at 6:08 mark of the first period, ramming the puck past goalie Gary McAlpine. The Prowlers held that 1 to 0 lead throughout the first and second periods and on into the third period when, at the 3:47 mark, the Packers' Doug Woog scored from close in as goalie Wayne Halvorson was attempting to cover the puck. The Prowlers broke the deadlock at the 4:58 mark when Jim Wegge, from five feet out, fired a shot past McAlpine to give the Prowlers a 2 to 1 lead.

Playing in the consolation game against Minneapolis Washburn on Friday afternoon, the Prowlers, with Dale Wennberg back in the lineup after an overnight stay in the hospital for observation, gained a 2 to 0 lead in the first period. The veteran Washburn team, on a pair of goals by John Simus, evened the game at 2 all in the second period. Eddie Holmes and Jim Wegge had given the Prowlers their 2 to 0 first period edge.

In the third period, Holmes, on a rebound, scored at 1:05 mark to give the Prowlers a one goal lead, 3 to 2. That lead was short-lived as Tom Gould, on a slap shot, beat Halvorson at the 1:36 mark to again knot the game; and at the 8:20 mark Simus, getting his third goal of the game, scored the game-winning tally.

Washburn was hard-pressed to hold off the ever trying Prowlers in the final seconds of the game when the locals, having a two-man advantage as Washburn's Earl Hacking and Russ Harden were given penalties.

The Prowlers sturdy and tireless defenseman, Archie Schneider, was honored by being named to the all-tournament squad.

Warren Defeats Prowlers 71-66

The Warren Ponies, although leading at all the period stops and having a 55 to 44 margin entering the opening minute of the fourth period, experienced some anxious moments before they registered a 71 to 66 win over the Prowlers in a district conference basketball game played at Warren on Friday night.

The game closed out the 1959-60 schedule for coach Hartley Story's Prowlers with the locals posting a season's record of twelve wins and six losses.

Friday night's game was marred by numerous fouls, with the officials whistling twenty-nine infractions against the Prowlers, not including a pair of technicals, and calling twenty-six fouls, and one technical, against the Ponies. Warren lost three players — Bill Gilbert, Terry Solberg, and Wayne Edgar — via the five-personals route, while the Prowlers lost Steve Embury on personals.

The Prowlers, playing without the services of center Ron Hanson, who is recovering from a siege of illness, and forward Ron Solheim, who had a touch of the flu, kept pace with the hustling Ponies until midway in the second period, when Earl Rogalla, Bill Gilbert and Terry Solberg sparked Warren into a 35 to 28 halftime lead.

Warren, with Solberg, Rogalla, and Edgar doing a fine job in controlling the boards, pulled away to a 51 to 44 lead in the third period, and when the stocky Edgar hit on a field goal and a pair of free throws to open the fourth period, coach Irv St. John's club held a 55 to 44 lead. And the Ponies, leading by a 62 to 49 score with less than five minutes of play, appeared enroute to a decisive win over the locals. But the Prowlers, with Gary Anderson scoring three field goal, and with Bob Pearson and Don Ulferts picking up some field goals and free throw points, sliced the Warren lead to four points, 65 to 61. During these hectic final minutes, the Warren attack, and defense was hampered considerably by the loss of Solberg, Gilbert, and Edgar. Howard Steiger's two free throw points, and Dan Carlson's field goal, on a hook shot into the west basket, provided the Ponies with their "insurance" points.

Both teams exhibited well balanced scoring,—with—each team having three players hitting in double figures. For the Prowlers, Bob Pearson netted 15 points, Don Ulferts scored 17 points, and Steve Embury collected 12 points. For the Ponies, Earl Rogalla notched 16 points, Wayne Edgar had 15 points, and Terry Solberg added 13 points.

INTERVIEW Archie Schneider, star Prowler defenseman who was named to the All State team for his tournament play, was one of the hockey team members interviewed by Don L. Olson during the welcoming ceremonies in the Lincoln high school gymnasium Sunday afternoon.

Wasn't that Wonderful?

Referring, of course, to the performance of the United States hockey team in winning the Olympic championship. The United States squad followed up their 2 to 1 defeat of Canada on Friday and their 3 to 2 win over Russia on Saturday by scoring a 9 to 4 win over the Czechs on Sunday morning. That was the win that clinched the title and earned gold medals for the boys.

The state of Minnesota, and the northern part in particular, can feel proud of this championship, for a number of the boys gained their hockey training here. Vital factors in the play of the American club were Roger and Bill Christian of Warroad, John Mayasich of Eveleth, and Tom Williams of Duluth. All of these players have performed before local fans here. The Christians were with the Warroad Warriors in their high school days; Mayasich played here with Cliff Thompson's Eveleth teams and Williams was a member of the Duluth Midgets that won the state title here in 1955.

Sub-district Tournament

Sub-district basketball tournament play for district 31 will begin on Tuesday, March 1, at Fisher. The tourney will continue on Wednesday, and will be concluded on Thursday, March 3. The sub-district winner, the runner-up, and the sub-district consolation winner will gain berths in the district tournament at Grand Forks on March 7 8 9.

Tuesday night's schedule at Fisher will find coach Curly Gasperlin's Goodridge Huskies meeting the Alvarado Indians at 7:30 p.m. At 9:00 p.m. the Fisher Flyers will play Oslo. Wednesday night's slate will pit the Plummer Cardinals against the winner of the Goodridge vs. Alvarado tilt at 7:30 p.m., while at 9:00 p.m. the Red Lake Falls Eagles will play the winner of the Fisher vs Oslo game. The tournament will conclude on Thursday with the consolation game being billed for 7:30 p.m. and the championship contest at 9:00 p.m.

The Red Lake Falls Eagles have been installed as the tournament favorite. The Eagles, in Polar conference play against Plummer, Goodridge, Fisher, Oslo, and Alvarado, posted an eight wins and one loss record.

End of a Streak

When coach Irv St. Johnson's Warren Ponies defeated the Prowlers, 71 to 66, in a basketball game played at Warren on Friday night, it marked the first time since December of 1949 that the Ponies had scored a cage win over the blue-and-gold. The streak had to end sometime.

Since that December night in 1949 when the veteran Ponies, co-captained by guard Dick Palmer and forward Bob Crow, scored a 40 to 34 win over the Prowlers in a game played here, the locals had marked up eighteen consecutive wins over the Warren cagers. That Warren team went on to win the District 31 championship, and reach the finals of the Region Eight tourney. Along with Palmer and Crow, the Ponies had Bob Howe at forward, Jim Tollefson at center, and Cheese Hedquist and John Poolman, guards. Poolman was killed in action in the Korean war.

And that's a pretty strong outfit that coach Irv St John has molded together at Warren this season, and the Ponies deserved their win over the Prowlers. While it is a fact that the Prowlers were hurt—plenty—by the absence of 6 foot 7-inch Ron Hanson and 6-foot 3 inch Ron Solheim, the Warren club played a hustling brand of ball and are capable of defeating any team in the district.

Congratulations to Mark and Don

And to coach Chuck DeCorsey, too. Mark Maldment and Don Hill, two of the Prowlers who competed in the Region Eight wrestling tourney at Park Rapids on Friday, won the championships of their respective classes. Mark won the 106 lb. title, and Don won the 175 lb. championship.

The two wrestlers will compete in the state tournament at Mankato this week.

V.F.W. Midget Tourney

The Thief River Falls Midgets will join teams from St. Paul, Grand Forks, Owatonna, Roseau, South St. Paul, Crookston, and Grand Rapids in the invitational Midget hockey tournament to be played here on March 5 and 6.

The local V.F.W. post is sponsoring the two day tournament. The first round of play starting at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, will find the locals meeting the Belvedere Hawks of St. Paul at 9:00 a.m. At 10:00 a.m. Grand Forks will play Owatonna, at 11:00 a.m. the Roseau Midgets will play South St. Paul, and at 1:00 p.m. the Crookston Midgets will play Grand Rapids.

The consolation round games will be played on Saturday afternoon. The championship round semi finals will be played on Saturday night, and the championship finals at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Leonard Moe, Grygla Given Conservation Award on Wednesday

Leonard Moe, young Grygla farmer Wednesday was named the soil conservation Farmer of the Year for the Marshall Beltrami soil conservation district. The award is given annually by the Minneapolis Star and Tribune to farmers in soil conservation districts who do an outstanding job. It was presented at the annual meeting of the Marshall Beltrami soil conservation district by Oliver Howland, who presided at the meeting.

"Leonard and Mrs. Moe have done an outstanding job of remaking an unproductive farm into a model soil conservation farm," Howland said. "Their hard work and intelligent planning is a credit to themselves, the Grygla community and Marshall-Beltrami Soil Conservation district."

The Moes took over their present farm shortly after getting married in 1956. 1956 was a very wet year in the Grygla area and the Moes experienced a rather disastrous crop year. Accordingly Leonard contacted John McMartin, USDA soil conservation technician, to assist in planning a drainage and cropping system which would make a farm out of the land he owned.

A large outlet ditch was first established through his farm. Later an old driveway ditch which stood full of water was reconstructed and shaped so that it could be maintained and an outlet was constructed into the new ditch. Numerous field laterals extended out from these two main ditches. These laterals were made as wide and deep as possible so that field operations could go right through them.

Recognizing that drainage depended on the condition of the soil as well as good drainage ditches Leonard established a crop rotation consisting of two years of hay and two years of grain. The hay will consist of alfalfa and brome, which will supply him with enough hay to feed his dairy cattle and sheep; and will make the soil porous so that water will drain into the soil rather than standing on the surface. Leonard still has some pretty brushy pasture, but that brush will shortly be cleared and a system of rotation pastures will be set up.

The farmstead windbreak was scraggly, small, and of poor quality. Accordingly Leonard planted two rows of willows and two rows of spruce around the present windbreak. He plans to clean up the old windbreak by removing the poor trees and interplant with more desireable trees when the new windbreak gets of such size that it will offer some protection.

Leonard has almost completely rebuilt the buildings on the farm in the short time he been there. An old barn was torn down and two long, low, shed-type barns were built to house his dairy cattle and hogs. These buildings are built of home sawed lumber and though inexpensive are very serviceable and adaptable to any possible change in farm enterprise. The granary has been added too attesting to the increased productivity of the farm. The house also has been improved by adding a couple of new rooms.

The wildlife aspect of the farm has not been forgotten either. Leonard feels that the best thing he can do for wildlife in this area is to improve the productivity of his farm through drainage, fertilizers and good management of his crops and pastures. In addition he has set aside a peat slough for the exclusive use of wildlife. He has also seeded down the main ditches to grasses and will delay mowing these ditches until the ground nesting birds have left their nests.

Former Marshall Agent Gets Post

Erling M. Weiberg Named State Watershed Worker

Erling M. Weiberg, former agricultural agent in Marshall county, has been named watershed conservationist for the Minnesota State Soil Conservation committee.

According to Matt A. Thorfinnson, executive-secretary of the committee, Weiberg will work closely with local watersheds to aid them in all stages of development.

Weiberg's office will be in the soils building on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus.

He is a native of Crookston and is a 1950 graduate of the University of Minnesota. He was agricultural agent in Marshall county from October, 1954 to September, 1957, then did graduate work in resource management at Michigan State university and the University of Michigan.

He served in the U. S. Army in World War II and during the Korean conflict. He is married and has two children.

A watershed is a unit with which public agencies can coordinate water management activities. Objectives of watershed management are to reduce water runoff and water damage through erosion and flooding and to get the most good from water while it's on the land's surface.

State Rail Body Cites Threat to Railroad Service

Minnesota is threatened with loss of all passenger train service within the next five years, the state railroad and warehouse commission warned Wednesday.

In a letter to Minnesota congressmen the commission said action was necessary to fight the elimination of mail transport from all trains within a 200-300 mile radius of metropolitan centers.

The commission pointed out that the system of substituting trucks for mail service already had led to abandonment of some trains because "mail revenue makes the difference between keeping and losing" trains.

Engineer Speaks at Winter Shows on Flood Control

Col. Desloge Brown of U. S. Army Engineers Describes Procedure

Most important flood control measure in the Red River Valley is the improvement of the water carrying capacity of streams—a step that provides an outlet for water collected by farm drains and county ditches, an Army engineer said today.

Col. Desloge Brown, district engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Paul, spoke at the Water Resources Forum held last week in conjunction with the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston. He mentioned two other flood control measures in use in the Valley: holding water in upstream reservoirs and protection of specific areas by levees and flood walls. These measures, and channel improvement, he said are used either singly or in combinations.

Col. Brown reviewed the steps in federal flood control projects. They originate with a study made by the Corps of Engineers at the request of Congress, he said. This study develops a plan of improvement with its cost, and compares the cost with the benefits of the project. A report is then submitted through the chief of engineers to Congress.

Local interests must provide all lands and rights-of-way, Col. Brown said, and agree to maintain and operate the completed improvements and make any necessary highway and utility relocations. In certain cases, he said, there may be a cash contribution required based on benefits other than flood control.

After a favorable report by the Corps of Engineers, Congress must specifically authorize the project, and, by separate legislation, appropriate funds for its construction.

Editorials . . .

"Down deep in our hearts we know how to cope with inflation, how to assure our security, how to overcome all the other dilemmas that beset us. We know that it requires self-discipline and the subordination of personal interest to the national interest. We know that it means universal self-sacrifice. Have we lost the strength of character to do this? Have we grown so apathetic that we will not rouse ourselves before some terrible tragedy overwhelms us? In time of peril, apathy is the unforgivable sin, the irredeemable error." —Bernard Baruch

High Cost of Government

County commissioners of Nicollet county recently defeated a motion to eliminate the personal property tax on household goods, and that probably was in the best interests of the taxpayers of Nicollet county. There has been raised a great hue and cry about the unfairness of the tax on household goods and the high cost of collecting it. But it probably is just as fair as any other tax, and by relieving those who contribute to the cost of government by paying this tax we would shift this burden to other taxpayers who might have just as much reason to complain about their already heavy burden.

Much of the appeal for the abolition of all personal property taxes comes from the advocates of a general sales tax. They urge the adoption of the sales tax as a replacement tax to be used in part to reimburse local units of government for the loss of revenue by the repeal of the personal property tax. We think they are a little dishonest in this approach. We may get a general sales tax, but when it comes it will not come as a replacement tax. It will be another tax, brought upon us by the spenders.

No tax is popular among those who pay it—and are aware of the fact that they are paying it. But a very large portion of the taxes we pay are hidden. They are included in the price of the things we buy. Most of the taxes, for instance, that are imposed upon business are necessarily handled as any other cost of doing business and included in the selling price of the goods or services that are sold.

Corporation stocks haven't become less desirable from the standpoint of investors because Uncle Sam reaches in and takes one-half of the profits as his share under the provisions of the income tax law. But that tax, like all other taxes the corporation pays, along with the cost of materials and labor, are all wrapped up into the cost of doing business and added to the price the consumer pays. In this tax picture business serves largely as a collection agency for the government and much of what the government now collects by the income tax actually is paid by the consumers as a sales tax.

And anyone who has had any experience in the problems of business administration, large or small, knows that it cannot be otherwise.

So most of the talk we hear about tax reform and tax relief is double-talk. The advocates of change seldom are interested in the basic problems. They just want to move the pieces back and forth on the board. And when they are through they actually haven't changed anything. The good people of Russia pay little in taxes. And they pay little rent. Medical costs are low. Students get paid for going to school. But clothing and groceries are costly and when they are paid for the average worker has nothing left for a down payment on a television set, a refrigerator or an automobile.

Here, as in Soviet Russia, we are suffering more and more from the high cost of government, and more and more we are paying that high cost of government, not directly by taxation, but indirectly as we purchase the necessities of life.

So far, as far as we know, here in Minnesota, the 1960 political campaign has not produced one statesman who has indicated any interest in the possibility that the high cost of government might be reduced.

Helping Themselves

President Eisenhower is being well received in South America, and as he nears the end of his journey there is a lessening of fear of radical demonstrations. His travels have proven that he is personally popular throughout the world, and that may be marked down as a very great national asset in this cold-war period. Confidence in our President builds up confidence in our country, and it is better to be trusted than feared.

There probably is justification for a suspicion that some of the friendliness exhibited by our neighbors may be prompted by selfish hopes for assistance. Our country has come to be looked upon as the home of Santa Claus, and to many of the neighbors, no doubt, the President symbolizes jolly old St. Nicholas who is always a welcome guest everywhere. That is understandable.

But there is reason to believe too that South American countries are now making an earnest effort to help themselves. They have learned that printing press money and inflation do not bring prosperity, and there is evidence of a better understanding of the importance of a solvent government and a stable currency. Commenting on this change of attitude, The Christian Science Monitor states:

"Two of the four nations Mr. Eisenhower is visiting merit his highest praise, for they are wrestling in earnest with inflation—an enterprise close to his heart. Chile has achieved relative economic stability and prosperity under President Alessandri. Argentina is living under a tough and effective austerity program initiated by President Frondizi.

"Brazil, with a 52 per cent inflation in the last year, has not yet mastered the forces that are limiting its spectacular economic growth. Uruguay is seeking a solution to wage pressures and a route to more diversification.

"As can be seen, these four major Latin nations are logical partners in the search for stability with growth. So are many of their neighbors. Newly redemocratized Venezuela and Colombia are moving in this direction and deserve high praise from Mr. Eisenhower even if they are out of reach of his current trip.

"Thanks to the policy changes Mr. Eisenhower is now explaining, the interests of the Latin republics and their big Yankee neighbor are closer to coinciding than they have been in many years. Stability, with growth, is becoming recognized as a mutual aim."

Texas rice growers have discovered that with early seeding from airplanes and with an extra jolt of fertilizer they can grow two crops a year, another way of making their tight acreage controls ineffective. The rice growers have proven themselves to be an ingenius people. Maybe they are smart enough to take charge of their own production and marketing controls, relieving the government and the taxpayers of this responsibility.

Reports from Washington indicate a surprisingly moderate trend in the spending demands of the President's loyal opposition. The lunatic fringe is still wild but there now seems to be hope for less politics and more statesmanship than was earlier expected in this campaign year. Let us hope that this hope is not just wishful thinking.

The Chicago Tribune reports that a regularly scheduled ship service between Chicago and the Orient will be in operation this summer. A Greek-owned line will operate six freighters in this service. The Tribune states that Japanese shipping firms also are considering service to Chicago and other Great Lakes ports. Is this a frightening prospect? Not when we consider that the ships that are loaded when they arrive will also be loaded when they leave. For some this will mean more competition. For others, a better market.

Keeping It Humming

The Trainman News, official publication of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, sees trouble ahead for our economy unless we get busy right away and do a lot more pump-priming. The following editorial, published in the current issue of the magazine, sets forth with amazing frankness the thinking of those who believe that the solution for inflation is more inflation, and that the proper way to bring about more inflation is more and larger doses of the poison that already has given us a 48-cent dollar. Here is how the Trainman News looks upon our future and what should be done about:

"All is not well on the economic horizon, in the opinion of the AFL-CIO.

"In fact, the Executive Council of the labor federation forecasts a downturn in the present economic boom around July of this year and unless a "bold, dynamic program" is adopted, there could be dark days ahead in 1961.

"The downturn next year could even be more severe than the recessions of 1953-54 and 1957-58, the AFL-CIO points out.

"Increased federal spending for schools, hospitals, community facilities and housing is needed to keep the economy thriving, the federation says. Furthermore, the minimum wage must be upped from $1 an hour to $1.25 an hour; salaries and wages must be increased; taxes must be revised to give a break to low and middle-income groups; interest rates should be lowered—all these steps are needed to ward off another recession.

"Furthermore, a 'detailed shelf of public works programs' should be set up immediately—ready to use at the first sign of a recession, says the Executive Council.

"Approximately seven and one-half million more workers in the nation should be brought under coverage of the minimum wage law without delay.

"And the $1 minimum should be cast out the window and replaced with a $1.25 minimum without more procrastination. Congress has held off on this action long enough.

"There is no reason for another recession in this great nation.

"Enactment of the 'bold, dynamic program' proposed by the AFL-CIO can help immeasurably to keep the country humming on all fronts."

About the only thing we can agree with in the above editorial is the opening statement to the effect that "All is not well on the economic horizon." All of the recommended program for meeting the coming trouble is wrong as we see it, and would serve only to further delay a return to sound practices in the management of our economy that are essential to its recovery.

It is encouraging to know that the officials of the AFL-CIO now realize that there is trouble ahead. We are satisfied that among the rank and file of the members of this great labor organization there is a strong undercurrent of opposition to more inflation, and a realization that the program advocated by the AFL-CIO follows the general pattern of the course that led to the bankruptcy of many governments throughout the world in our time.

We should know from observation that the progress down that primrose path to destruction is not unpleasant. As we move along toward our downfall we enjoy many pleasant sensations. We handle many more dollars and do not become immediately aware of the fact that as the printing press dollars increase in numbers they decrease in value.

The farther we proceed on this course the more difficult is the return to sound practices. Getting back to the higher levels from which we descended becomes a long and tiring climb. The sooner we start back the easier the return will be.

IT'S PREDICTED THAT the new economy cars of the major American manufacturers and the economy lines of domestic and foreign makes, which scored impressive sales records last year, will be bought by many families as a second car. The trend to two cars for a family will also be boosted substantially by the large supply of trade-ins resulting from the expected high volume of new-car sales. As of early 1959, the ratio of families owning more than one car had grown to 12 in 100, from 10 in 100 a year earlier . . . Inflation may go to your head, but it goes to my feet. Shoe trees, in case you haven't noticed, cost more today than shoes cost 10 years ago.

SPEAKING OF MONEY: It costs a lot of money to provide a job in Minnesota's taconite industry. About 5,000 people are at work in this new industry, and about $500 million has been spent to build it. That works out to about $100,000 invested for each person working. Taconite is difficult and expensive to process. Years of research, wise legislation, and continued government support have made this industry possible. But 5,000 taconite jobs make all the effort worthwhile to the people of Minnesota.

GENERAL MOTORS' DIESEL Division is fleet-testing a three-cylinder, 97-horsepower engine as an operational taxi. The division predicts that five years from now 20 per cent of America's cabs will be using diesel fuel. Rising gasoline and repair costs will cause the change-over . . . An airline stewardess was asked the other day if she has noticed any difference in jet passengers. "I treat them all alike," she admitted, "except for those who didn't take out flight insurance—I make stronger martinis."

Building Fund of Valley Home Totals $92

Bids on New Home to Be Sought When Loan Is Approved

Pledges to the Valley Christian Home building fund during 1959 of $54,643.90 brought the fund total up to $92,118.90, it was reported during the group's annual meeting Monday evening, Feb 29, by Waldie Christiansen, chairman of the society.

The chairman reported that lots in the southwestern section of the city had been purchased for $8,062.04 and that other property was also available if wanted.

An application to the Federal Housing Administration for a loan to complete the financing of the new home was made Jan 12, 1960, and FHA approval is expected within 30 days. Bids will be called for as soon as the approval has been granted. The home would cost about $400,000, it is estimated.

In another report, a net surplus of $23,622.71 in the Valley Christian Home fund was noted and it was reported by Rev. Alferd N. Larson that a new furnace for the present home or extensive repairs to the old one will be necessary for next winter.

All six members of the board of directors whose terms expired Feb. 29 were re-elected at the meeting. Renamed to the board were Carl Johnson, C. G. Peterson, Earl Ripley, George A. Belto, Don Thyren and Rufus Olson.

Appointment of crew leaders for the 1960 census of population and housing in this area was announced today by Supervisor Chauncey M Carlson of the Census Bureau's temporary district office in Crookston. Mrs Henry J Bothman has been named crew leader for Pennington county.

Each crew leader will supervise about 20 enumerators in the big nationwide census which begins April 1. Crew leader training will begin on March 7 for rural crew leaders while their city counterparts will start training on March 14. Topics to be covered in the training sessions include procedures for recruiting of census takers and how to train them, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the supervision of census takers to insure a complete and accurate count.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the 1960 census. It is his or her responsibility to recruit and train the census takers; plan and allocate work assignments, review the work of the census takers and take remedial action where necessary, and to handle problems of difficult enumeration.

3-county Beet Development Group Elects

Four Named to Board at Annual Meeting in TRF Wednesday

The district court room in the court house in this city was filled virtually to capacity Wednesday afternoon for the annual meeting of the Tri-county Sugar Beet Development association. Harry Oen, president, conducted the meeting, assisted by J. M. Roche, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Archie Wilson, Pennington county; Clarence Lian, Gatzke, Marshall county; Clarence Vatthauer, Red Lake Falls; and Calvin Knolling, Gully, Clearwater county.

At the organization meeting of the board, Harry Oen was re-elected president, with Donald Lykken of Red Lake Falls as vice president. Ken Onken was named to succeed J. M. Roche as secretary-treasurer.

Addressing the group was E. M. Gregory of Fargo, industrial and agricultural development agent for the Great Northern Railway, who substituted for C. Einar Johnson, president of the Minnesota-North Dakota Sugar Beet association.

Gregory urged the area growers to continue their campaign for an increased beet acreage. He also reported that at a meeting of the Western Beet Growers assn. with the Red River Valley group in Fargo February 22, it had been decided to seek legislation giving the domestic growers the right to supply 100 per cent of the annual increase in demand for sugar.

Also speaking was George Campbell of Crookston, member of the seven-man Duluth port authority. He told how the $10,000,000 in funds made available for development of the port had been spent on improved facilities, stating that accommodations are provided for four ocean-going ships to dock at one time. The port, he said, has a minimum depth of 30 feet.

He cited the huge saving in freight costs on export shipments thru Duluth and the St. Lawrence Waterway, and told of the tremendous increase in exports of grain thru Duluth in 1959 compared to the previous year. There also has been a good volume of general cargo, he said, although it had not come up to expectations.

M. Augustine Is Reelected to LOL Board

Renamed at Annual District 17 Session in City Wednesday

Marlan Augustine of Thief River Falls was reelected to the Land O'Lakes board of directors at the annual meeting of district 17 of Land O'Lakes Creameries Wednesday in the city Auditorium.

Renamed as the alternate was M. B. Magnuson of Roseau and four of the five directors of the district board were also reelected. Named were Carl Krohn of Viking, Elmer Severson of Clearbrook, Edgar Rokke of Viking and Marlan Augustine of Thief River Falls. Ben Christianson of Greenbush was named to replace M. B. Magnuson of Roseau on the district board.

Principal speaker of the afternoon session was Frank D. Stone, Minneapolis, general manager of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc. Stone reviewed the 39 years of the cooperative and revealed that 1,382,000,000 pounds of butter had been sold during 1959 in comparison to 1,313,800,000 lbs. last year. Per capita butter consumption in the United States fell from 18 pounds before World War II to eight pounds at present and would have fallen much more without the advertising and sales promotion of dairy products.

The largest margin of savings in the history of Land O'Lakes was registered during the past year, Stone said, and the largest number of units were handled. Savings fell just short of $4½ million during 1959 and are expected to be even greater this year.

Stone was followed by Carl Leaf, manager of the Land O'Lakes production division, who addressed the meeting on the subject of reducing costs in a competitive market. Leaf predicted the growing use of automation in the dairy industry as a means of necessary reduction of expenses. Production of drying plants has increased to 5,000 pounds an hour in some plants and others have also increased production with less labor. He concluded with an explanation of the new area plan of operation in which savings brought about by area members will be passed back to them through increased profits.

Sessions were held during the morning beginning at 10:30 for Grade A milk producers, creamery operators and creamery board members and were followed by a noon lunch. The invocation for the afternoon session was given by Dr. Walter Pedersen, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, and Mayor Orin Green gave the welcoming address.

Miss Joy Goulet Becomes Bride of John Holm Feb. 27

Red carnations and white gladioli graced the altar of St. Bernard's Catholic church Saturday, Feb. 27, for the wedding of Miss Joy Marie Goulet and John Steven Holm, both of Minneapolis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Goulet of this city, while the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Margaret McGill of Cassadaga, Florida.

Rev. Keough Patnode officiated at the double ring ceremony at 10:30 a.m., with Miss Beverly Kleinvachter of this city at the organ. The church choir sang "Ave Maria," during the ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white silk taffeta, featuring a fitted bodice with a sabrina neckline, which flowed into a "v" at the back and long sleeves, which came to a point at the hand. The very bouffant skirt whirled from a "v" in front on a large hoop and the back was accented by tiny bows of silken taffeta. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses, and the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out. Her pearl earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Carol Goulet of Winnipeg, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by Miss Arlene Smith of Minneapolis, friend of the bride, as bridesmaid. Little Madonna Goulet, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants wore street length dresses of red velvet, featuring a fitted bodice with a cummerbund and a gathered skirt. Accenting their attire were white fur hats and muffs to match. Their pearl earrings were a gift of the bride.

The bridegroom was attended by James Westoff of Pittsburgh, his cousin, while Jim Hall of Minneapolis, a friend, served as groomsman. Ushers were Bobby Johnson of Minneapolis and Mark Bjorkman of this city. Michael Goulet, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. All gentlemen of the bridal party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and red carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Goulet chose a brown lace dress with matching accessories while Mrs. McGill was attired in a beige lace dress with accessories to match. Their corsages were of yellow roses and white carnations. Mrs. Josephine Goulet of this city, grandmother of the bride, was also presented with a corsage.

Approximately 125 relatives and friends attended the reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with red and white roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the serving table. Cutting the cake was Mrs. Harold Solle of Minneapolis, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lawrence Audette of Red Lake Falls, aunt of the bride. Waitresses were Pat Campbell of Minneapolis, Mrs. Mark Bjorkman of Thief River Falls, Cleo Hayes of Grand Forks and Betty Lou Magner of Minneapolis, all friends of the bride. The luncheon was served and prepared by the Guild of the church.

Others assisting were Janice Helgenset and Mrs. David Hanson of this city and Marilyn Odegaard of Minneapolis at the gift table with Vickie Goulet, sister of the bride, in charge of the guest book.

The members of the bridal party and immediate relatives and friends were entertained at dinner Friday evening at the Rex cafe by Mrs. McGill.

For going away the bride chose a black walking suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red and white roses. Upon their return from Duluth and area, Mr. and Mrs. Holm will make their home in Minneapolis at 6429 Pleasant av. S.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, class of 1957, and also attended the area vocational school. She is presently employed as a stenographer at F. W. Woolworth company in Minneapolis. Mr. Holm is a graduate of DeLand high school in Florida and is now a salesman and assisting manager of Powers in Minneapolis.

Relatives and friends from Winnipeg; Cassadaga, Fla., and Gainesville, Fla.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Minneapolis, Crookston, Red Lake Falls and area attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. James Westoff of Pittsburgh, Penn., spent the weekend in the city. Mr. Westoff served as an attendant at the wedding of Miss Joy Goulet to John Holm Saturday morning.

Girl Scouts Observe Their 48th Birthday During Week of Mar. 6

Girl Scout Week will be observed nation-wide beginning Sunday, March 6, through Saturday, March 12, to celebrate the 48th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Saturday, March 12, will be the Girl Scouts' 48th birthday and marks the date in 1912 when Juliette Gordon Lowe called together 12 girls to form the first Girl Scout troop in Savannah, Georgia.

The 1960 theme, "You Can Count on Her to be Prepared" which will be introduced during Girl Scout Week, will emphasize the ways in which Girl Scouting helps to prepare girls for their future roles as women in a complex and ever-changing world.

Girl Scout Sunday will be recognized March 6 during services in local churches. All Brownie and Girl Scouts are urged to attend church and to wear their uniforms if they have them.

There has been an increase of over 21 per cent of registered girls and adults in the Northwestern Minnesota Girl Scout Council during the past year, bringing the membership to over 1700. Counties included in the council are Pennington, Kittson, Clearwater, Marshall, Norman, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

Mrs. J. J. Womack of this city is area council president, while Mrs. R. J. Dryden is chairman of the Thief River Falls Girl Scout association.

Preparing for the future thru service to others at home, in their communities, their country and their world is the goal of almost three and a half million Girl Scouts aged 7 thru 17 years of age.

Girl Scout activities are geared to three age groups: girls from 7 to 9 are Brownies; from 10 thru 13 are Intermediates; and from 14 thru 17 are Senior Scouts. Each group has its own uniform, program and goals.

Thief River Falls troops will have displays of their program activities in the windows of local business places and everyone is encouraged to inspect them. The Girl Scouts are also permitted to wear their uniforms all week during Girl Scout Week.

Leaders are reminded that Girl Scout cookies may be obtained Friday at the residence of Mrs. C. E. Snyder at 1003 N. LaBree, and the scouts may start delivering them immediately.

W.C.T.U. NEWS NOTES

The February meeting was at the Mrs. B. D. Bjorkman home. The meeting was opened by our president, Mrs. Earle Ripley. Devotions were led by Elsie Koglin. A motion was carried that we place the book "Alcohol Problem Visualized" in the local high school library and in the Carnegie public library.

Mrs Ripley showed a flannel draw sheet, large terry cloth bib and cloth slippers for the Veteran's hospital in Fargo. A fund was started to buy cloth and make additional articles for the veterans in Fargo.

Miss Elsie Koglin reported on the last chapter of "Shadow Over America," by John D. Freeman. Liquor advertising is dangerous falsehood. It earns its profits by debasing the citizenry. Crime is up 55 per cent in five years. Mrs. Evenson gave the first chapter of "Really Living" by Andrew C. Ive, co-author. We should have prevention rather than cure and rehabilitation. Narcotics, Inc. is for the purpose of helping enlighten the young people.

Scientific basis for alcohol information states that out of 100 million adults in the U.S. there are only 35 million abstainers. There are more chronic alcoholics than T.B. patients.

The next meeting will be March 18. Mrs. Gjesfjeld will give chapter two of the book, "Really Living."

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor, Times:

The prairie pothole region in Minnesota and the Dakotas, the most important nesting area in the United States, at one time produced about 15 million ducks a year. Today it produces about 5 million. Drainage is mainly due to the difference.

Nature made the region ideal for the nesting of waterfowl. The region is dotted with many shallow depressions — potholes, sloughs and marshes.

We hear of the days when flights of ducks and geese darkened the sky. But no more do we see this. The main reason for this is drainage.

In the calculation of the value of further drainage, we must keep in mind two factors. First, since the most economically drainable land has been drained, any future drainage is likely to be more difficult and less rewarding. Second, with increasing demand and decreasing supply, the duck has become more valuable. Today the values of the duck don't express themselves with dollar signs. Instead of dollar signs they have placed recreational, social and cultural values which stands for the evaluation of this bird.

The government, realizing the importance of waterfowl, has taken steps in their protection by treaties with Mexico and Canada. These protective steps go to show the value of this resource, both economically and culturally.

The acquisition of wetlands has also brought about different feelings, especially among the farmers. Farming, we must realize, is one of the most important industries in the U.S. This means there must be a program that will not only satisfy the wetland backer, but also the farmer. To see this problem can only be solved by a coordinated program of land use and a better understanding of each others' problems.

I'm sure if this is done, the problem will soon diminish. But we must keep in our minds the importance of farms and farmers. William Jennings Bryan once wrote: "Burn down the cities and they will rise again as if by magic. But destroy our farms and the grass will grow on the streets of every city in the land."

Editor the Times:

I note that the townships are going to have their town meetings next week. There may be some roads in the townships in the Goodridge area that need improvement for school bus routes. It is my recommendation that residents of townships should make their desires known at the time of the annual town meeting on road matters.

In the late spring or summer the school board and myself are contacted by people wanting our help on township roads. We are glad to do what we can in this matter but have no legal authority. This is just a suggestion to those knowing of road problems in their township to express their opinion on these matters at the town meetings.

ASC Reports State Farmers Collect Most Grain Storage Funds

According to E J Person, state administrative officer with the Minnesota ASC Office, farmers are largest recipient of grain storage payments paid out for storing surplus commodities in the state of Minnesota. This is made possible because it is the present USDA policy that surplus commodities be stored as near to the point of production as possible.

This policy is implemented by making available loans at a low rate of interest to assist and encourage the building of storage facilities on the farm. Storage facility loans to farmers are available at 4 per cent interest payable in four annual installments.

As of January 1 1960 there was 58½ million bushels of all grains under reseal and extended reseal storage on farms in Minnesota This amount of storage will result in annual storage payments to farmers of nearly 10 million dollars. There is also considerable indirect benefit to farmers and the local community, such as insurance against crop failure, tax income, and added local employment.

On the same date there was approximately 58 million bushels of all CCC owned commodities stored in country warehouses in Minnesota. Storage payments made to these local warehouses would approximate 10 million dollars annually It is estimated that about 50 per cent of these local warehouses are cooperatively owned by local farmers who would benefit from the earnings. The storage of commodities in these local facilities is certainly a means of income to the whole community through increased employment, and taxable property.

Terminal storage of CCC owned commodities in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior as of the first of the year, amounted to about 60 million bushels. Commodities stored in this terminal space were produced in Minnesota and surrounding states and to some extent is short term storage pending disposal of the commodities through sale or export About 25 per cent of the terminal space occupied at the present time is cooperatively owned by farmers and they derive benefits from the earnings.

The above information should clean up some misconceptions as to where surplus commodities are stored and who receives the storage payments

Water Resources Stamp Due Apr. 19

Emphasizes Importance of Water Conservation

Supporters of the Pennington county soil conservation district and persons interested in commemorative stamps will be able to purchase a 4 cent water conservation postage stamp locally starting April 19, Don Lawrence, SCS farm planner, said today.

The stamp is being issued at Washington, D.C., on April 18 as a tribute to conservation farmers and their local soil conservation districts and watershed projects

"I'm sure that most everyone in Pennington county will want to buy these colorful and historical stamps when they go on sale," Lawrence said.

Those who are interested in "first-day cover," a souvenir envelope, can mail addressed envelopes plus a money order or certified check for the number of stamps required to the postmaster at Washington, D. C., who will place the water conservation stamp on the envelopes, cancel with a special cancellation mark used only on that day and at that place, and mail as addressed anywhere in the country.

New Nursing Home at Red Lake Falls Starts Operating

Hillcrest Nursing Home Recently Completed at Cost Totaling $210,000

Red Lake county's first home for the aged — the $210,000 Hillcrest Nursing Home — opened Tuesday at Red Lake Falls.

With the opening, according to Charles A. Benson, county welfare director who has guided the nursing home project thru to completion of construction, many of the county's elder residents, cared for outside the county, "will be returning home."

First patient scheduled to be admitted at 9 a.m Tuesday was Mrs. Anna Dupont, who will be coming from the St. Vincent Nursing Home in Crookston.

Room has been provided for 43 persons in 20 double rooms and three single rooms.

The $210,000 raised through a bond issue went not only for construction, which was listed as $185,000, but also for equipping and furnishing of the one-story structure.

The nursing home will be served by a staff of 15 or 20 when it is fully occupied The administrator is Mrs. Earl Jensen, formerly in charge of the Oakland Park nursing home here.

Farmers Urged to Study Grain Prices

May Be Able to Repay Loans and Earn Profit

With maturity dates approaching for a number of grains which are under price support in this area, A. E. Strandquist, manager of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, today reminded farmers that they should be alert to market prices that will enable them to redeem their grain at a profit.

Strandquist pointed out that under new legislation, effective first with last year's crops, so-called "equity" payments are no longer made in connection with the takeover of commodities pledged as collateral for price-support loans. For crops earlier than 1959, equity payments were made when the market price of a commodity under price-support loan was above the loan plus charges

While equity payments will not be made, producers may continue to obtain any equity they have in loan collateral by repaying the loan before maturity, thus regaining full ownership of the commodity for whatever disposition they may choose to make.

"Farmers who follow increases in local grain prices in this way are using the price-support program as it was intended," Mr. Strandquist said. "The price-support rate puts a floor under prices and offers price protection at harvest time. If prices rise to a point where farmers can sell on the open market and still repay their loans plus interest with a profit, it is better for them to do this rather than deliver their grain to the government, which already holds large stocks." Strandquist urges farmers to check with their ASC office if they have loans that might be redeemed profitably

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

(This is the third in a series of articles on Income Tax made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Personal Exemptions and Credits

You are entitled to a $600 deduction on your Federal income tax return for each exemption. If you are in an income bracket where you will have to pay a tax, this will result in a minimum reduction of your tax of $120.

The basic federal exemptions are those for the taxpayer and his spouse. You are entitled to one exemption each, plus an additional exemption of $600 for each of you who reaches the age of 65 during the taxable year or who is blind. The personal exemptions can be taken only once, however, so that you cannot increase the total amount of exemptions by filing separate Minnesota or federal returns.

All deductions for exemptions are based upon the happening of an event during the taxable year. Thus, subject to other rules determining dependency, exemptions can be claimed for children who are born at any time during the taxable year, for parents who live only a part of the taxable year, and for spouses you acquire by marriage or lose by death during a taxable year.

In addition to exemptions for you and your spouse, you may claim a $600 exemption for a relative who receives less than $600 gross income during a taxable year and who receives more than one-half of his support from you. Non-relatives can also constitute dependents which will entitle you to a dependency deduction where they satisfy the above described rules and when they live in your home.

A child who is under 19 or who is a student can be a dependent for which you will be entitled to an exemption, whether or not he earns in excess of $600 gross income, where you provide more than one-half of the actual cost of supporting the child. Under this provision, both you and the child are entitled to a $600 exemption for the child, but this $600 exemption cannot be claimed by you where the child is married and files a joint return with his or her spouse.

You may be able to claim an exemption for a person who otherwise qualifies as a dependent even though you contributed less than one-half of his support. This situation occurs where several persons contribute to the support of the dependent, and where the group does contribute more than one-half of the total support of the individual Under this rule, you must agree as a group which one person shall be entitled to the exemption and file Form 2120 to formally bind the group to this decision

In computing your state income tax you will be allowed credits against your tax rather than deductions from your income In general, state credits are allowed on the same basis as the Federal exemptions One significant difference is that the state credit must be apportioned by you, based upon the period during which the right to credit exists For example, you would be entitled to only one half the total credit where a child is born to you on July 1st Apportionment must also be made where marital status changes during the taxable year, where you became a resident of the state during the year or where you are claiming a credit for a dependent who died during the year

(This column, based on Minnesota and federal law, is written to inform, not to advise No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

74th World Day of Prayer Observed Here Friday, Mar. 4

Local Church Women to Sponsor Service at 2:30 in Community Church

The local observance of the World Day of Prayer one of 20,000 in the U.S. will bring together worshippers on Friday the day set aside to unite all Christians in a global bond of prayer.

Services will be held in the Community Methodist church Friday, March 4, under the sponsorship of the Council of Church Women of Thief River Falls

The United States observance is sponsored annually by United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of Churches Each year that national organization representing some 10 million women in the American churches, asks church women of a different country to prepare the service for the 24 hour prayer vigil which spans 145 countries on six continents.

The Women's Inter Church Council of Canada wrote the services for the 74th observance around the theme from I Corinthians 3:9, "Labourers Together With God"

Offerings, which are equally divided between home and foreign missions, aid agricultural workers in this country as well as Indian-Americans. Abroad, among other things, they help develop Christian leaders in the new African and Asian countries; provide new literates with reading materials; aid women students in 11 Asian Christian colleges; and set up pilot projects for village children.

Everyone is welcome.

By Eleanor Olson

In spite of the first really cold weather we've had in quite a while, I feel that winter must be nearly at an end and I keep wondering how I can hurry spring along a little bit Planning the garden helped me through February So, indeed, has the bird feeder in the back yard Bread crumbs, sunflower seeds and the suet I would have thrown away anyway have provided many hours of diversion for our two year old when the weather was just too cold to take her out

But the enthusiasm of my next door neighbor, who's set up a birdhouse workshop, has given my "spring minded" spirits a real lift And I'm thinking seriously of starting a building project of my own My neighbor is well armed with "Birdhouse," by P V Champion, from the Library. It's a small book, but full of plans for nearly every kind of bird house along with a chart of building specifications, the size of entrance and box, and whether the house should be finished naturally or painted There are other books and articles on birdhouse building at the library, too I brought home one with the easily misconstrued title "Boy Bird House Architecture," by Leon Baxter, which shows houses built by Mr. Baxter's manual training classes. (I presume these can be inhabited by both boy and girl birds.) I also brought home "Permanent Bird Houses," by Gladstone Califf.

If your knowledge of birds is limited to the fact that they wear feathers and fly and you'd like to know more, there are two other books in the Library which will make the learning process quite painless. Roger Tory Peterson's "A Field Guide to the Birds" is full of color plates which make identification of all species found east of the Rockies fairly simple. "Beginner's Guide to Attracting Birds," by Leon Hausman, is a fascinating little book on how and what to feed birds, with ideas for feeders that even the notably inept can put together.

Amusing and entertaining reading whether you are a bird watcher or not are these books with birds as subject matter. "Wild America," by Roger Tory Peterson, the author of the guide listed above, and an equally famous British colleague, James Fisher, is the record of a 30,000 mile journey around our continent to study birds. The things true birdwatchers will go thru to catch a glimpse of a bird defies description.

"Menaboni's Birds," filled with beautifully reproduced bird studies by Athos Menaboni, is accompanied by a light-hearted narrative by his wife, Sara. The tale of the pet macaw, totally without feathers, brought to them to be painted with feathers is only one of many funny things that happens to them. If you have time, read "Wings at My Window," by Ada Govan.

I am told that the horned lark, an absolutely sure sign of spring, is back. I haven't seen one and probably wouldn't recognize him if I did. But the little birds that fly up from the side of the road as you drive by may be larks, not snow buntings as you probably thought. And if the larks are here, can the robins and spring be far behind?

Hard work still represents the main essential of success in life.

Temperatures for the past 12 nights have been below zero with the early morning hours of Tuesday and Wednesday sharing the dubious honor of being the coldest with —13 readings. The coldest daytime reading was Wednesday when the mercury inched up to the 7 degree mark.

FOX HUNTING

pair of 'em is a big thrill for the boys who go to hunt them from the Plummer area Sunday. This trusty team of hounds was on quite a jaunt Sunday, starting near Knaka bridge at 4:30 p.m. Monday, ending a ten mile hunt for the pair at 4:30 a.m. Monday. The fox was last spotted running near Knaka bridge afternoons when the wolf was jumped. The chase was run, northwest until dark and resumed the next day, when the fox was spotted in the Plummer area near the Hilstrom farm. At this point, the wolf was tracked a short part of the way, but was lost in the timber.

The fox, a big one, was last seen in the north edge of the city where it turned south again. When finally found it was in a patch of wood, and Donald Bennett shot the fox, and was brought down by the dogs.

Others in the party were Plummer Peterson, Merlin Wedul and George Malecki. Nat Midwife

Hockey Activity

The Arena will surely be a busy place for hockey activity this week end. The local V.F.W. post is conducting the annual state Midget hockey tournament, on Saturday and Sunday, and the eight teams that have emerged victorious in the district tournaments will be here.

Among Thief River Falls Boosters, Crookston, and East Grand Forks, the tournament, which is now contingent, will be closed to the public. Only those who have purchased tickets for the Thief River Hawks from the Twin City area, and Owatonna, from Southern Minnesota.

With eleven games on the two-day schedule, hockey fans are assured of plenty of top flight hockey and the best Midget hockey will be played. And we can assure the fans that they will see some pounding and accumulation of skaters in the form of thumping through the scoreboard. The Midget hockey tournament played here in mid February of 1955 and we noted that the tournament games, and particularly as Duluth's Jim Williams, Jerry Bessler and Jerry Bessler, Bemidji's Doug Christian, Bob Bess, and Dave Wendell, St. Cloud's Jack Alexander, Dick Jodoin, Jim Purdy, and Jerry Lauzon, Minneapolis' Dick Kelly, Keith Lee, Fleming, Jim Wheeler, Duane Hoeller, Jerry Hoeller, Marion Harold, Vernon Dice, Howard Lee, Jerry Hoeller, and such former Bemidji players as Jerry Bessler, Doug Christian, Jerry Johnson, Jim Lee and Bruce Hanson.

Let's see, there's a number of these boys participated in state high school hockey tournaments, and we're sure that we've seen given all state tournament squad members. Of course, there were also a number of these players who were all-state tournament squad members. Of course, there were also a number of these players who were all-state tournament squad members.

Playing with the Lakers on a pair of former Thief River hockey players, Dennis Bulgrin and Dennis Bulgrin, former Thief River standout center for the Lakers in the Ontario-Minnesota loop. Farm Youngsters Are Healthier Than City Ones, Institute Says

If it's been your impression that farm children are healthier than city-bred youngsters, you're right.

The Health Insurance Institute reports that city children suffer more acute health conditions during the year than farm children, sometimes twice as many, and that rural children who do not live on farms fall somewhere in between the two.

The institute report was based on a U.S. National Health survey conducted between July, 1957 and June, 1958. The acute health conditions included everything from chicken pox and measles to appendicitis and broken legs.

The same pattern of all epidemics of acute conditions were found in the institute's study of strep throat, colds, influenza and tonsillitis, the institute suggested that the difference lies in the health records of city and farm children might be due in part to the fact that many city children have no regular physician.

Lack of medical attention in the acute health conditions included in the survey, permits more serious illness, more hospitalization and more time lost from school and work.

The institute's study also showed that for youngsters under age 25, city children had 17 acute conditions for every 100 children each year, as compared to 15 among farm children and 2.6 per person for farm youngsters.

During the year under study covered by the survey, persons under 25 years of age in the U.S. experienced 1,000 cases of acute health conditions causing either a loss of restricted activity or medical care. The acute health conditions averaged four such cases per person during the year, but a rate twice as large as the average among persons under five years of age. Persons between 15 and 24 years of age experienced 2.7 cases per person a year, said the Institute.

Children under the age of 15, the survey showed, were hospitalized at about the same rate for about 15 hospitalizations per 1000 persons a year for an average length of hospital stay of 5.6 days.

The financial impact of many of these more serious illnesses were absorbed by health insurance, said the Institute, which estimated that some 40 million children in the U.S. are now protected against the cost of ill health by health insurance.

Requests Early Income Tax Filing

District Director Asks Cooperation of Public

George Letbert, district director of internal revenue, St. Paul, indicated today that taxpayers are filing their returns at a slower rate than last year. He cautioned that taxpayers who desire refunds, if they all file during the last few days of April, will take longer to receive their refunds than last year. He said that the final filing date is 12:00 Sun than last year's date.

Letbert urged people to call the district director of internal revenue, St. Paul 1, Minn. Any checks for additional tax should be made payable to director of revenue Service.

Early filing of federal income tax returns enables each taxpayer to be more certain of his or her annual budget it helps the internal revenue service process the many thousands of tax returns more quickly, and it also assures prompt refunds if any. This is a form of taxpayer service which pleases taxpayers appreciates, said Letbert.

Drivers Urged to Be on Defensive

Traffic Safety Chief Advises Motorists

Remember to defend yourself against the bad driving of others" was the theme given by Mark Markham, chief of the highway patrol, when he addressed the Lions club Tuesday noon. He assured that Motor is "Defensive Driving" consists in the practice of "Blueprint for Safety."

This official Minnesota traffic accident prevention program is the result of a study of the causes of accidents by the Minnesota Safety Council. It is aimed at assessing Minnesotans with the ways of reducing traffic deaths through safety measures.

"Defensive driving means not only to drive safely yourself," Mr. Markham said, "it means being prepared for emergencies at all times; being alert to sudden changes of roadway or weather. It means compensating for errors of others. It means driving with courtesy, and it means the knowledge and observance of traffic regulations which are merely safety measures for the common good."

Editorials . . .

"The world of books is the most remarkable creation of man. Nothing else that he builds ever lasts. Monuments fall; nations perish; civilizations grow old and die out; and, after an era of darkness, new races build on others. But in the world of books are volumes that have seen this happen again and again, and yet live on, still young, still as fresh as the day they were written, still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead." —Clarence Day

Much Too Much

Governor Rockefeller of New York thinks the state should compel all property owners to build fallout shelters according to state specifications, and this is another idea that does not appeal to us. It is estimated that the shelters will cost from $60 to $500 each, but from our observation on building costs a person wouldn't get much of a hole in the ground with the most primitive of facilities for a family's needs over a period of several days, for less than several thousand dollars.

Our guess is that, with so little actual knowledge of what our problem would be if we were attacked, the money spent for shelters would be written off as a total loss. Our national civil defense program may have some merit but the operations up to this time are not impressive. We have no idea how much it costs but, whatever the figure, we are sure it is much too much.

Let's Take A New Look

One federal project that should be halted and given a thorough reexamination is the interstate highway program. It is becoming a national scandal and it would be well for Congress to have a thorough look-see at what is going on while there is still time to correct some of the obvious errors that are in the making.

The cost is now estimated at $40 billion, and this revised estimate probably is as unrealistic as was the first guess. The program has not proceeded according to the plan of pay-as-you-go that was used in the presentation. The financing has been badly mismanaged and there is an odor of irregularities that casts reasonable doubts as to the integrity of the directors.

This interstate system of highways was designed primarily to serve our defense needs. National defense was the thing that made it such an urgent matter. The original plans, as approved by the defense consultants, called for a clearance of 14 feet through the underpasses that were to be built every few miles. Now it is decided that a minimum of 16 feet is essential and so much that has been done must be done again, and the errors corrected.

This is typical of the blundering, and better that we slow down and reexamine the entire program before more billions are wasted.

Victory for Common Sense

The failure of Congress to override President Eisenhower's veto of the $900 million water pollution control bill was a victory for common sense and good government. The federal government is now on the verge of bankruptcy, going further into debt even in an era of comparative prosperity.

Those who believe the federal government should assume a share of the responsibility of keeping our streams and rivers pure may get considerable comfort out of the knowledge that Uncle Sam is already spending about $50 million a year helping the states control the dumping of waste and poisons into public waters.

Too many people seem to have the idea that our federal government has inexhaustable tax revenue and credit resources. And, unfortunately, too many of those who think this way have been elected to Congress.

Pass The Gravy

"The state government is skating on dangerously thin ice in its current fiscal operations," states the St. Paul Pioneer Press. "Not only is it paying bills with borrowed money at present, but the legal borrowing limits have nearly been reached for both the general revenue fund and the income tax school fund. Never in recent history has the credit situation been strained so far. In addition, payment of 2 million dollars of school aid has had to be delayed."

This condition is not a sudden development, and a person didn't need to be the seventh son of a seventh son to foresee its coming. It is a condition the state has brought upon itself through bad management. The solution for this result of bad management is good management.

It is not fair to place all of the blame for this mismanagement upon Governor Freeman. The legislature must also share in the responsibility. Nor can all of the blame be properly charged to the liberals. Some of the most effective advocates of big spending and irresponsible financing classified as conservatives. About the only merit the leaders of the Republican party of the state can claim is that their party has been a little less irresponsible than the opposition.

This condition has developed mainly because we have been spending more than we have collected in tax revenue. We have postponed the evil day of reckoning by various trick devices. Non-recurring sources of revenue permitted us to spend painlessly for the time being. Borrowing ourselves into a huge debt permitted us to indulge in a lavish spending spree that will be a burden for the taxpayers of tomorrow. But we have had the fun.

Maybe the condition will have to get still worse before the people of the state will realize the seriousness of the situation. There is no great concern at the present time about what lies ahead of us. The serious pinch will not be felt before the next election and so there probably will be no return to sanity at that time. There will be no pressure for better management and reduced spending. All of the pressure will be from groups that seek more of the gravy for themselves. And they probably will be successful—for a few more years.

Russia and the Three R's

A group of 64 American school superintendents who recently spent several weeks in Russia, came away with the feeling that while the Russian schools were doing a fair job of teaching the three R's, our schools are doing a better job of teaching our youngsters how to think. Speaking for the group at the recent school administrator's conference in Atlantic City was Rollin H. Upton of Olympia, Washington.

According to Upton, as reported by the Chicago Tribune, in Russia reading was taught systematically — first the alphabet, then phonics, then words, then sentences. Writing was introduced early and required in a fairly large amount. 'Rithmetic was presented formally with more emphasis on rules than in our country. On standards he said that "Grading is hard and immediate." On effectiveness, he was impressed with "a high degree of efficiency."

In discussing the Upton report, the Tribune made the following observations:

"What did Supt. Upton think of this? 'In America we are trying to develop people who can think,' he said complacently. 'In the Soviet Union they educate for conformity.' In Russia, schooling is old fashioned. The approach used there was discarded long ago in most schools in the United States, the touring 64 superintendents happily reported.

"In this country, it is respectable theory and practice to approach reading by way of recognizing whole words, treating the language as a series of complex ideographs as baffling as Chinese characters. Writing is an art not only lost in many a classroom, but not even looked for. Arithmetic is often introduced obliquely and in small doses, as children feel a need to count their change and learn to do it by counting milk bottle caps. Grading bruises the tender spirit, and is undemocratic. The total result? 'We try to develop people who can think'—and how ignorantly, how shallowly, how wrongly one need only contemplate specimens like Supt. Upton to perceive.

"There is nothing communistic about the schooling Supt. Upton describes and deplores. Learning facts and acquiring skills, deprecated by our anti-intellectual schoolmen, are the objectives of pupils throughout other continents. As Supt. Upton indicates, these used to be the goals set before elementary school children in the United States. An increasing number of us are resolved that they shall be again. They had better be."

Not That Easy

John Harriman, financial editor of the Boston Globe, notes that in the last six years the price level in Brazil has risen three and one-half times, in Chile ten times and in Bolivia 300 times. These nations have tried to improve their lot by increasing the number of paper and credit dollars, as some of the nations of Europe tried following both wars.

Senator Hubert Humphrey, and some of our labor leaders who advocate that kind of a program as a way to wealth, should be encouraged to visit the South American countries where the experiments are already well along. As a matter of fact our present 48-cent dollar should serve as convincing proof that paper and credit dollars can easily become a curse rather than a blessing.

If easy credit and printing press dollars were the answer for a nation's financial difficulties then South America would be a continent of wealthy countries. The way to wealth and prosperity is not that easy.

Just Hold The Line

(Hoard's Dairyman)

In all of the discussions on self-help dairy proposals, critics have attempted to make considerable hay out of the necessity of setting bases which would require a cutback in milk production. We have long held this untrue, and are pleased to report that an able dairy economist, Dr. Harlow W. Halverson, is of a like opinion.

In a recent address, Dr. Halverson said, "If we can hold present production for a couple of years, the growth in demand will eliminate the surplus at present prices."

Atoms for Allies

(Baltimore Evening Sun)

The remarkable feature of President Eisenhower's suggestion that we ought to share atomic weapons with some of our allies is the relatively small stir it has caused in this country. There are dissidents, no doubt, but they seem not nearly so vocal as they would have been a few years ago. This reaction reflects two things — a degree of sophistication in international affairs that didn't exist widely ten years ago and an awareness of the basic logic in the President's proposal.

State Men Meet with Watershed Backers

Matt Thorfinnson and Erling Weiberg were in Marshall county during the week of Feb. 20 to visit with the Mud River and Tamarac watershed steering committees at Grygla and Stephen, reports Fred Heck, Marshall county soil conservation agent.

Mr. Thorfinnson is executive secretary of the Soil Conservation committee. Weiberg was recently hired as state watershed conservationist and will have charge of advising and directing watershed development groups in Minnesota.

The purpose of the visit by the two men was to make a report to the state watershed priorities committee. On the basis of the facts gathered on each watershed project, the priorities committee then selects the eight most likely watershed areas. These eight are then reviewed very closely and four are selected for planning by watershed planning parties during the coming summer. Thorfinnson stated that there is a good possibility that two watersheds in the northwest area of Minnesota may be selected for planning this summer due to the large number of applications from northwest Minnesota.

Some things which have delayed projects from the priority committee have been:

Involvement of the Corps of Army Engineers — this delays all priority considerations until the Corps figures out all their concerns and costs.

An unpleased group within the watershed—if a group within the watershed is not pleased with the project, the priority committee shelves their application until such time as this group agrees with the project idea or changes are made in planning to suit them.

Areas less than 10,000 acres or areas where construction costs are under $100,000—it has been the experience of the state priorities committee that the relatively small projects or the ones under $100,000 in construction costs are unfavorable because of the high expense of planning involved. Many of the smaller projects can be worked out between neighbors as a neighborhood project.

Mr. Thorfinnson advised, "This is not a government handout program." The way it looks now, 80 per cent of the drainage costs will be borne by the landholders in this area. However, flood control structures and costs are borne 100 per cent by the federal government.

At the Grygla meeting, Delmar Hagen, who represents the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district stated, "Drainage on the Lost River project near Bagley will cost $11 an acre on good land. Of course, wouldn't most farmers gladly pay this so they wouldn't worry about losing one crop in three or more often than that? Some farmers spend $5 every year on land for fertilizer." Other agricultural lands in the Lost River project near Bagley are going to cost less than $6.50 per acre.

No costs can be known for either of Marshall county's proposed projects until a survey is made—one of the problems confronting the Mud and Lost River projects in Marshall and Beltrami counties is the high percentage of cropland in Soil Bank. Will farmers want to contribute to this plan when they're not actively farming in the area? An estimate gathered from the Marshall county ASC office shows approximately 41 per cent in soil bank.

A definite advantage to any proposed project is a high amount of active farmland being farmed with soil conserving practices. The government will not pay for any flood control work until at least half of the farmland above these structures or improvements is being farmed using these practices. Or, if at least 50 per cent of the farmers have a complete conservation farm plan with their local soil conservation district.

Both men advised the development groups that they should carry on an active program of education so that everyone in their area understands the watershed project completely.

This can be accomplished by having local coffee parties and explain to everyone in the area what is involved. The development groups must also encourage farmers in their area to install conservation practices on their farms in anticipation of watershed development, they said.

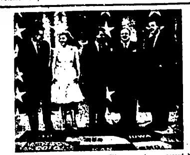
Farm-stored Grain Should Be Checked

Farmers Told to Be on Lookout for Insects

Farmers with grain stored on the farm and under price-support loan should inspect the grain in the near future, said Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. With warmer weather coming, insects will become more active and any moisture from leaks in the storage structures will cause damage.



Mr. Johnson recommended an inspection of farm-stored grain because the loan agreement requires the owner to maintain the quality as well as the amount of grain under loan.

Inspection of farm-stored grain should include checking these items: Insect infestation or activity; moisture leaks in walls and roofs; caking or accumulation of moisture in the top layer of grain; holes permitting birds or rodents to get to the grain; and any fire hazards, particularly if the building is made of wood. Drainage around grain storage structure should also be checked since ice and snow frequently interfere with natural drainage, Mr. Johnson added.

WAY BACK in 1960", a TV spectacular sponsored by Gamble Skogmo, Inc., is a television "first". Produced by David Susskind, it is the first regional "special" in this area. Gamble Stores Offer TV Program March 10

Leading television stations in 20 midwestern states will interrupt their regular schedules of network programs Thursday evening, March 10, for "Way Back in 1960," the first regional television "special." In most cities, the presentation will be scheduled from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. local time.

"Way Back in 1960" will star Herb Shriner, Jaye P. Morgan, Tom Poston and special guest star Dennis Day. The musical comedy revue is designed to preserve, in "time-capsule" form, a satiric picture of contemporary society in order that people in the year 2025 may know what life was like in 1960.

The program will be sponsored by Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., of Minneapolis, in behalf of the more than 2,300 Gamble stores.

Stan Pladson, manager of the local store, said, "All members of the local Gamble-Skogmo organization are planning to have a TV party at home that night." He also said he is planning to have his neighbors in for a little party, and he hopes every one of his people will be doing the same.

Since the Gamble stores blanket the midwest, but do not operate on either the eastern seaboard or the west coast, the television special will be seen in the 20-state area only.

In Thief River Falls, the program will be seen on Station WDAY-TV and KNOX-TV, Thursday, March 10, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., local time.

Federal Curbs Delay County Highway Jobs

The county highway departments of Minnesota are faced with the prospect of having some $6,000,000 available for road construction purposes but being unable to use this money because of restrictions imposed by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

This was revealed today by State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman following receipt of a report from J. M. Evans, state aid engineer, that scheduling of county federal aid secondary contracts has been completed up to the limit set by contract controls through June 30, 1960.

"We have no assurance," Zimmerman said, "that additional federal funds will be authorized for expenditure immediately following July 1 which would permit an early resumption of county federal aid secondary lettings. We join with the counties in hoping that the projects which must now be deferred can be authorized for lettings early in July so as to permit a major portion of the work to be constructed this year."

Zimmerman pointed out that $11,500,000 in county federal aid secondary projects was permitted to be placed under contract and eligible for federal reimbursement of federal aid during the current fiscal year which began July 1, 1959. All of this money has either been committed thru the letting of contracts or has been scheduled for use on future contracts. Except for a few isolated lettings which were specifically requested for a later date, the flow of county federal aid secondary lettings will then come to an abrupt halt on May 5th.

He said that without the federal restrictions the county federal aid secondary lettings would amount to a million dollars a week throughout May and June. The inability to do so this year will be felt very severely by the counties and by the road-building industry.

With the ending of the current fiscal year, the counties will find themselves with a balance of some three million dollars of their federal aid secondary allotments which they will be unable to use as they had planned. This would have permitted them to place an additional six million dollars of secondary highway construction under contract which must now await federal authorization for the next fiscal year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	18	1-5
Monday	Psalms	141	1-3
Tuesday	I Peter	5	5-7
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	Psalms	119	64-66
Friday	Psalms	61	1-4
Saturday	Matthew	6	9-13

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

Price Support Rates on ...n Are Annou...d

Farmers Who Seed Wheat in ... Are Given Noi...

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said today that the office had received price support rates on 1960 crops from the Commodity Credit Corporation. The rates are as follows:

Barley .... 77c per bushel
Flaxseed, No. 1 $2.38 per bushel
Oats .... 50c per bushel
Rye .... 90c per bushel

These rates are on a national basis and do not reflect the county rates, which will be in effect, for the 1960 crops grown in Pennington county. County rates will be released as soon as transportation charges are determined for the various counties throughout the state which will effect the national rates depending upon the distance from terminal elevators.

Any farmer who seeds wheat for harvest as grain this spring but who does not have a wheat allotment or a feed wheat exemption should notify the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office of his estimated acreage, Culkins said today. In this way, county records can be established and steps can be taken to make such a farmer eligible for a wheat marketing card if he decides to sell any of his grain.

Under the wheat marketing quota program, any grower who produces more than 15 acres of wheat is subject to a penalty on any "excess" wheat harvested. The penalty must be paid before the wheat is eligible for marketing.

Mercury May Hit 20 This Afternoon

Low Reading of —19 Was Registered Last Friday

Northwest Minnesota weather, in the doldrums the past month, will remain unconducive to picnic planners for at least two more days, according to the KTRF forecast.

Some small consolation may come from the weatherman's prediction the temperature may reach 20 above today but don't get your hopes too high for he also says it could stay as low as 10 above.

Temperatures since Thursday ranged from a low of —19 Friday to Sunday's high of 13. No precipitation was recorded.

Occasional periods of light snow are likely today and again Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Derochie were Sunday dinner guests at the Frank Bruggeman home at Brooks.

Rocksbury to Vote on $8,000 Bonds to Remodel Town Hall

Township Officers Hope for Big Turnout Tuesday; Polls to Open at 1 p.m.

In addition to electing officers Tuesday, voters of Rocksbury township will be given an opportunity to express their views on a proposal to issue $8,000 in bonds to finance the remodeling of Valhall Hall, center of township activities.

James Engelstad, town clerk, announced that the polls will open Tuesday at 1 p.m., and he joined with other officers in urging a large turnout at the election, so that the decision may be representative of the opinion of the community.

If the bond issue is approved, it is planned to build a basement and install a water system and a new heating plant. The interior of the hall would also be remodeled and insulated.

Farmers Group Host at Banquet in Zion Church

Nearly 300 persons are expected to attend a Farmers-Businessmen banquet to be held in Zion Lutheran church parlors this evening, Monday, at 7 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Pennington County Farmers Union.

Bernard Myers, chairman of the county organization, will preside over the program, and will introduce the guest speaker, Edwin Christianson, formerly of Gully, state president of the Farmers Union.

Jerry Joringdal will supply organ music during the banquet. A large number of local businessmen have accepted invitations to attend the affair.

Jack Edmiston to Entirely Remodel Interior of Rex

To Add More Booths and Increase Capacity of Basement Room to 100

The Rex Cafe will be completely remodeled and modernized, Jack Edmiston, proprietor, announced Saturday. In the new arrangement counter service will be curtailed, and the number of booths and tables will be increased. The basement will be rearranged to provide for a dining room that will seat up to 100 guests. The remodeling will be started immediately and Edmiston hopes to have it completed early in April.

The new Rex will be new thruout, with new lighting and new equipment. The Terrace Room will be carpeted, and decorations and furniture will be in the early American style. The new booths will be of a roomette style that can be adjusted to seat up to ten guests, and the number of counter seats will be reduced from the present 18 to 11. The overall seating capacity on the main floor will remain at about 154.

The basement banquet hall, seating up to 100 guests, will make it possible to accomodate larger groups and organization meetings. New air conditioning will make this room a pleasant meeting place and a dumb-waiter connection with the kitchen will speed up service.

The general contract for the remodeling has been let to the Prichard Bros. Co. of this city. Edmiston states that it will be necessary to close the restaurant for about a week later in the month.

Parking Meter Use Opposed by Jr. Chamber

Chapter Puts Itself on Record Against Installation Here

Taking a stand similar to that of the senior Chamber of Commerce, the local Jaycee chapter put itself on record at a meeting last Thursday evening as opposed to the installation of parking meters on the downtown streets of Thief River Falls. The matter is currently under consideration by the city council.

In other action at the meeting, Bruce Hall, president, named Ormond Johnson and Lambert Rinowski to look into the sports arena project and seek to ascertain if public sentiment is favorable to enlargement of the present arena or construction of a larger one. It was agreed that the matter should be studied carefully before initiating it as a Jaycee project.

Glenn Peterson was appointed chairman of a nominating committee to submit a slate of nominees for chapter officers at the first meeting in April.

John Ziegler announced that the "My True Security" essay contest had been narrowed down to three students at Lincoln high school, and that the local winner will be announced shortly.

Walt Kavanaugh reported that the second section of the Dale Carnegie course, sponsored jointly by the Junior Chamber and the Lions club, was completely organized, and that sessions would be held each Wednesday evening.

Peter Froehle Takes as Bride Caroline Pfeffer

Blue azalea plants and white candelabra graced the altar of St. Philip's Catholic church in Bemidji when Miss Caroline Fern Pfeffer of Bemidji became the bride of Peter Froehle of Collegeville, Minn., Saturday, Feb 27.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Pfeffer of Bemidji and the bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs Harold Froehle of Thief River Falls.

Officiating at the 10 a.m. double ring ceremony was Rev. James Bernauer with Philip Wattles at the organ. Soloist Mrs. W. Rice sang "Ave Maria" and "Our Father" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white Peau de sole. It featured a sabrina neckline studded with lace and seed pearls and long sleeves, which came to a point at the hand. The back was accented by two large flaps, forming a bow studded with pearls. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearled crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations and white supreme roses with blue satin leaves. Her pearl earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Gambles The Friendly Store
from the Office of the President
WE'RE CELEBRATING OUR 100th ANNIVERSARY...
Sixty-five years too soon so we can bring you our 100 Best Buys!
In the year 2025 Gamble Stores will be 100 years old. That's 65 years from now. How can we celebrate our 100th Anniversary when actually we are only 35 years old?
Well, why not? In the year 2025, we are not likely to be here — many of the people among our suppliers probably won't be here — and most important of all, many of our good customers may not be here, either! So why not do it now so we can all enjoy it? Why not bring to you these tremendous values while you are here to take advantage of them?
Zany, you say? Well, yes, it probably is. But the more we thought about it, the more plausible the whole idea seemed.
Our buyers liked it. They said, "If the company celebrates our 100th Anniversary in 1960, we'll find 100 of the most outstanding merchandise values this nation has ever seen."
And that was the birth of the "Big 100." Beginning this week, and throughout the year, Gambles will offer 100 special items ranging in price from 17¢ to $479.95. And they will far outdo anything we have ever presented in our entire 35 year history.
Our buyers did a grand job. Several went overseas to find "Big 100" items. When we approached the Presidents of our regular suppliers — with whom we have done many millions of dollars in business over many years — they said, "Your idea certainly is refreshing and maybe a little crazy, but let's go!"
The result — the "Big 100" — 100 items of merchandise we'll be extremely proud to show you. Never have we assembled so many outstanding values. Never has there been such an opportunity for our customers to save and save and save.
How did we do it? All these things helped to make the "Big 100" outstanding values
We placed orders for many times normal quantities—this helped lower costs for our manufacturers, and assures enough merchandise for every customer.
We asked our manufacturers to go to their suppliers to help lower prices.
We agreed with our sources to off-season production, and this helped save money.
We're making great savings in distribution by shipping by carload and trainload and thus bringing merchandise more directly to you.
For example, we ordered 30 trainloads (20 to 25 cars each) of two-door combination freezer-refrigerators. These quantities enable us to offer unbelievably low prices and in addition to this, we will buy your present refrigerator. This means that you too can own one of these beautiful, convenient Coronado freezer-refrigerators without making a cash down payment.
So here is a 100th Anniversary Celebration 65 years too soon! It brings you — our good customers — an opportunity to buy your needs at deeply cut prices with savings you will long remember.
Sincerely,
B C Gamble
President and Chairman of the Board
Gambles 100

February '60 Little Warmer Than in 1959

Compared to February of last year, the past month was warmer, slightly wetter and altogether, much more pleasant.

Five days shared the honor of being the month's warmest with 30's being registered Feb. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7. With the exception of the 18th, when a -1 was recorded, there were no daytime readings of below zero. An average high temperature of 18.03 degrees for February, 1960, was above last year's average of 13.25.

Nighttime temperatures were also above those of last year with the coldest reading, a -15, posted during the early morning hours of the 14th. Last year, the coldest night of the season, a -29, was recorded early in the morning of Feb. 1. The average low temperature of the past month was -0.69 degrees in comparison to -8.8 during the month in 1959.

Precipitation during the past month, 0.9 inch of snow and 0.29 inch of rain, was slightly more than last year's 6 inches of snow.

What can we look forward to during March? A check on back copies of the Times shows the month to be one of contrasts.

Last year (1959) the month was much like those in 1957 and 1958. Temperatures ranged from 11 to 53 and little rain fell. Below zero readings were recorded six nights and the mercury got above freezing only three nights.

In 1958 the month was also dry and temperatures were mild with the lowest reading a 9 and the highest a 57. The ice break up on the 26th set a modern day record.

During March in 1957, the high was 51 and the low was 14 with below zero readings recorded for eight nights. Very little precipitation was recorded and the snow cover left the area shortly before mid March.

But 1956 was a completely different story. During the last two weeks of the month, one storm left 12 inches of snow on the ground, 20 inches was on the ground after a second storm and a final five inches fell on the 26th. Autos parked at the curb were covered with a blanket of the heavy, wet stuff and street crews found it difficult to clear streets. A later story mentioning that some of this snow melted by Easter Sunday.

Here is a summary of February, 1960:

SINCE S&H GREEN STAMPS
Green Stamps help keep
MINNESOTA PRICES DOWN!

Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs.

Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Minnesota housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled!

Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families—about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

For the best values, shop at the stores in your community that give S&H Green Stamps.

A little inexpensive insurance

A home without basic first-aid supplies is in a dangerous position. Accidents can happen at any time. We'll be glad to suggest an inexpensive assortment of first-aid needs ... gauze, tape, antiseptic, burn ointment, etc. But remember, though first aid can save lives, it's often important to follow up with a visit to your doctor. Only he is qualified to judge the seriousness of an injury and prescribe proper medical care.

If you're going to buy a low price car...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars. Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with de luxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less* than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furys). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean Mercury is now a low-price car? Did you reduce prices?"
A. "Yes. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, and include many extras that are now standard equipment."
Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'stripped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain interiors, no equipment, no glamour?"
A. "No, we're talking about a de luxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. The comparison is fair."
Q. "Do all Monterey models have as good a price story?"
A. "Yes, within a few dollars. It's the most amazing value story ever offered. Just read below."

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested 1960 retail base prices for lowest-priced V-8 powered models.

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR—Mercury has a 7 to 8 inch longer wheelbase than Galaxie, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 494 pounds more weight + up to 23% more insulation + more spacious passenger compartment + self-adjusting brakes + up to 28% more visibility + more luxurious interior + finer quality (every Mercury is road-tested before it is shipped, not just spot-checked as all other low-price cars) = Smoother ride, extra satisfaction.

Reminds Disabled of Benefits under Social Security

Many severely disabled persons are losing monthly social security benefit payments, states Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks, North Dakota social security district office. For this reason, Mr. Kistler urges those that have severe disabling conditions to contact their nearest social security office now.

Kistler explained that a disabled person must meet these requirements for disability payments: (1) be between 50 and 65 years of age, (2) be suffering from a disability so severe that it prevents him from doing any kind of work, (3) must have worked under social security for at least five out of ten years before the disability began.

These monthly payments are not automatic, Kistler emphasized. An application must be filed with the Social Security Administration. The office for this area is located at Grand Forks and the telephone number is 2-2891.

Area Seed Dealers at Northrup-King

Two from TRF Included In Minneapolis Session

A group of businessmen from the Thief River Falls area visited Northrup King & Co. in Minneapolis March 3, spending the entire morning in the huge plant.

Representing over 40 seed dealers from Northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota, the group first attended a conference at the plant. They were addressed by A. L. White, company research and product vice president and Kenneth R. Erickson, director of Marketing-Advertising.

Following the conference the group visited the company's research service department, one of the largest and best equipped facilities of its kind in the seed industry. The guided tour also included a visit to the seed laboratory, where sample lots of all seed processed are tested, and the lawn and packet seed departments where flower seed stocks are valued as high as $7,800 a pound are packaged.

The tour group also inspected the national seed firm's new equipment for preinoculating alfalfa seed. This unique patented process—called Noculized Seed—actually forces nitrogen fixing bacteria into the alfalfa seed.

At the conclusion of the tour, the visitors were treated to a luncheon in the company's cafeteria. Following lunch, they left for home by specially chartered bus.

Participating in the tour from the Thief River Falls area were O. A. Odegaard, territorial supervisor for the seed firm from Thief River Falls; Ray Tunheim, Newfolden Co-op Newfolden; M. C. Gjernes, Thief River Falls; and Fred Carlson, Karlstad Farmers Elevator at Karlstad.

ST. JOHN'S MEN'S CLUB TO MEET THIS EVENING

St. John's Lutheran Men's club will meet in the church fellowship hall Monday, March 7, at 8 p.m. There will be a Bible study following the outline of the "Brief Statement". Lunch committee will be Glen Krenz and Mel Zitzow.

AN OLD UNUSED teapot will serve as a good container for a ball of string or for your knitting, with the end coming out of the spout. You'll have no tangles and no troubles . . . a Minneapolis mother considers the finest tribute ever paid her was when her daughter remarked to her, "When I need advice, you're 50. But, when there's fun, you're more like 17." . . . Men, if you haven't time to shave, remember that a bright tie possibly will divert attention from your 5 o'clock shadow . . . Throughout the history of the Mormon church, not more than 10 per cent of its membership has practiced polygamy.

ROAST BEEF is an American tradition, and this is certainly true on Minnesota's Iron Ranges. The 23,000 families who depend upon iron mining and related business, eat more than 8 million pounds of beef each year. They spend close to $5,000,000 a year for beef products. A note of interest, Minnesota cattle feeders: As I figure it out it takes 10,183 head of cattle to provide the meat for these iron mining families.

AN OBESE WOMAN stepped on a drugstore scale and the card which came out read, "You—and who else?" . . . Speaking of weight, check your chart again. A 20-year study by 26 insurance companies has shown that the standard height-weight tables should be revised. Men and women who are 15 to 25 pounds underweight according to the charts are the healthiest and live the longest. The study also showed that American men average five pounds heavier than their fathers, while women are lighter than their mothers were . . . One last word on the subject: No wonder so many of us are on diets. The average U. S. citizen eats a ton of food a year.

A DIFFERENT SLANT: A recent visitor to Japan brought home some legal tidbits. For instance, in Japan if you shoot a burglar, and fail to prove he tried to injure you—you go to jail. If the burglar should fall over some object in the dark in your house and injure himself, he's allowed to sue and collect from you. And in that country, if your house should burn down—you're in trouble. You're subject to arrest for permitting your property to catch fire.

Roseau Six Wins Midget Tourney

The first annual V.F.W. invitational hockey tournament, Midget division, was concluded here Sunday afternoon when the Roseau Midgets, on a three-goal performance by their smooth-skating defenseman, Larry Skime defeated coach Morris Eieland's Thief River Falls Midgets, 4 to 1, in the championship finals.

In the finals, played on the Arena rink Sunday afternoon, the locals moved into a 1 to 0 lead at the 4:09 mark of the first period when center Elroy Froiland, on a pass from left wing Don Mathieu, who had hustled down the ice to dig the puck out of the Roseau zone, sent a close-in shot past goal Drew Peterson and into the south net.

Roseau evened the game at 1-all at the 8:07 mark of the first period when Gary Brandt intercepted a clearing pass just inside the north blue-line and, on a screened shot, hit the net on a 35-foot shot.

Roseau moved into a lead late in the second period when Skime, on a solo rush that carried to the goalmouth, beat the locals' netminder, John Hellquist, on a flip shot that found the corner of the net. In the second period, Hellquist had twelve stops as the powerful Roseau squad applied goal-scoring pressure.

Skime closed out the game's scoring by netting a pair of goals in the third period, getting his tallies at the 3:40 and 7:31 marks of the period. The locals had several goal-scoring opportunities in the third period, but the quick-moving Roseau defense was able to hamper the rushes and give their goalie protection.

In a game to determine third place in the tourney, and which was played as a preliminary to the championship game, the Baudette Midgets scored a 4 to 2 win over Ken Austin's Owatonna Midgets.

The tournament play on Saturday found the local Midgets defeating coach Arnold Olson's Belvedere Hawks of St. Paul, 4 to 2. Wayne Loeffler scored three goals for the locals, and Froiland added a tally.

Other games on Saturday found Owatonna scoring a 4-2 win over coach Jim (Itta) Williams' East Grand Forks Midgets; Roseau defeating the powerful Rice Street Midgets of St. Paul, 6-3; and Baudette, in an overtime game, defeating Crookston, 6-5.

In Saturday afternoon play, in the consolation round, East Grand Forks surprised the Belvedere Hawks, racking up a 7-1 win; and coach Bernie Struntz's Rice Street squad defeated Crookston, 8-5.

In an early evening game, to decide the consolation title, the Rice Street team, by a 5-0, defeated the East Grand Forks team on Saturday evening.

In the championship round games played on Saturday night, the locals, with Don Mathieu putting a three-goal second period performance, and with Froiland marking up a goal in the third period, defeated Owatonna, 4 to 1. And the Roseau squad putting on a display of high-scoring hockey, defeated the ever-trying Baudette Midgets, 10 to 0.

At the conclusion of the championship finals, the local V.F.W. post commander, Melvin Hoffman, presented trophies to the Roseau team, as the tournament champions, to Thief River Falls as the runners-up, to Baudette as the third place winner, to the Rice Street team as the consolation winners, and the good sportsmanship award to the Owatonna team.

Take Your Pick

In all the years that we have been following district basketball tournament play we cannot recall a year to compare with the present. Any one of the eight teams that begin play in the 31st district tourney today at Grand Forks can, with a break or two, be the winner on Wednesday night.

In ordinary years, a couple of the district's tems have managed to gain recognition as the tournament favorites. But not this year. The eight teams opening play today are Thief River Falls, Goodridge, Warren, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Plummer, East Grand Forks, and Climax. In this contingent there isn't one team that can be tagged as a consistent winner. On a given night, or in a given game, every one of these teams is capable of coming up with an "on" game, and being unbeatable. That's the intangible that will decide this year's tournament winner.

A month or so ago it appeared that the Thief River Falls Prowlers, the East Grand Forks Green Wave, and the Warren Ponies were developing into district tourney threats. The Prowlers, with their lanky center, Ron Hanson, stricken by illness, absorbed some lacings from East Grand Forks and Warren. And the Climax Vikings, flexing their muscles, scored surprising wins over East Grand Forks and Warren.

And if you think it is tough to pick a winner in the 31st district, and it is, why don't you try to name the winner in the 30th district. Ada? Mahnomen? Bagley? McIntosh?

And up in the 32nd district. The Newfolden Nordics? The Baudette Bears? The Argyle Eagles? The Hallock Bears?

Our guesses on the four district winners are Bemidji in the 29th, Ada in the 30th, the Prowlers in the 31st, and Newfolden in the 32nd. Guesses, that is.

One for the Book

There was considerable excitement at the curling arena on Thursday night. On sheet two, the James Muzzy and the Leo Nelson rinks were competing in a club championship semi-finals match; and on sheet four, the Ardell Liden and Lawrence Lubitz rinks were similarly engaged. But the spectators "behind the glass" weren't watching these important matches. Their interest was focussed on sheet number three and the Len Furuseth vs. Joel Rosengren match.

An the reason that the Furuseth vs. Rosengren monopolized the crowd interest was because Joel and his "boys" scored a shutout, 10 to 0, over Furuseth. Aiding Rosengren, who skipped his rink, were Ed Swanson, lead, Art Mortenson, second, and Quentin Jones, third. And receiving this coating of calcimine, in addition to skip Furuseth, were Lloyd Hogenson, lead, Jim Muzzy, second, and Cliff Jorde, third.

Leo Nelson: Curling Champion

The Leo Nelson rink—Leo Nelson, skip, Lloyd Halvorson, third, and Reuben Jorde, lead—moved through the club curling championship bonspiel without a loss.

In quarter-finals play on Thursday evening, on the 7 p.m. draw, Leo Nelson defeated Ardell Liden, and James Muzzy won by default from Lloyd Brunsberg. On the 9 p.m. draw, Lawrence Lubitz sidelined the Liden rink, and Nelson defeated James Muzzy.

On Friday night, in the semi-finals of the "double knockout" tournament, Nelson scored wins over Lubitz and Muzzy. That gave the Nelson rink a mark of six wins and no defeats, and on the draw sheet the finals had Leo Nelson pitted against Leo Nelson for the championship.

The results of the rinks competing in the bonspiel were as follows: Leo Nelson, six wins, no losses; James Muzzy, three wins, two losses; Lawrence Lubitz, two wins, two losses; Ardell Liden, two wins, two losses; Lloyd Brunsberg, one win, two losses; and Wally Tunberg, Cliff Nelson, and Otto Saugen, two losses apiece.

Miscellany

Our informants on the Iron Range tell us that Oscar Almquist, the high school principal and ohckey coach at Roseau, will be at Babbitt next season. These sources of information maintain that Oscar has already signed a contract for the 1960-61 season. He will, it is reported, be athletic director at Babbitt. . . . Art Stratton, who will be remembered as being a member of the "kid" line that played with the Warroad Lakers in the Northwest hockey league several years ago, is now playing with the New York Rngers of the National hockey league. In the days with the Lakers, Stratton, a junior, played with his brother Gordy and Joe Cyr. The trio played as a line with the Winnipeg Barons in the Manitoba junior hockey circuit. . . . Joey Poole, the former Prowler and North Dakota Sioux hockey star, was in town on Saturday and Sunday. Joey maintains that this will be his 1st season in professional hockey, and that he will utilize the summer months in completing his education at North Dakota. Marv Jorde, who was a team mate of Joey's on the 1954 Prowler state high school champions, is again a team-mate of Joey, the two boys being members of coach Bob May's Minneapolis Millers of the International hockey league. Joe reports that Marv really likes the pro game, bumps and all. . . . The coach of the Owatonna Midgets hockey team is Ken Austin, who, in the 1940's played hockey, as a goalie, for the Roseau Rams. Ken's son Jim was goalie for the Owatonna club. Getting able coaching from his dad, young Jim proved to be one of the better goalies in the tournament. . . . The Orville Gillehammer rink of Grafton won the United States men's curling championship in the bonspiel that was concluded in Chicago on Saturday. The Gilleshammer rink posted a record of eight wins and one loss in the week-long bonspiel. Gillehammer is well-known to local curlers, and he participated in the States-Dominion bonspiel held here a couple of weeks ago. The 38-year-old Gilleshammer, a potato farmer in the Grafton area, has only been curling for eight or nine years, but he has surely made rapid progress. In last year's national bonspiel, Gilleshammer was runner-up to the Hibbing, Minnesota, rink, the winners.

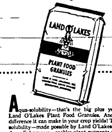
Elm Lake Area Has 298 Deer, 54 Moose, Census Indicates

Area Adjoins Mud Lake, So Some Animals May Have Been Counted Twice

A big game count in the Elm Lake area at the same time the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge count was taken from the air Feb. 11-12, showed the area has a population of 298 deer and 54 moose. The count was made in a tract of about 15,000 acres surrounding Elm Lake, according to Robert Farmes, area game biologist.

Both deer and moose populations of the Elm and Mud Lake areas overlap somewhat and the census takers estimate a combined total of 128 moose in the areas surveyed.



No combined deer total was available for the areas but some of the 298 deer at Elm Lake probably were counted in the Mud Lake area also, where 808 were counted during the census, Farmes said.

The census was taken by pilot-biologist Art Brazda and Marv Mansfield, assistant manager of the Mud Lake refuge.

Manufacturers Assn. Cites Huge Costs of U.S. Social Security

Liabilities of the federal Social Security system now exceed the national debt by $50 billion, the National Association of Manufacturers said today in warning of the hazards of this vast public welfare burden.

"Every election year for the past decade Congress has liberalized the Social Security system," the NAM said. "The result is that the liabilities against the Old Age Survivors and Disability Insurance Fund now stand at some $360 billion. Of this enormous sum, only about $21 billion is funded. The unfunded part—some $340 billion—exceeds the national debt by about $50 billion."

In announcing publication of a report which analyzes current proposals for further liberalization of the system, the NAM acknowledged that providing economic security in old age is "a laudable objective," but it warned it could be seriously jeopardized by unwise federal policies.

"Few people realize the enormous cost of the Social Security system or the full implications and hazards of the vast debt being imposed upon us and posterity," the NAM said.

"From Jan. 1, 1937, to Jan. 1, 1960, about $69.8 billion was collected from employers, employees and the self-employed of the country. The OASDI Fund earned $5.9 billion in interest, and about $54 billion was paid out.

"Today, 6 per cent of taxable payrolls goes to support the Social Security system. During 1960, contributions and expenditures each are expected to exceed $11 billion. Under the present schedule of progressive tax increases, and assuming that no further increases in the tax are enacted, by 1969 the government will be taking 9 per cent of payrolls for Social Security.

"Some idea of the weight of this additional load on the economy may be had from the fact that every increase of one-half of one per cent in Social Security taxes means that an additional $1 billion must be paid."

The NAM said Federal policies which impede or inhibit individual or business incentive, or which add to the inflationary pressures upon the economy, must be avoided so that private enterprise can expand and provide all with opportunities to build their own personal economic security.

"Unwise federal policies could be equally destructive of the Social Security system," the association said. "It is quite possible that the system could become so costly, and the taxes so burdensome as a result of continued liberalization, that the voters, at some future time, would refuse to continue to shoulder the burden."

The NAM report, entitled, "Medical Care for the Aged," analyzes the Forand bill (H R 4700) which would amend the Social Security Act to provide hospitalization, nursing home, and surgical care for people who are receiving, or who are eligible for, Old Age and Survivors benefits and their dependents. It would increase Social Security taxes one half of 1 per cent, half to be paid by employers and half by employes.

Pointing out that the cost of benefits proposed by the Forand bill might be $2 billion a year now and $7.5 billion by 1980, the NAM said such legislation would be inflationary. The Forand proposals, according to the NAM, would not provide care for most people who need it, since three out of four recipients of Old Age Assistance—the indigent aged—are not OASI beneficiaries nor would they be eligible for benefits.

"The Forand proposals represent another stimulus to the ever-increasing dependency of the individual on the federal government and to the ever-increasing control of individual disposable income by Washington," the NAM said. "Voluntary health insurance provides the answer, and within a relatively few years all of our senior citizens who want or need such protection will have it. There is no justification for imposing on the entire nation a compulsory program that is unnecessary and hazardous."

Secy. Benson Speaks at 1960 Farm Forum

Crediting the American farmer with helping "lift the standard of living in this country higher than ever before in any country," Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson called on Congress to "strike the shackles" from the farmer and enact sound legislation to "eliminate the government's stranglehold on agriculture."

Speaking to a thousand farmers and city people at the Tuesday, March 1, session of the annual Farm Forum of the Minneapolis Area Chamber of Commerce at the Radisson Hotel, Benson concluded a two-day series of talks and panel discussions on correlating city and farm activities to improve mutual understanding and cooperation.

Roswell Garst, farmer from Coon Rapids, Iowa, endosed action to stimulate use of government surplus grain holdings in "food for peace" programs.

Maurice H. Stans, formerly of Shakopee, Minn., director of the Bureau of the Budget, warned of possible pressures that would increase federal spending to a "mortgage of 750 billions", but expressed the hope that sounder thinking will reduce spending.

"If we can succeed in removing tensions from international relations," Stans asserted, "and get agreement on disarmament with full safeguards, it won't be necessary to spend 54 cents of every tax dollar on national security."

The audience, contrasted with the hostile audience of two years ago, accorded Benson a rising welcome when he was introduced, applauded him frequently during his 45 minute address, and gave him a rising ovation when he concluded.

Benson denounced "outmoded farm laws now on the books" as responsible for the ills of agriculture.

"The economics of the farm dilemma are simple—it is the politics of the problem that are baffling," he said. "What farmers want and need is less government in the farming business and less politics in agriculture."

"The old basic crop legislation still on the books is outmoded and fails in its objective," he added. "It has placed ineffective bureaucratic controls on farmers, destroyed markets, piled up surpluses, imposed heavy burdens on taxpayers, and does not fit the need of the small farmer—56 per cent of our population."

Crop Improvement Assn. Urges More Seeding of Durum

Says Durum Is in Short Supply and Commands Substantial Premium

Northwest grain growers, now deciding which crop will be most profitable for them in 1960, will do well to take a good look at durum, according to Henry O. Putnam, executive secretary of the Northwest Crop Improvement association.

"Growers should bear in mind that durum can be a very profitable crop in many localities because it is not in surplus and because it has been selling for premiums of as much as 20-25 cents over hard red spring wheat, he said.

Farmers of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and western Minnesota supply better than 95 per cent of the durum used in the United States.

"The increase in population plus the increased consumption of macaroni products assures the grower of a ready market and should stimulate farmers to grow more durum to protect this market," Putnam said.

To obtain maximum yield benefits in 1960 all seed should be thoroughly cleaned to remove small, weak diseased kernels as well as to remove weed seeds. Seed treatment with an approved mercury compound protects the young seedlings against blight and other seedling blight diseases."

"These precautions plus increased plantings will help us to realize our goal of 2,000,000 acres planted to durum in 1960," Putnam said.

Editorials . . .

"Nobody can say as yet when the nation will become aroused to the realization that national duty must take precedence over private indulgence, that it is not possible to preserve our society by private affluence and public complacency. The voices that will serve this country, and indeed save it, will be those stern men demanding hard things. They may not as yet do well in the Gallup polls but will be listened to sooner or later. For they will shatter the belief, now so prevalent among us, that affluence is greatness. It is not. In the history of human society it has often been the case that when riches were devoted to luxury it was the mark of their decline." —Walter Lippmann.

Amazing Nevertheless

Whatever our shortcomings may be in outer space, we have every reason to be proud of the progress we have made underwater. On Thursday another nuclear-powered submarine, the USS Sargo, returned to Pearl Harbor after a visit to the North Pole which involved 30 days of being submerged under Arctic ice. While in the Arctic region the ship surfaced 20 times through ice up to three feet thick.

Lieutenant Commander John H. Nicholson, skipper of the ship, states that a vast amount of scientific data was obtained which "will undoubtedly give a better understanding of the Arctic and far more accurate forecasts than we've ever had."

It is noteworthy that the announcement of the completion of this successful cruise was treated in a very matter-of-course way here at home. These under-the-ice expeditions no longer amaze us. Nevertheless, when we consider what has already been accomplished by these nuclear powered ships, the achievements are still amazing.

No Danger

Dr. B. T. Shaw of the U.S. Agriculture Department, is the man who first noted that parts of the 1959 cranberry crop from Oregon and Washington were contaminated by a weed killer that can produce cancer in rats. He recently stated that he regrets the results of his discovery and now drinks cranberry juice evey morning. He confirms the statement of those who maintained that "a person would have to eat 350,000 pounds of cranberries a day to endanger himself to cancer."

There is no reason why Dr. Shaw should feel remorseful for what he did. In reporting his discovery he acted properly in his official capacity. The blundering that caused the loss of millions of dollars to the cranberry growers was the inexcusable scare publicity with which his discovery was announced.

There now is a great deal of pressure on Congress to amend the laws in such a way that errors of this kind are less likely to reoccur. Certainly the administration of laws involving problems of this kind should not be directed by publicity-seeking alarmists.

A Vote of Confidence

The reports we have published on the progress of several of our industries have brought favorable comments and we will continue these from time to time. Such reports serve a good purpose mainly because they give us encouraging facts about one phase of local activities on which we are not generally well informed.

Whenever men gather and the problems of the community are discussed, there are always sages who agree that it is most unfortunate that we do not have a large industry in our city. Well, we have a large industry, several of them in fact, and quite a number of medium-sized industries. And we have a large number of small organizations that maintain payrolls and provide services for the area.

The Soo Line provides our largest payroll and that payroll would be considered a very substantial one in any outstate city of Minnesota. The various industries that process the products of our farms provide steady employment for several hundred workers. Reaching around at random we could point to the large number of our people who are engaged in various activities related to the sales and servicing of automobiles and machinery. We know that we are safe in guessing that the number is well over a hundred and we will come up with a more accurate estimate at some later time. In the aggregate this is a big industry.

If all of our public employees, federal, state, county, school and city, who live in our city, were to march down the street single file they would form quite a parade, and the professional men and women and others who provide an extensive health service would be another numerous group. All of these and hundreds of others engaged in wholesale and retail operations or providing other services, form a very diversified and stable industrial base for our community, and we will try to point up some of the interesting facts about these various sources of payroll dollars as we go along.

This week's cheerful story is the decision of Jack Edmiston to make his Rex Cafe a better Rex Cafe. His decision to improve and expand his restaurant facilities is not based on a snap-judgment hope that the area will use the facilities he is providing. He is no longer a stranger among us and his announcement is a very cheerful vote of confidence in our community by a man who knows his own business and looks ahead to an expanding economy in the area served by Thief River Falls.

The Real Danger

Maurice H. Stans, U.S. director of the budget, told the Minnesota Farm Forum last week that Khrushchev's main target in his attempt to "bury" us is the American dollar and the American economy. Said Stans:

"Khrushchev has laid down a new challenge. He tells us the Soviets have chosen the economic battlefield rather than the military. He has pledged all of the energies of the Soviet system in his drive to make us a second class economic power. He says he will prove that capitalism and our free democracy are obsolete and predicts his system will bury ours.

"His practical attack to implement all this is aimed straight at the strength and stability of the American dollar in the world. This means we need to do some soul searching. Are we as strong and secure against economic attack as we are militarily? Can we still afford the wasteful consequences of prolonged feuding between management and labor? Can we risk the perils of flirting with inflation? Can we continue to demand of government more than we are willing to pay for in taxes?

"One thing is clear—to meet Mr. Khrushchev head-on we need to marshal our full strength and resources and employ them wisely and well.

"In the face of Soviet challenge our first objective should be the strengthening of the foundations and fiber of our system, rather than the adding more gilt and plush to its comforts, but this will call for a toughness that runs against all the instincts of the times."

President Eisenhower has been criticized bitterly by Democratic leaders because he has not yielded to the pressure of those who would have us increase substantially appropriations for national defense. Behind such pressure there may be well informed men who believe sincerely that the administration's defense program is inadequate. But we may be sure that also behind such pressure are those who have a cash register interest in such spending as well as those who actually believe that increased government spending is essential to sustaine prosperity.

We will string along with the President, however. He maintains that we have retaliatory power so widely distributed that it cannot be destroyed by surprise attack and that this power to strike back is our most effective defense. There is no sure defense against missiles travelling faster than sound once they have been launched. If Mr. Eisenhower is satisfied that his program is adequate then we are satisfied.

And we will also go along with the idea that Khrushchev's real campaign, already under way, is directed at our economy and the loss of prestige that we inevitably will suffer if we do not maintain a stable dollar. If we are not capable of managing our own affairs we would lose all rights to respectable recognition as a world power. The administration is on firm ground when it points out the danger that lies ahead if we continue to just drift.

The spenders and the advocates of more printing press dollars and paper credit are the best friends Khrushchev has in our country.

More Trees Needed

The St. Paul Pioneer Press calls attention to the shortcomings of the state's reforestation program by comparing what is being done in our state with other states. Says the Pioneer Press:

"Minnesota's timber and pulp industries have not shown the growth and development recorded in some other areas. One reason is the fact that the state has not encouraged private industry to buy and manage the large blocks of land which are considered necessary by most big companies. Probably no other state has as much forest land owned by county governments, and much of this receives little management. This and many other factors have resulted in a situation which sees millions of acres of potentially valuable timber lands unplanted and unproductive, year after year."

We have a law that encourages tree farms but, as the Pioneer Press points out, too much of the land that is suitable for tree farms is controlled at the county level, and the counties are inclined to discourage large corporation holdings under this program. The result is that we are making little progress in reforestation and millions of acres that are suitable for forest development are permitted to remain unproductive, growing only a crop of weed trees.

One of the favorite themes of the politicians for many years was the "shameful record of the lumber barons" who robbed us of our natural timber resources. We will not attempt to defend the lumber barons of that earlier period, although they did make available to us a lot of cheap lumber that might otherwise have been destroyed by fire.

But we are a little concerned about what those generations of good people who follow us are going to say about our management, or mismanagement, of our forest resources. So far we haven't done a great deal to deserve their thanks.

Let's take a look at the record!

What cooperatives pay in taxes is an open book for anyone to see. You'll find that cooperatives rank at or near the top in many communities.

Supporting community institutions through taxes is a responsibility which cooperatives have accepted willingly.

Cooperatives are locally owned and controlled. Those who own or work for the cooperative, live in our community. They are interested in good schools, good roads and good government because they are good citizens . . . and because it is their community.

Water Tower Bid Accepted by City Council

To Cost City $50,450; Parking Meters Subject of Debate

Acceptance of a bid for a new city water tower, a decision to call for bids for fuel for city vehicles and a heated discussion of the parking meter question were the main items on the agenda of the special city council meeting held Tuesday evening.

Chicago Bridge and Iron Co submitted the low bid for the new city water tower with a base bid of $50,450 for the tower and alternate bid of $1130 for cathodic corrosion protection of the tank.

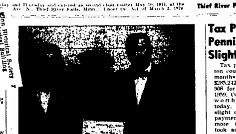
After some discussion of the bids, particularly the cathodic protection, which consists of running a small amount of current through aluminum anodes suspended in the water to prevent corrosion of the tank plates, Alderman Ranum made a resolution that the bid of Chicago Bridge and Iron Co be accepted.

The resolution was passed unanimously by roll call vote.

Other bidders on the project were: Pittsburgh-De Moines Steel Co., Des Moines, Iowa, base bid $51,200, alternate, $1350; Nooter Corp., St. Louis, Mo., base bid $58,760, alternate, $1186; and Graver Tank and Mfg. Co., East Chicago, Ind., base bid $50,791, alternate, $1130.

The council also discussed the possibility of installing the cathodic protection system in the old water tank, provided the plates are not corroded so much as to make continued use of the tank dangerous. The anti-corrosion system to be installed was explained to the council by C. R. Clark of the Electro-Rustproofing Corp., Belleville, N. J.

Base cost of the cathodic system is the $1130 alternate bid of Chicago Bridge and Iron Co., and $167 annually thereafter.



A motion by Alderman Art Christianson, seconded by Alderman A. J. Rau, was passed unanimously to advertise for bids for fuel for city vehicles. Each bid would be a three-way affair, quoting prices per gallon on bulk service, high and low test service and pump service. Council members had complained that, at present, not enough control can be exercised over gas purchases for the city.

The fireworks started when discussion of the parking meter question was opened. A delegation from the Chamber of Commerce, headed by President Don M. Olson, stated city business men are practically unanimous in opposing any proposal to install parking meters in the city.

Prior to Olson's statements, Alderman Rau had said the city must find additional sources of revenue and that the meters were one source which could raise a considerable amount.

In further arguments, councilment cited the problem of employee parking on city streets. Chamber delegates doubted the problem was so serious it could not be solved by local business men through their own concerted efforts, which statement, in turn

AWARD WINNERS as the 1959 Conservation farm family of Pennington County were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matzke of Smiley township, pictured above with Bob Carlson of this city as they were presented the Minneapolis Star-Tribune plaque at the Farmers Union dinner at Zion Lutheran church Monday evening. The Matzkes were cited for their good record in the management of their 200-acre farm. An excellent program of crop rotation fits in well with their modern dairying operation. Both corn and grass silage play important parts in the feed growing program.

State President of FU Deplores Current Situation of Farmer

Farm income in 1960 will be lower than in 1959 and 1961 will be poorer than 1960 unless a better farm program is in operation, was the prediction of Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union at a dinner meeting at Zion Lutheran church Monday evening. Thief River Falls business men were guests of the county Farmers Union organization.

Mayor Orin Green extended greetings to the Farmers Union members and pointed up the need for cooperation between rural and urban groups in the advancement of our community interests. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matzke of Smiley township were recognized as the 1959 Conservation farm family of the county and were presented with a Minneapolis Star-Tribune plaque by Bob Carlson, local agent.

Mr. Christianson presented a gloomy view of the future for farming, citing the fact that agriculture is the one segment of our economy that has suffered directly by the continuing spirals of wage and price increases. There are complaints about the high cost of federal price supports, he said, but actually the farmers of the country have been subsidizing the national economy with low cost food. He feared the trend toward large farms and predicted the end of the family size farms unless the small operators are given special consideration.

A new farm program should include direct payments to farmers, better soil conservation, food for peace and a food stamp plan to make food available to our own hungry people. He urged the end of the Soil Bank program.

Bernard Myers, president of the Pennington County Farmers Union, presided.

Rocksbury Delays Voting on Bonds

Lloyd Johnson and James Engelstad Win Reelection

Rocksbury township voters reelected Lloyd Johnson as supervisor and James Engelstad as clerk Tuesday, March 8, in a turnout which was called "very good."

In a normal election, 12 to 15 votes are cast but 27 were registered in the election.

A proposal to issue $8,000 in bonds to finance the Valhall Hall remodeling was not on the ballot as was announced earlier. Township voters had asked for more exact costs and specifications for the work and a special meeting will be called for that purpose.

According to James Engelstad clerk, some funds are now in reserve and the balance of the cost will be assessed against township property owners if a special vote "in about two weeks" is favorable to the issuance of bonds.

Tax Payments in Pennington Down Slightly in 1960

Tax payments in Pennington county for the first two months of 1960 aggregated $285,242, compared to $290,908 for the same period of 1959, County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson reported today. He attributed the slight decline in this year's payments to the fact that more taxpayers this year took advantage of the law permitting them to pay amounts of more than $10 in two installments.

Brainerd Firms Low Bidder on Co. Blacktop

C. L. Nelson Co. to Build Road North of Oklee for $48,450

At a regular meeting of the county board Tuesday, a contract was let for the completion of the four miles of the Oklee road extending from SAR 3 south to the county line. The contract calls for a gravel base and bituminous surfacing, and this should be completed quite early this summer, according to county engineer Joe Seidel. The successful bidder was the C. L. Nelson Co. of Brainerd, the $48,450 bid being $7,000 under the estimated cost.

Construction of this road in Red Lake county north from Oklee has been completed and the bituminous surfacing of SAR 3, which was not completed last fall, should also be finished early this summer. This will greatly improve road conditions in that area. The stub south to the county line has been designated as SAR 23.

In other road matters Tuesday, the board designated as State Aid Road 30, a 2,000-foot section of old CAR 65 two and one-half miles north of this city, connecting the new Trunk Highway 59 with Highway 32 at the north edge of the city.

Also put on the program for grading and graveling, probably in 1961 was County SAR 1 on the south Pennington county line between the Oklee road and Hickory township.

Fifty persons, many of them from outside the affected area, were present at the session, most of them to object to the proposed Goose Lake game refuge and public hunting grounds in western Pennington county and extending west into Polk county. After a discussion, in which Bob Farmes, wild game biologist, Senator Roy E. Wiseth and State Rep. Harveydale Maruska of Angus took part, the latter two speaking against the proposal, the board voted to deny the request for approval of the refuge.

Rolland Bros Service of St. Hilaire was the successful bidder on the contract to supply the county highway department with its season's requirements for Diesel oil, fuel oil & gasoline. The firm, lowest of seven bidders, quoted prices of 13.82c a gallon for No. 1 Diesel and fuel oil, 13.07 for No. 2 oil, and 15.22 cents a gallon for gasoline, these figures being without taxes.

Commr. Odin Hanson was appointed to represent the board on the area committee now being set up to deal with the drainage problem in Eastern Pennington county and on the reservation to the east.

County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr reported that the seven county probation and parole service established August 1, 1959, had cost the sponsoring counties a total of $4,960 up to January 1, including $885 for equipment of which Pennington county's share was 18.456 per cent or $922.55 of which $572.25 was reimbursed by the state, leaving a net cost to the county of $350.30.

Bar Endorses Choice of High Court Judge

Freeman Appoints Lee Loevinger to the Supreme Court

Minnesota Bar association and supreme court reaction was favorable Monday to Gov. Freeman's appointment of Lee Loevinger to succeed the late Associate Judge Leroy Matson on the state high court.

James D. Bain, Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota State Bar association, said, "There is no question that he is one of the best students at the bar."

He said reaction has been "very good" among attorneys.

Chief Judge Roger Dell of the Supreme court called Loevinger a man of intelligence who has the ability "to make a good judge of this court."

Freeman, a former member of the law firm—Larson, Loevinger, Lindquist and Fraser, Minneapolis—which the new judge leaves April 4 for the high bench, called him "one of the foremost legal scholars in the country." The governor added:

"He will bring to the supreme court of Minnesota the balanced background of an eminent scholar and an experienced practicing lawyer."

Loevinger is a native of St. Paul.

His father, the last Gustavus Loevinger, wore judicial robes for 25 years as Gov. Floyd B. Olson's first appointee, in 1931, to the Ramsey county district court.

Loevinger will assume his new duties following a vacation trip to Mexico. He will serve until after the 1962 election.

Seek to Solve Drainage Problem in Eastern Area

Representatives of the various groups interested in the development of eastern Pennington and Marshall counties and portions of Beltrami county and the Indian reservation, made good progress at a meeting held here Monday afternoon for the purpose of securing more effective controls of the run-off waters of the area.

There was general agreement that all groups had a common interest in the problem of flood control and land use, and a committee representative of all the interests was authorized to explore further the possibility of united action in support of an area flood control and water use program.

The meeting was called by Oscar Houske, chairman of the Pennington County Soil Conservation district, for the purpose of considering the effect on the drainage on the area of the rebuilding of Trunk highway No. 1 across the Reservation east of the Pennington county line. It is believed that this road has served as a dike and has diverted waters from the normal run-off pattern. It is hoped that in the reconstruction the natural flow of waters can be reestablished and that this will be an important factor in securing better control of the run-off waters over a large area. The rebuilding of the highway is scheduled for 1961.

Members of the committee authorized to consider the possibility of adopting a program that will serve the best interests of all groups, are three representatives of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians, to be named by the council; one representative from each of the counties of Pennington, Marshall and Beltrami, to be named by the county boards; one farmer from each of the townships of Rainer, Star and Hickory in Pennington county; one supervisor of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil Conservation district, and Judge Paul A. Lundgren, representing the Red Lake River Drainage and Conservancy District.

Representatives of the Minnesota highway department will be invited to join in the discussions and a meeting of the committee will be called by Oscar Houske as soon as possible after the representatives have been selected.

At the Monday afternoon meeting, held in the court room of the Court House, Houske called on Don Lawrence, soil conservationist of the Pennington county district, to preside. Lawrence explained briefly the purpose of the meeting and the general objectives. He called on Maynard Seilley, soil scientist with the Soil Conservation service to report on land development possibilities in the area.

Mr. Seilley stated that on the reservation and the lands beyond the reservation that might be developed for agricultural use totalled about 22,000 acres or about the equivalent of one

Rail Freight Rates on Grain Are Sharply Reduced by Soo & G.N.

Sharp reductions in rail freight rates on wheat, rye and flaxseed to counter truck competition for this traffic have been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission, five northwest railroads announced.

The five railroads will make effective on April 8 rate reductions up to 13½ cents per 100 pounds on movement of flaxseed, rye and wheat to primary grain markets in the Twin Cities and Duluth-Superior from rail points in Minnesota, the eastern half of North Dakota and northeastern South Dakota.

Railroads participating in the rate reduction are Great Northern; Northern Pacific; Soo Line; Duluth, Missabe & Iron Range; and Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific.

The reduced rates will be applicable from all country elevators in the affected territories, and participating railroads will permit sampling and inspection at interior points in addition to storage in transit west of the Twin Cities and Duluth-Superior.

Movement of grain from country elevators in producing territories by highway carriers exempt from ICC regulation and at unpublished rates is responsible for the railways' rate action, said P. A. Walsh of St. Paul, rate committee chairman of the five lines. Mr. Walsh said that the participating railroads not only hope to retain important grain traffic through the reduced rates, but also "seek to help country elevators which have been unable to move grain by highway because available trucks are operating only from points on paved roads."

"The rail rate adjustment," he added, "represents a continuation of the historic policy of the northwest lines of keeping all elevators at all shipping points on a reasonable basis of competitive relationships and permitting full utilization of their facilities."

Rotary Hears Talk on Electronic Marvels by N.W. Bell Co. Man

How does a 110-ton guided missile traveling at speeds of 15,000 miles an hour hit a target thousands of miles away with pinpoint accuracy?

The answers to this and other problems related to guiding missiles through space was presented to the Rotary club Monday noon by Paul F. Stephenson, executive assistant, Northwestern Bell Telephone company.

PAUL F. STEPHENSON

Stephenson started his talk by using an electronic tic-tac-toe machine to illustrate that human thinking processes can be accomplished by a machine. The device also demonstrates how telephone switching equipment performs logical operations to complete telephone calls. The object of tic-tac-toe, also known as "cat and rat," is for one player to get three crosses or circles in a row before his opponent. The machine is so designed that the best a human opponent can do is tie the game because its complicated relay system quickly jumps into action to block the live player's attempts to outmaneuver it.

He said that more complex computers are the natural outgrowth of years of research conducted by telephone scientists in the development of today's nationwide dial system, which may be considered the world's largest computer. The Bell System has been able to apply research developments, originally intended for improvement of telephone service, to military uses such as the missile guidance system used successfully in recovery of nose cones 5,000 miles out in the Atlantic Ocean.

The Bell Laboratories have had a long and continued interest in basic science, and Stephenson described some of the developments coming from such research. He cited the transistor and the solar battery as two examples, telling of their use both for day-to-day communications and in their military applications.

"Because of its long experience in the design and operation of commercial communications, the Bell System can readily adapt its resources in man power, knowledge and facilities to military communications and the design of guidance systems for missiles," Stephenson concluded.

Stephenson is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy. He completed 12 years of military service before joining Northwestern Bell's engineering department. For the past year he has been working with Western Electric company in New York on missile integration on our defense system.

Water Tower Bid Accepted by City Council Tuesday

was repudiated by both Aldermen Benson and Rau, saying the Chamber has been promising to solve the problem for years without noticeable results.

The discussion became quite heated at this time. Robert Kammerer, executive vice president of the Chamber, asked why no results were evident. Kammerer cited the fact two members of the council are past presidents of the Chamber and asked where the leadership in the city was some years ago and why it had not made concrete proposals in past years rather than wait until the present to suggest meters as a possible solution to the city's parking problems.

He said the reason for the city's parking lots standing comparatively empty so much of the time is that they are unadvertised and unmarked and that increased use of the lots would largely solve the problem.

Dr. George B. Martin also stated he believed meters would be a stiff blow against outside traffic to the city and that many rural people who normally shop here would take their trade elsewhere if the meters were to be installed.

The debate was closed after a suggestion that the Chamber and the council work together to arrive at a permanent solution to the parking problem within the next 60 days if the meters are not to be installed. Aldermen Christianson and Benson were appointed by Council President Roy Lee to work with the Chamber in an attempt to arrive at a solution.

Rental charges for the auditorium and arena were also discussed and committee members will look into present charges with an eye to remedying possible inequalities in the present rental system and charges.

The meeting was adjourned shortly after 11 p.m.

Group Seeking to Solve Drainage Problem in Area

township. He stated that he had made only a preliminary check on the area but he was satisfied a more thorough survey of the soil potentials would be justified if steps were taken to control the flood waters.

Ralph Hauswirth, agricultural engineer with the Soil Conservation service, reported on their findings and recommendations for flood control and water use. He stated that the east and west highway did serve as a dike that, under flood conditions, diverted the waters of the reservation westward into Pennington, Marshall and Beltrami counties. The normal flow on the reservation is to the southwest, he stated, and normally the waters would drain into the Red Lake river.

Hauswirth said that if, in the reconstruction of the highway, provision could be made to permit the waters to flow through or over the road, the waters could be handled south of the highway in such a way that they might serve a useful purpose in that area of the reservation.

F. V. Pearson, highway department engineer, stated that a survey of the highway from the Pennington county line to the ridge had been made and that the construction was now in the planning stage. He stated that the department recognizes the water problem on the reservation and is considering the possibility of obtaining a natural flow of waters either by bridging at certain points or by sections of "sunken highway" that would provide a surface at normal ground levels, permitting the waters to flow across the road in flood periods. He stated that the final decision probably would be made by the department's drainage engineers and assured the gathering of the department's interest in their problem.

Representing the Indian Council were Dan Needham, treasurer, and Otto Thunder, secretary. Mr. Needham, who farms in the area in question, contributed to the discussion. W. W. Palmer, superintendent of the Minnesota Agency on Indian Affairs and Joseph Kiernan, realty officer of the agency, stated that the department was interested in improving the area and making more of the reservation suitable for farming.

Judge Paul A. Lundgren stated that every effort should be made to secure the early agreement on a general plan for water control in view of the fact that he is delaying hearings on a ditch petition that is before him.

Baptist Women to Be Guests of Men

Men, Losers in Contest, to Be Hosts at Banquet

The men of the First Baptist church will serve a banquet for the ladies Saturday evening as a result of having lost out in a Sunday school contest which has just been completed. The dinner will be served in the church basement.

The contest between the men and women was based on a point system with points being given for personal attendance and for new members and visitors brought in during a six week period.

The average gain for the six Sundays over last year was 55 per cent. There was a keen interest shown by all and the men were ahead most of the way but lost out by over 4000 points on the last Sunday.

George Hanestad was the leader for the men's group and Mrs. Carl Gustafson led the ladies to victory.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

Referring to the report in the Times, headed "State Men Meet With Watershed Backers," probably we need a clarification of who or what "backers" means. A lot of us farmers that this drainage project affects do not know what is going on and when we ask the steering committee they are more mixed up than us.

No doubt this is a large project, as the state priority committee will not consider anything less than $1,000,000, but this should be no problem. At the meeting of Dec. 7, 1959, it was brought out the cutting of Judicial Ditch 20 and Judicial Ditch 200 and diverting the water to Mud River about 2 miles west of Grygla and from here to Mud Lake where they evidently want the water. Incidentally, ditch 200 is cleaned and 20 is being cleaned.

Mr. Thorfinnson's article is simple and easy to understand. 80 per cent of the cost will be borne by the landholders.

Delmar Hagen's comments on who wouldn't pay $11 an acre to assure a crop 3 years out of 3 years. How many acres of cropland would this in any way affect? My land is in the west end of this proposed system, within 100 rods of Mud River. Two miles west of me Mud River flows out of farming land and to Mud Lake. In no way can cleaning Mud River affect my crops one way or another.

As for 50 per cent of the farmers signing agreements to farm under soil conservation services farm planning is questionable.

I'm not against drainage, but we better know where we are going. We are already heavily burdened with ditch taxes in the cleaning of judicial ditches. $3,520 additional ditch taxes on ½-section of land (this represents $11 per acre) will bankrupt our community.

Yours truly,
Francis Haack

Editor Times:

"Thief River Falls doesn't want parking meters. All they want is two-hour parking. However, if someone wants two stalls for two hours that seems to be all right.

I have been looking at the way people park and find proper parking would make room for five and six more cars per block on one side only, at times.

On the streets where there are two hour parking signs the stall marks should be made far enough out in the street so the driver can see the marks without getting out of the car. Then enforce proper parking and it would at least help solve the parking problem.

The Library Corner

by Eleanor Olson

I wonder how many other people have tried to read the Bible . . . through as I have and failed. Several times I made the resolve to read a chapter a night and each time I bogged down somewhere along in Deuteronomy in the middle of the "shall and shall nots" of Hebrew law. Then when the Bible goes back to its accustomed place on the book shelf I am left with a strong sense of failure. But now I think I've found out what was the matter and I'm about to make the resolution once more.

Trying to find some way to make Lent more meaningful, I brought home "How to Read the Bible" by Edgar J. Goodspeed from the Lenten Reading shelf at the Library. It seems that the key to my repeated failures may be that again and again, in my ignorance, I've started at the beginning.

Mr. Goodspeed reminds us that the Bible is indeed not a book at all but a library in itself, just as the name implies. Only in the last few centuries with the advent of the printing press and bound volumes have the books of the Bible been put together. Before that time its readers could pick out individual books to read.

The Bible with all the range and variety of a truly good library contains sections of fiction, poetry, history, biography and letters. Our chief aim in reading them is to find the religious messages which caused them to be written in the first place.

Mr. Goodspeed says we should begin with the New Testament and the world of Jesus, not nearly as different from our own daily lives as two thousand years might make us think. Start, he says, with Mark. Read it all at one sitting, as you would any gripping short story, for the full impact. Then go back and read Matthew which repeats Mark line for line, but fills in Jesus' own words and teachings. (Note especially the six sermons.)

The Gospel of Luke should follow now. (What we call his Gospel is the first of two volumes Luke wrote; Acts is the second.) Luke is the historian of the four, interested in the human aspects of Jesus' teaching. (He has also been called the "man who gave us Christmas" for the story of the angels and the shepherds.)

The last of the Gospels, John, was written two generations later than Christ taught and time allowed John to see how much more than just a Messiah Jesus was and what He would mean to each Christian in terms of his own life and his communion with God.

After telling us to read the Gospels Goodspeed leads us through the history of the Bible, its poetry, letters and revelations. The chapter on fiction includes tales of the Old Testament and a guide to the parables by which Jesus taught so often.

The last chapter discussing various English translations of the Bible is extremely interesting. If we are going to read it, we need to know whether we're reading the English Shakespeare would have understood or a translation of the earliest manuscripts in our everyday language.

Perhaps you have already succeeded where I have failed. But if you, like me, are looking for a way to make Lent a thoughtful preparation for Easter, you'll find lots of food for thought on the Lenten Reading Shelf or in the "220" section at the Library.

Book Collections Shown at Lincoln and Washington

Books on Display at Two Thief River Falls Schools from March 14 thru 18

The pervasive curiosity of the young and the keenness of their perception are demonstrated by the exhibit of 350 new books of 1959 at Washington elementary school and 250 new books at Lincoln high school, from March 14 through March 18.

An important part of the exhibit is an annotated, graded, indexed catalog which lists the collection complete, and which has been distributed to teachers and librarians. To make so large a collection readily accessible, the books are grouped into grade categories and are numbered to conform to the numbered catalog. The scope of the exhibit is indicated by the 31 subjects it covers, ranging from aeronautics and adventure to story books and transportation; from careers and conservation to nature, science and picture books.

Books on Exhibit, a cooperative promotional enterprise of the country's leading publishers, has sent the exhibit here. Its primary purpose is, through the organized exhibit and the covering catalog, to provide school personnel, teachers and librarians with an opportunity to examine the best of new library books, with a minimum expenditure of time and effort, and thus make it possible for them to do an informed and intelligent job of book selection.

Board of Chamber Backs Bill to Label Toxic Materials

Endorses Measure Now Being Considered for Action by Congress

Ken Onken, vice president in charge of the governmental affairs department of the Chamber of Commerce, today reported that the board of directors unanimously supported the congressional bill entitled: "Uniform Hazardous Substances Act" and given the identification number of H.R. 7352. Members of the chamber will receive a special bulletin outlining the bill's particulars together with the board's action. Each member is urged to convey his opinions to congressmen.

Onken stated that there are as many as a quarter of a million trade-name products in America. Without proper labeling these products are particularly dangerous to the members of families at both home and at work. These are the products one can overuse or misuse. Persons injured through their use may not be able to get medical relief because the product's contents are not listed.

H.R. 7352, according to Onken, will require the labeling and listing of contents on household, commercial and industrial products with such signals as "danger," "warning," or "caution," plus an affirmative statement of principal hazardous substances such as: "Flammable," "Vapor harmful," "Causes Burns" or "Absorbed through skin" when there are toxic substances contained in the products.

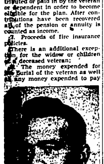
Income Allowed with GI Pension Is Cited

What is considered "income" in applying for pension under the new law which goes into effect July 1, 1960?

John R. Parrish, manager of the Fargo VA Center, gave the following guide today since the amount of annual income determines the size of the pension payment or whether or not there will be any pension payment at all.

All wages, salaries, profits, interest and dividends are considered income. So are retirement pensions, annuities and Social Security payments.

In fact, all money received must be counted as income except these eight classifications:



1. The compensation or pension payments received from the VA.
2. Donations from private or public relief or welfare sources.
3. Government life insurance payments and payments of servicemen's indemnity.
4. Payments by the Armed Forces of the six months death gratuity.
5. Social Security lump sum death payments.
6. Payments from public or private retirement, annuity or endowment plans up to the amount equal to the money contributed or paid in by the veteran or dependent in order to become eligible for the plan. After contributions have been recovered all of the pension or annuity is counted as income.
7. Proceeds of fire insurance policies.

There is an additional exception for the widow or children of a deceased veteran:

The money expended for the burial of the veteran as well as any money expended to pay off his just debts may be deducted from income reports.

Under the new pension system, which goes into effect July 1, 1960, veterans or dependents cannot waive any part or all of a pension, annuity or endowment in order to qualify for VA pension payments under the income limitations.

Full information on any phase of the pension program may be obtained at the nearest VA office.

Report Issued on Area Recreation

National Park Service Publishes Booklet

"Recreation Today and Tomorrow", a publication of the National Park Service, surveys the recreational potentialities of the Missouri River Basin and highlights the park resources of the western Minnesota border including the Red River of the North.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, commenting on the study said: "A generation ago it would have been difficult to foresee today's complex pattern of living and the important role of outdoor recreation. The social strains caused by urban living, more confining occupations, and increased leisure time reflect the need for conserving natural and cultural recreation resources and for providing additional recreation outlets."

In Minnesota the report covers the Red River of the North drainage, including a part of the Lake region, and the Missouri river drainage, as well as a 30 mile fringe zone east of these drainages. It covers the general area including the cities of Jackson, Tracy, Ortonville, Breckenridge, Fergus Falls, Moorhead, Park Rapids, Bemidji, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Roseau, Warroad, Hallock and neighboring cities.

The report is a 135 page booklet, beautifully illustrated and in color. Concluding Wirth says, "It is my hope that, in the years to come, a look back will reveal that the objectives of this study have been largely fulfilled."

Dr. Stanley Coors, Methodist Bishop, Dies in St. Paul

Dr. D. Stanley Coors, Methodist bishop for the Minnesota area, since 1952, died in St. Paul Sunday of a blood ailment. He was 70.

A Michigan native, he was elected a bishop in a north central jurisdictional election at Milwaukee in 1952 and was immediately assigned to the Minnesota area.

In addition to leading the more than 400 Methodist churches in Minnesota, he had also served as president of the Minnesota Council of Churches and as a trustee of Hamline university in St. Paul.

Dr. Coors had been a Methodist clergyman for 35 years when he was named head of the Minnesota area. For 14 years before his appointment he was pastor of Central Methodist Church, Lansing, Mich.

Farm Fires Cause $2.1 Million Loss, 22 Deaths in State

Minnesota Losses for 1959 Were up $400,000, 'U' Specialist Reports

Here's one drop in farm values that Minnesota should be able to avoid.

About $2.1 million worth of farm property went up in smoke in 1959, as a result of fires and explosions.

That was about $100,000 more than in 1958 and accounted for about 14 per cent of all fire losses in the state according to Glenn Prickett, extension farm safety specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Worse yet, 22 people died in fires on farms and in farm homes.

Prickett bases these figures on reports from the Minnesota Department of Health and the State Fire Marshal's office.

As usual, barns topped the list of building fires, with 198 burning during the year. There were 136 fires in homes, 29 in poultry houses, 21 in granaries and cribs, 24 in machine shops and storage buildings and 12 in garages.

Fires in other buildings, machinery and crops accounted for 102 fires.

What caused the fires? Most common cause, Prickett says, was faulty or misused electrical equipment. Second was defective, overheated or exploding heating units and rubbish fires were third.

Other causes: defective chimneys, careless smoking, spontaneous combustion, careless handling of petroleum fuels, lightning and flying sparks.

Most fires could be prevented, Prickett says. One place to start is by overhauling the electrical system if it's outdated or overloaded. Have the pump on a separate electric circuit. Then it will keep working if fire starts in any of the buildings.

Then check, clean and repair or replace stoves, pipes and chimney. Prohibit smoking in farm buildings. Keep rubbish from accumulating. Store matches in metal containers — away from children. Store liquid fuels 40-75 feet away from buildings. Make sure the lightning rod system is well grounded. And keep approved extinguishers handy.

Farm Digest Is Distributed by Standard Oil Co.

A pocket-size digest of the most interesting and helpful articles from farm magazines most widely read by Midwest farmers is being published by Standard Oil Company for free distribution to farm homes.

The new "Digest of Farm News" made its first appearance this month. It is being circulated to nearly one-half million farm families exclusively by Standard Oil agents.

The illustrated magazine, printed in two colors, contains 52 pages with special departments edited to provide something of interest for every member of the family.

Mallards Banded at Mud Lake Shot in Eleven States

72 Bands Returned from 1,511 Ducks Banded on Refuge in '59 Says Dill

A total of 72 bands have been received from 1,511 ducks banded at the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge last fall, according to Herb Dill, refuge manager. Dill said that the banding was done in September just prior to the waterfowl hunting season.

The objective was to band 1,000 mallards as a part of a special "Dew Line" banding program.

Most of the mallards were trapped with the cannon net trap. This consists of a net 25 x 75 feet which is actually fired through the air by small cannons. The net is cast over the ducks which have been lured into position with bait. While the quota was 1,000 mallards, other species of ducks were captured. These were green-winged teal, blue winged teal, baldpate, black duck, pintail and redhead.

Fifty bands from mallards were received from Minnesota of which 28 were recovered locally, or within a few miles of the refuge. Forty-seven bands from mallards came from other states and Canada as follows:

Illinois, 11; Iowa, 10; Arkansas, 8; Manitoba, 4; Missouri, 3; Wisconsin, 3; Tennessee, 2; Louisiana, 2; S. Dakota, 2; Nebraska, 1; Indiana, 1.

Dill noted that mallards sometimes fly north from Minnesota into Canada in late summer and early fall. This is indicated by the four band returns from Manitoba.

Short Income Tax Form Simplified

Form 1040W May Be Used by More Federal Taxpayers

The new short return Form 1040W provided for 1959 federal income tax filing was explained today by George O. Lethert, director of internal revenue for the St. Paul district.

Lethert said the new two page return form can be used by any individual whose income consisted of salary and wages, regardless of amounts, and not more than $200 income from interest and dividends.

Husband and wife whose combined income meets these tests may file a joint return on Form 1040W, he said.

He added: "The new two-page form is designed to allow taxpayers in the above income category the benefits of (1) 'head of household' or 'surviving spouse' status; (2) 'sick pay' exclusion (3) dividends received credit; (4) estimated tax payment credit, and (5) itemizing deductions for contributions, interest payments, medical expenses, and the like. "Formerly, none of these benefits could be claimed without filing on the regular four page Form 1040."

Lethert said the simple card Form 1040A is still provided for taxpayers whose income is under $10,000, consisting of salary or wages reported on Form W 2, and not more than $200 in dividends and interest.

He said taxpayers with dividend and interest income in excess of $200, or with any other income such as capital gains, retirement income, rents, royalties, business or professional income, etc., must still file on regular Form 1040.

Lions Club Notes Girl Scout Week

Mrs. Gunder Legvold Is Speaker Wednesday Noon

In observance of Girl Scout Week, members of the Lions club heard talks at their luncheon meeting Wednesday by Mrs. Gunder Legvold, area camping leader, and Sandra Jensen, representing the Mariner scout division.

Introduced by J. J. Womack, program chairman, Mrs. Legvold called attention to the substantial progress Girl Scout work is making in this area under volunteer leadership. Area participation, she said, has increased to 1,422 girls and 223 adults, and added that Thief River Falls alone has 34 troops.

She also told of the Brownie day camp held each summer, and the established camp for older girls, and emphasized the need for wider participation by both girls and adult leaders.

Sandra Jensen told of some activities of the Mariner scouts, including development of nautical skills, lifesaving and first aid.

In a brief business session, Clarence Mattson, general chairman of the Kiddies Carnival to be held Friday evening in the Auditorium, reported on final plans for the event.

The club also voted to thank the local VFW post for arranging the highly successful midget hockey invitational tournament held last week end, and commended the group for their efficient handling of the event.

Tips on Income Taxes

By Minnesota State Bar Assn.

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on Income Tax made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association Public Relations Committee.)

Income Subject to Tax

Reporting your correct gross income is the first and most important item of business in preparing your tax return.

As a general rule gross income can be defined as the sum total of amounts received by you for your services together with the amount which you receive from others for the use of your property or money and the profit which you realize from the sale of your property.

While your gross income will normally result from cash received in the form of wages or pay for your services this need not be the case. Money, therefore, is not the sole medium of exchange used to determine the receipt by you of gross income. The fair value of property or services you receive in return for your services and the use of your money must also be taken into consideration in determining your gross income. Thus, if your employer provides you with a house in which to live or provides you with meals, you must include in your gross income the fair value of these items.

A person who receives a prize or contest award or who gambles and wins must include in his gross income the cash received and the fair value of items or services received.

There are exemptions to the general rule stated, but some of them do not necessarily disprove the general rule. For example, if your employer requires that you be present on a 24 hour basis and provides you with a [illegible] on his premises, this [illegible] constitute [illegible]. Similarly, if your employer gives you meals and requires that you eat on the premises this amount would not constitute gross income to you.

Some payments by an employer are not included in your gross income. Such items are premiums paid by your employer for group term life insurance, group health insurance premiums, the cost of moving you and your family to a new location or office at the direction or request of your employer and other similar items which are paid to benefit both you and your employer.

There are a few items which would logically fall within the general rule which are specifically excluded from gross income by law. One of these items is pay received while sick. This will be discussed at length in a later article. Interest on state and municipal bonds is exempt from Federal tax, interest on Minnesota bonds and on United States bonds is exempt from Minnesota taxation; and the first $50 of dividends received by an individual is excluded from gross income on your Federal return.

The application of the general rule mentioned will also show you why gifts, inheritances and government benefit payments are not included in gross income, and why you must include such [illegible] from your employer [illegible] received [illegible] after retirement [illegible] you have not contributed to the retirement fund.

(This column based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Mercury Mounts to 25 Wednesday

Ends 17 Nights in Row of Subzero Readings

Following 17 nights of below-zero readings, the mercury this week staged a comeback with recordings of 15 degrees Wednesday and 11 Thursday.

Daytime temperatures, too, have climbed with 25 degree readings both Tuesday and Wednesday with traces of snow recorded Monday and Wednesday and .1 inch Tuesday.

The high pressure system which had covered the nation's midsection for three weeks with accompanying frigid north winds moved northeast much to the area's comfort but from the Rocky mountains across Iowa, Missouri, the Carolinas and the east coast, the weather picture was one of the worst in history. Record lows were posted together with snowfalls which brought about declarations of emergency in some areas.

Southeasterly winds of from 10 to 15 miles an hour are expected in this area today and the KTRF forecast is for mostly cloudy with intermittent light snow through tomorrow.

No important temperature is expected today with highs expected to be in the 20's and lows around 10.

4 Teams Survive Dist. 31 Opener

In first round play on Monday in the 31st district basketball tournament being played at Grand Forks, Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, and Climax marked up victories. Thief River Falls defeated Goodridge, 60-47, Red Lake Falls edged out Warren, 58-56, Crookston defeated Plummer, 80-53, and Climax bested East Grand Forks, 63-58.

Of the four winners only the defending champion Crookston Pirates could build a point margin and control the tempo of the game. Thief River Falls, after a sluggish first period, tallied for 20 points in the second period to gain a 32-23 half time lead and then win by 60-47 score. Red Lake Falls, after gaining a 16 point lead in the third period, were forced to resort to ball control tactics to hold off the rallying Warren Ponies and win by 2 points, 58-56. Crookston, having a height advantage that gave the Pirates control of the boards, pulled away to an early lead in their game with the Plummer Cardinals, and won by a convincing 80-53 margin. The Climax Vikings produced a minor upset by defeating the East Grand Forks Green Wave, 63-58.

In the Thief River Falls vs. Goodridge tilt, the Huskies, coached by Curly Gasperlin, played alert and heads-up ball as they moved into a 19 to 12 first period lead. Sparking the Goodridge attack were Ron Howard and Rod Wayne, forwards, and Dick Parnow guard, who garnered 17 of the Huskies' first period points.

In the second period, the Prowlers, with Ron Hanson, Don Ulferts, and Eddie Lietzow in the lineup, put together a 20-point performance while holding Goodridge to but four points. The Prowlers held a 32-23 halftime lead in the second splurge. Steve Embury and Bob Pearson tallied six points apiece, while Hanson collected two field goals and a free throw.

The Prowlers barely outpointed the Huskies in the third and fourth periods, having a 12-11 edge in the third quarter, and 16-13 margin in the final stanza.

High scoring honors for the game went to Ron Howard of Goodridge who hit on eight field goals and added five free throws for 21 points. Embury notched 16 points for the locals.

Prowlers Win District Title From Crookston

Coach Hartley Story's Prowlers dethroned the Crookston Pirates as the 31st district's basketball champions by scoring a 47-38 win over the Pirates in the finals of the district tournament that was concluded on the UND field house court on Wednesday night. In a preliminary game the Climax Vikings defeated the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 68-48, to gain third place in the tournament.

As the district 31 champions Thief River Falls gains a berth in the Region Eight tourney that will be played at Grand Forks on Thursday and Friday March 17 and 18. The Prowlers will meet the champions of district 36 in a regional first round game at 7:00 P.M. on Thursday, March 17.

In Wednesday night's district championship finals, the Prowlers held the "hammer" thruout the game, gaining a lead of 2-0 on Don Ulferts rebound shot in the opening minute of play. The locals led at the period stops 16-8, 25-20, 35-25, and 47-38.

In that first period of play, with both teams playing cautious basketball and setting up zone defenses, the Prowlers racked up seven field goals while holding the Pirates to but three two-pointers. Ron Hanson, who was a tower of strength for the Prowlers in controlling the boards and blocking shots, scored three field goals and Ulferts and Steve Embury added two apiece.

The Prowlers moved ahead by 12 points early in the second period, leading 20-8, but the Pirates on field goals by Curt Hannah, Dale Johnson and Jim Turner, pared the lead to 20-14 midway in the period. Crookston, showing remarkable accuracy from the free throw line, added four points on "one-and-one" conversions by Hannah and Fred McGregor, and the Prowlers' lead was sliced to 23-20 in the final minute. Just at the buzzer, Dave Hauswirth looped in a field goal to give the Prowlers a 25 to 20 lead at the intermission.

In the third period the locals held the Pirates to five free throw points and with Ulferts and Hanson scoring four points apiece, plus free throw points by Bob Pearson and Eddie Lietrow, coach Story's club pulled into a ten-point lead, 35-25.

In the final period, Pearson and Ulferts led the Prowler scorers as the locals matched Crookston point-for-point. The Pirates picked up seven points via the gift-shot route (with the Prowlers losing Ron Hanson and Steve Embury on personal fouls midway in the period), and with 3:28 to play, Crookston trailed by eight points, 42-34. But Ulferts jump shot with 2:50 to play, and Pearson's two pointer from the corner, with 2:10 to play, closed out the Crookston threat. Turner and Hermodson added Crookston field goals in the final minutes of play to pare the game score to 47-38.

The Prowlers had three players—Hanson, Ulferts and Pearson—scoring in double figures—getting 15, 13 and 12 points, respectively. Ulferts played a tremendous game for the Prowlers, coming up with the "big" field goal when it was needed, and doing a sturdy job in clearing the backboards.

Wednesday night's win marked the first time since 1957 that the Prowlers had won the district title, and it also marked the 18th time that the Prowlers have won the district since the inception of district basketball competition in 1913.

Compliments

We heard nothing but compliments from the players, the coaches and the hockey fans as the VFW's invitational Midget hockey tournament was concluded here on Sunday afternoon.

Without fail, the managers and coaches of the eight teams that participated in the tournament were loud in their praise of the efficient and hospitable manner in which the tournament was conducted. And we are sure, too, that the members of various committees that put in long and tiring hours in preparing the tournament, and conducting the after hour affairs of the players, must have derived considerable satisfaction from the enjoyment that was given to these boys, who will long remember the Midget hockey tournament of 1960.

And plans are already under way for another invitational tournament to be held here next season. And we'll wager that invitations to the tournament will be at a premium.

The local club, under the direction of Morris (Mouse) Efteland, did real well in playing the powerful Roseau Midgets to a 4-1 score. And if it hadn't been for the three-goal performance of Roseau's Larry Skime, a freshman, there's no telling what the result would have been. Take a bow, Mouse.

The Alex Campbell Trophy

The membership of the local 40&8 are to be complimented for putting into circulation a grade school hockey championship trophy to be known as the Alex Campbell hockey trophy.

The many hockey fans in this area are aware of the interest that Alex Campbell had in hockey, particularly in the junior hockey level. Campbell, who died several years ago, was a hockey player in his younger days, being a member of the Thief River Falls team that won the Minnesota amateur hockey championship in 1916.

Following his active playing days Campbell was instrumental in the development of the 1945 junior Hornets hockey team that represented Lincoln high school in the first state high school tournament in 1945, and won runner-up honors.

The grade school hockey players should feel proud that they are competing for the Alex Campbell trophy.

Fishing Derby

The Roseau Lions will be conducting their fourth annual fishing derby at Springsteel Island on Lake of the Woods on Sunday, March 13. With $2,000 in prizes awaiting the lucky anglers, it is probable that a vast number of fishermen will be paying the $1 entry fee to participate. The fishing hours will be from 2:00 to 5:00 P.M.
